NAZIS TOO BUSY FOR A WAR NOW, HITLER ASSERTS

Demands Return of Lost Colonies.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NUREMBERG, Germany, Sept. 12.—Reichsfuhrer Adolf Hitler and the German nation are too busy with peaceful projects to go to war, the Nazi chieftain told thirty guests today. He was host to the group in the historic Burg [castle] of Nuremberg after he had reviewed more than 100,000 party troops taking part in the annual Nazi party congress here.

The Fuehrer told his guests, among whom were foreign correspondents, that Germany desires peace, in fact must have peace if the projects which he and other Nazi leaders have planned are to be carried to completion. These projects, he declared, will require from twenty to forty years. Giant exhibitions in Munich and Berlin are among the plans he mentioned.

Demands Colonies Back.

But while stressing Germany's desire to avoid war the Fuehrer warned that if peace is to prevail in Europe colonial problems must be solved. This means, he said, that the colonies which Germany lost as a result of the world war must be returned to her. This, he declared, is a "dictate of plain common sense."

Hitler said Germany has a "moral right" to her former colonies. He contended Germany needs colonies for purely commercial purposes. He declared he sees in them the possibility of supplementing his country's food supply.

To allay British suspicions Hitler declared that the question of naval bases in colonies is of secondary importance to Germany. Colonies are worthless if enormous armed forces are necessary to protect them, he said.

Discusses Racial Minorities.

The suggestion advanced in London and Geneva that the question of raw materials could be solved by foreign credits was definitly turned down by the Fuehrer, who insisted that colonies are what Germany needs.

Germany, having plenty of problems to solve, will shun "senseless adventures," Hitler said. Nazi officials can "break their heads" against these problems, he declared, adding: "That will do them good. They won't get rusty."

He touched on the question of minority racial groups, asserting the issue was not dangerous for Europe but adding he hoped German minorities in foreign lands would be allowed to develop their own racial characteristics unrestricted.

During the short conversations Hitler refused to let himself be brought out on Mediterranean problems or on Premier Mussolini's visit later this month.

Starts the Day Early.

This last Sunday before the end of the Nazi party rally gave Hitler an opportunity again to display his extraordinary physical endurance. Shortly before 7 a. m. he and his aids swept out from the Deutsche Hof in an open car and drove slowly through an icy morning blast amid the ovations of the crowds lining the streets behind barriers of storm troopers.

At 8 a. m. trumpets and bands greeted the Fuehrer in Luitpold arena where 78,000 storm troopers, 19,000 Schutz Staffelmen [picked guards], 9,000 storm troop motorists, and 1,500 aviators of the Nazi party army stood rigid in perfect military alignment.

Pays Tribute to Party Dead.

The Fuehrer, followed closely by the chief of the storm troopers, Victor Lutze, and chief of the Schutz Staffel, Heinrich Himmler, strode down the broad straight aile in the middle of the arena to the war dead and dead of the party.

The eyes of 200,000 were fixed on him and no sound could be heard in the huge arena. After Hitler stood silently at the temple for three minutes and the music of the song "I Had a Comrade" was played softly, Hitler and his chieftains marched back through the broad alles.

New Flags Dedicated.

They were followed by the "blood flag," the flag which was carried ahead of Hitler and his men when they tried to seize power in the Munich putsch of 1923.

Hitler then addressed his followers.

'CRUSH FASCIST ENEMY,' MOSCOW LEADERS SHOUT

'Youth Day' Is Made Show Against Italy.

BULLETIN.

GIBRALTAR, Sept. 12.—(AP)—An unidentified submarine was sunk today off Cartagena by Spanish government shore batteries, Valencia dispatches reported. Motor launches with divers rushed to the scene and dropped a number of depth charges. Large oil blobs appeared on the surface shortly afterward, leading to the conviction that the undersea craft had been damaged or destroyed.

[According to unconfirmed reports received in Madrid the crew of the submarine may be alive. "Rumors in the streets" of Cartagena, the Febus [Spanish news] agency said, are that Spanish officials have received acoustic telephone messages from the trapped crew.]

MOSCOW, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Huge demonstrations in Moscow's famous Red Square, in which "Fascist piracy" and "Fascist swine" were denounced, pledged support today to the soviet government in its bitter controversy with Italy in the Mediterranean.

Hundreds of thousands of Russians marched before Dictator Josef Stalin in celebration of International Youth day. Banners and broadcast speeches proclaimed readiness to fight the "Fascist enemy."

Will Accept Nyon Accord.

Circles close to the government, however, indicated Russia probably would accept the accord reached at Nyon, Switzerland, for a predominantly Anglo-French anti-pirate patrol of the Mediterranean, accepted by delegates of nine powers yesterday, although Russian leaders considered it inadequate for real protection of shipping.

[Dispatches to THE TRIBUNE from London reported that as soon as the Nyon protocal is signed Britain will provide thirty-six destroyers and France twenty-four for the patrol to police Mediterranean shipping routes.]

Pravda, organ of the communist party, in its usual authoritative tone, declared the soviet union would take its own measures against "Italian pirates" but did not reveal those measures. Russia in two formal notes has charged Italian submarines with sinking soviet vessels.

"We Will Destroy the Enemy."

Stalin, beside Premier V. V. Molotov, first reviewed a huge procession of soviet youth, bearing such slogans as "The Fascist pirates won't escape us."

The spokesman of thousands of conscripts who marched past declared, "We will destroy the enemy."

Orators shouted through loudspeakers "To let the Fascist swine know . . . that millions of soviet youth are ready to defend the fatherland."

Then converging streams of older men and women poured for hours into the square, forming an almost solid jumble of banners, heroic pictures of communist leaders, a life-size statue of Lenin and huge cartoons of "Fascist enemies," including one showing a soviet fist smashing a submarine with Mussolini's head at the prow to the bottom of the sea.

Italy's Answer in Doubt.

ROME, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Italian political circles were pessimistic tonight over the prospects of Italian acceptance of the Nyon accord to sweep submarine "piracy" from the Mediterranean.

Officials declined to predict Italy's decision. They said Premier Benito Mussolini and Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano had spent a busy day reviewing Fascist parades and had not yet finished study of the Nyon accord and the invitation for Italy to adhere to it.

Informed sources said many points of the Nyon patrol plan, which left the way open for Italy to join, were acceptable to Italy. However, it was felt the scheme would favor the Valencia government in the Spanish civil war as against the rebel régime which Italy is aiding.

Among favorable points from the Italian standpoint were the exclusion of soviet Russia from the main Mediterranean patrol.

Some authorities said they considered the invitation to Italy to patrol the Tyrhennian sea meant the main sea lanes had been assigned to Britain and France and only a secondary area to Italy.

NEARING THE END OF THE TRAIL

Wave Sweeps Yacht Racer to Lake Death

Carmine C. Orgo Jr., 23 years old, 1502 Wilson avenue, an engineering student at De Paul university, was drowned yesterday when a wave washed him overboard from the sloop Aquila two miles off Wilson avenue in the Chicago Yacht club's annual eight mile buoy race. Another boating tragedy occurred yesterday in the Kankakee river when Bernard Vocht, 25, of Naperville, drowned as a motorboat capsized.

Carmine Orgo Jr.

Orgo was in the cockpit bailing out when a huge wave washed over the deck of the 32 foot sloop and carried him into the lake. An expert swimmer, he began to swim toward the boat. Hubert C. Ellis, owner of the sloop, threw him a life preserver, but he disappeared in the heavy waves before he could seize it.

Waves Thwart Rescue.

Ellis said the lake was too rough to dive after the youth. A coast guard patrol boat, commanded by Gordon Disbury, attempted to drag for the body, but the waves forced abandonment of the task. The search will be renewed this afternoon.

With Orgo on the sloop were Ellis, 1723 Chicago avenue, Evanston, president of the Ellis Drier works, 244 North Pulaski road; and his brother, Wynn B. Ellis, 2711 Asbury avenue, Evanston. Orgo, who was married and the father of a baby daughter, was employed in the technical department of the General Electric X-ray corporation, 2012 Jackson boulevard.

Fiancée Sees Drowning.

Vocht's drowning, which occurred about ten miles southwest of Joliet, was witnessed by his fiancée, Miss Bernadine Kline, 20, of Aurora. They had been boat riding with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Goodwin of Naperville when motor trouble developed and the women were put ashore. Vocht and Goodwin headed toward midstream to attempt to locate the trouble and the boat overturned.

The body of Gus Nylund, 3158 North Halsted street, a painting contractor and yachtsman, was taken from the lake yesterday at the Monroe street yacht harbor about 100 feet from his yacht Springtime. Nylund was last seen Thursday on his boat, and it was not learned how he drowned.

FREE MEAL PLUS $5 IF YOU CATCH CHICKEN TONIGHT

A nimble individual who can protect his winnings should be able to collect the makings of a good meal, free, in Michigan avenue tonight.

One thousand chickens, one in every ten of which will have an order worth $5 tied to a leg, will be tossed to the scrambling public from trucks in the farm life parade sponsored by the Chicago Charter Jubilee.

From other trucks apples, peaches, bananas, bread and breakfast food are to be showered on the crowd. Even a pig—just one—is to be released and will become the property of his first captor.

Floats, farm implements and truck loads of cattle are to appear in the march, scheduled to begin at Ohio street at 8 p. m. The procession will disband at Roosevelt road.

FREAK TRAGEDY ENDS GAYETY OF WEDDING PARTY

Death, under unusual circumstances, gave a tragic ending to a wedding party at 720 South Kedzie avenue last night. The victim was Miss Natalie Celano, 20 years old, 2638 Lexington street.

She was a guest at the party, and along about 10:30 p. m. she left with her escort, Dominick Fruglietto, 22, of 2441 Fillmore street. As they reached the outside some one on the second floor attempted to open a window.

The window pane was shattered. It fell and a jagged piece struck Miss Celano on the neck, severing her jugular vein. She was taken to the Bethany hospital, but died from loss of blood a few minutes later.

Gets Self Jailed So He'll Be Sober to Accept Job

New York, Sept. 12.—[Special.]—John Farrell, 34, asked Magistrate Morris Rothenberg today for a two day jail sentence so he could keep sober and report for a job he had been promised Tuesday morning. The magistrate obliged.

Seize Robber and Save Cash in Loop Movie

Guns were drawn and a bandit was captured in a hectic five minute real life thriller in the United Artists theater in the loop early today, but only a few of several hundred midnight patrons in the theater were aware of it.

The thriller opened when the robber, who later identified himself as Robert Morgan, alias Benner, 35 years old, of Cleveland, O., surprised Norman Brown, 3420 Irving Park boulevard, the assistant manager, in the theater offices on the second floor. He took $6 from Brown and then began binding his hands with adhesive tape. His real goal was the safe containing several thousand dollars, the day's receipts.

The Chase Begins.

Before the robber could complete his task Donald Stonesifer, 4911 North Mason avenue, a Brink's Express messenger, stepped into the office to collect the receipts. Morgan eluded him without being seen. Brown told Stonesifer what had happened and an alarm was sounded. B. W. Feldman, 4000 Washington boulevard, manager of the theater, started upstairs from the main floor, pistol in hand. Stonesifer started downstairs, his gun drawn.

Feldman glimpsed the bandit as he ran down to the mezzanine floor and watched him as he settled into a seat—to pose as a patron. Feldman then met Stonesifer and assigned him to guard the main entrance.

Joined by Policeman.

All this was seen by Isadore Kiefus, 1306 East 62d street, a state highway policeman, who was off duty. Seeing the men with drawn guns he asked what the trouble was about. When told he drew his gun.

Kiefus and Feldman then accosted Morgan and while Feldman covered him with his pistol Kiefus searched him. Not more than a dozen patrons saw what was happening. A loaded revolver and $6, which had been taken from the assistant manager, were found in his pockets. A police squad commanded by Lieut. James Colman, summoned by radio, then took Morgan into custody.

23 Unlucky, Asks Pension Money Changed to $22

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 12.—Because "23" has always been an unlucky number for him, Harvey Coleman, 72, Des Moines, advised old age assistance officials he would be more than willing to have his $23 monthly pension check reduced to $22, or increased to $24.

Fall 1,000 Ft. to Field Near South Bend

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Four persons were killed early tonight when the plane in which they were riding collided with another 1,000 feet above the St. Joseph county airport, five miles west of South Bend, and plunged nose down into a nearby field. A crowd of several hundred witnessed the accident.

The pilot of the second plane and his one passenger landed safely.

Those killed were Lloyd Butz, 29 years old, veteran pilot of Mishawaka, Ind.; Miss Abbie M. Beebe, 32 years old, 1014 21st street, South Bend; Fred B. Kidder, about 50 years old, of Houlton, Me., a friend of Miss Beebe, and F. R. Alumbaugh of Elkhart, Ind.

Paid for 15 Minute Ride.

Butz was nominally the pilot of the death ship and the others had paid fares of $1 each to ride with him. It was not certain, however, that he was at the controls at the time of the accident. Some persons at the airport said he had permitted Alumbaugh, a student pilot, to operate the ship. This was disputed by other witnesses. Alumbaugh was a former resident of Chicago.

It was agreed, however, that the Butz ship, a Stinson four passenger cabin model, was swinging wide preparatory to landing on the airport's southwest runway when it collided violently with a two seater Taylor Cub piloted by Charles Selge, 19 years old, of South Bend. Selge, reputedly the youngest transport pilot in Indiana, was accompanied by Don Eldridge Jr., 16, son of a South Bend merchant, and a student pilot.

Drops off to Circles.

The left wing of Butz's plane, locked with the other machine, was torn off and clung to the Taylor Cub. Selge, with his propeller sheared off and the wing from the other ship still fastened to his, was able to make his landing without serious damage.

The other pilot struggled to keep his disabled craft under control, but before it had dropped 200 feet it was apparent his efforts were vain. The machine shunted off in crazy circles and dropped a half mile to the south. Pilot and passengers were killed outright. The plane did not catch fire, and rescuers led by Sherif William Hosinski of St. Joseph county extricated the bodies a few minutes later.

Two Leap; One Killed.

Port Townsend, Wash., Sept. 12.—(AP)—One man was killed and another saved when a marine corps reserve scouting plane caught fire and exploded in midair over Pudget Sound off here today.

Technical Sergeant John F. Billsborrow of Seattle "bailed out" when the plane burst into flames, but he struck the plane's tail and hit the water without his parachute opening. He was killed.

Capt. Joseph P. Adams, commander of scout squadron No. 9, marine corps reserve, Seattle, successfully bailed out shortly before the plane exploded.

Crashes and Burns to Death.

Kenvil, N. J., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Floyd Hoagland, 26 years old, burned to death today in an airplane that nosedived and crashed.

U. S. MOVES TO BOOM MARKETS AND FREE CASH

Pours Out Millions to End Squeeze.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Disturbed by weakness in the market for government bonds, and a decline which has shaved about 16 per cent from the stock market averages during the last four weeks, the Roosevelt administration today reversed its year old policy of trying to prevent an untimely inflation boom and began pouring hundreds of millions of dollars of new cash into the nation's banks.

Effective immediately, the federal reserve board announced today, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau has agreed to issue 300 million dollars of cash against 300 million of the treasury's "sterilized gold."

Expect Benefits to Market.

In addition, the open market committee of the federal reserve board, which has been in session here for two days, announced that it had authorized the twelve federal reserve banks to buy additional amounts of short term government securities. The amount of such purchases was not announced.

Reserve board officials immediately denied that these sudden changes in policy were prompted by the recent action of the markets, but added that the moves should have a beneficial effect on the market.

Bankers and other financial men, however, quickly grasped the significance of the step taken today, because both the release of previously sterilized gold and the resumption of the purchase of government securities by the reserve banks represents a complete about face by the administration.

Adds to Cash in Banks.

Both of these moves will immediately increase the amount of idle and employable cash in the hands of the nation's banks. The treasury will issue to the reserve banks gold certificates against 300 million of the 1 billion 372 million dollars of sterilized gold in the treasury's caults. This will give the treasury a 300 million dollar credit with the reserve banks. As the money is spent by the government, it will create additional excess reserves in the hands of the commercial banks, thus easing the condition of the money market.

When the treasury announced its plans to sterilize gold last year it pointed out that this step was necessary to prevent the huge imports of gold from forming the basis for additional expansion of bank credit, which might cause an abortive boom. Now the treasury reverses itself by permitting the gold to form such an inflationary base.

Reserve Board Turns About.

The reserve board, too, has turned about face, probably at the insistence of the treasury which is concerned over the market for its securities. Having reduced the excess reserves of the commercial banks by doubling the amount of legal reserves required, it will now start increasing them by having the reserve banks buy government securities now held by the commercial banks.

The open market committee authorized the federal reserve banks to purchase short term government obligations, bills and notes, from time to time in the open market to provide funds to meet "seasonal withdrawals of currency from the banks and other seasonal requirements." The purchase of such government obligations has the effect of increasing bank reserves by an amount equal to that of securities bought.

Agree to Release Gold.

At the request of the board of governors of the federal reserve system Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau agreed to release the 300 millions from the inactive gold account, which will place an equivalent amount of funds at the disposal of the banks. Gold certificates will be issued against the bullion and deposited to the treasury's account in the banks.

Thus the excess reserves of the banks will be increased by 300 million plus whatever amount of short term government obligations the banks purchase. Although this will have the effect of supporting the market for short term government obligations, federal reserve officials insisted that such was not the purpose of the operations and pointed out that there is to be no purchase of government bonds.

Excess reserves in the banks now aggregate only 750 million dollars. Over the last year the reserve board has increased the reserve requirements by 100 per cent, decreasing the excess reserves from almost 3 billion down to $750,000. Moreover, officials declared, there is a maladjustment in the reserves, with New York and Chicago short of their share. The situation will be further complicated during the fall by the withdrawal of an estimated 400 millions of bank deposits for the Christmas season.

With this prospect in view, plus the increased demand for loans and the interest rate going up, the easy money policy was confronting a "squeeze."

The action of the treasury and open market committee today climaxed a series of monetary manipulations on the part of the administration, including the increase in the reserve requirements last year, the open market operation in long term government securities last April and the recent reductions in the discount rates.

Statement by Committee.

The announcement of the open market committee follows:

"The federal open market committee met in Washington on September 11 and 12 and reviewed the business and credit situation. In view of the expected seasonal demands on the banks for currency and credit during the coming weeks the committee authorized its executive committee to purchase in the open market from time to time sufficient amounts of short term United States government obligations to provide funds to meet seasonal withdrawals of currency from the banks and other seasonal requirements. Reduction of the additional holdings in the open market portfolio is contemplated when the seasonal influences are reversed or other circumstances make their retention unnecessary.

"The purpose of this action is to maintain at member banks an aggregate volume of excess reserves adequate for the continuation of the system's policy of monetary ease for the furtherance of economic recovery.

Will Release Gold.

"As a further means of making this policy effective, the open market committee recommended that the board of governors of the federal reserve system request the secretary of the treasury to release approximately $300,000,000 of gold from the treasury's inactive account. The board of governors acted upon this recommendation and the secretary of the treasury agreed to release at once the desired amount of gold. This will place an equivalent amount of funds at the disposal of the banks and correspondingly increase their available reserves.

"This action is in conformity with the usual policy of the system to facilitate the financing of orderly marketing of crops and of autumn trade. Together with the recent reductions of discount rates at the several federal reserve banks, it will enable the banks to meet readily any increased seasonal demands for credit and currency and contribute to the continuation of easy credit conditions."

ACCUSE FOREST PRESERVE CHIEF OVER BEER SALE

Warants charging misconduct in office were issued yesterday against Charles G. Sauers, general superintendent of the Cook county forest preserves, and Ray S. Gaynor, assistant superintendent in charge of the Thatcher Woods preserve, by Justice of the Peace Martin H. McGrath of Oak Park. Another warant, charging illegal sale of beer, was issued against Steve Mizialko, concessionaire.

The warants were sworn out by Mrs. Harriet McBride, 306 Keystone avenue, River Forest, secretary of the Cook County Prohibition committee. She charged that the sale of beer was permitted in the Thatcher Woods preserve in violation of the law.

Similar accusations and a charge that slot machines also were allowed there were heard last week before the county board, and as a result Clayton F. Smith, president of the board, suspended Gaynor and revoked Mizialko's concession license pending investigation.

SUNDAY DRIVER TURNS POLITE; WINS $5 AWARD

Leaves Crowded Lane on His Aimless Tour.

BY HAL FOUST.

A Sunday driver [who might be defined as a motorist enjoying a ride without a destination] was awarded THE TRIBUNE'S daily $5 prize for traffic courtesy yesterday. He left the highways for the byways so his leisurely wheeling would not be an annoyance and a hazard to high speed travel on primary pavements.

Louis Dykstra.

Sunday driver has become a term of derision and condemnation. When the species is encountered on main highways, the term becomes damn Sunday driver. On four lane pavements his car is wandering while he admires the scenery or becomes engrossed in conversation. On two lane slabs his machine is, in effect, a slowly moving barricade.

Weather Lures the Aimless.

Yesterday, with a gentle, cool breeze from the north and with white clouds drifting across a blue sky, the weather brought forth a large number of recreational motorists including the usual percentage of damn Sunday drivers. THE TRIBUNE roadster overtook a number while cruising in search of the day's winner of the politeness award.

West bound in Roosevelt road, approaching Glen Ellyn, a sedan with license 763-813 [issued to John Kelly, 7921 South Union avenue] was meandering a bit and was astride a black line, blocking two trafic lanes. The man at the wheel wasn't paying attention to his driving.

Uses Two Lanes at 40 M. P. H.

West of Wheaton, where the four lanes of Roosevelt road have a center parkway, a car with license 633-209 [issued to Douglas Hoover of Batavia] was occupying two lanes at 40 miles an hour, slower than many traveling this route. It did, however, get into its proper lane when overtaken.

On the two lane West River road [Ill. 31] between St. Charles and Elgin, there were several cars with passengers admiring the Fox river while other machines in a hurry to get somewhere had difficulty in passing on the narrow highway.

South and west of Aurora, on the busy 20 foot slab of U. S. 34, an automobile with license 604-849 [issued to Fred Schmidt of Spring Grove, McHenry county] was tarrying at 37 miles an hour. Other users of the transcontinental highway took chances in passing because the road curves and dips through small hills.

Seeks Relaxation on Byways.

After a few hours of intensive driving on main highways THE TRIBUNE roadster left the pavement at Yorkville for the recreation that can be found idling along the gravel roads near the Fox river.

On such a road, amid wooded knolls about four miles south and west of Plano, another Chicago automobile was met. Two men, two women and a child were enjoying the quiet, early autumn countryside.

"We left the highways," said the driver, Louis Dykstra, 10205 Lafayette avenue, "so we could loaf amid this scenery without interfering with motorists hurrying to get somewhere."

In hopes that others enjoying a leisurely ride without a destination will likewise turn to the sideroads THE TRIBUNE awarded Mr. Dykstra the daily $5 politeness prize.

HOPKINS SEES ROLE OF GOVERNMENT AS EVENER OF INCOMES

Wahpeton, N. D., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Harry Hopkins, administrator of the Federal Works Progress administration, said here today that one of the first and most important jobs a Democratic government has is the responsibility for "making every person and every group keep his hands off every one else."

"We have spelled this idea out in many different ways since our constitution adopted the bill of rights," he said. "And so, when I see certain selfish groups overreaching again and threatening to destroy our hard-won recovery I say that it's part of this government's job to step in.

"Any idea that a government must stand idle and helpless while its citizens are destroyed runs contrary to my philosophy of government and to my belief that the lasting cure of another depression can only be averted if farmers and workers can raise their standards of living."

MASARYK, FIRST CZECH PRESIDENT, GROWS WEAKER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovaia, Sept. 12.—Dr. Thomas G. Masaryk, hero of Czechoslovakia's struggle for independence and its first president, who became seriously ill ten days ago, lapsed into a semi-comatose condition today.

Surrounded by his family in Castle Lany, near Prague, Masaryk, who is 87 years old, is rapidly becoming weaker, physicians reported. His heart weakened last night and symptoms of pneumonia developed. Breathing became irregular. This morning doctors said his condition was critical. The nation is in grief and lighter plays have been removed from theaters.

President Edward Benes, who was spending a holiday at Topolcany, took a special train to Prague and hastened to Castle Lany. Premier Milan Hodza also interrupted his holiday in Slovakia to speed by auto to Masaryk's bedside.

REDS UNMASKED BY NYON PARLEY, GERMANS ASSERT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 12.—The European situation "has cleared up in the last twenty-four hours and at the same time has become more critical," the Frankfurter Zeitung declares in commenting on the Nyon, Switzerland, anti-piracy conference.

Under the heading "Soviet Russia's Rôle in Europe Unmasked," the paper declares the European situation is clearer because "no one can doubt any longer the threatening rôle of Russia in the drama."

"It is more critical," the paper continues, "because the word 'reprisals' has slipped from soviet Russia's mouth and because simultaneously the Italian government has revealed the dangerous significance of this word: The Italian government gives reprisals their true name, 'premeditated acts of war.' It is up to England and France to see that Moscow's plan to wreck Europe fails."

STRUCK 2D TIME IN 3 WEEKS; DIES IN HIT-RUN CRASH

Fatal Accident Occurs Near Scene of First.

Tony Wojtala of 5211 Latrobe avenue was struck on Aug. 21 by a hit and run car in Central avenue at 62d street. He was severely injured, but he recovered. The driver never was apprehended. Early yesterday morning, in Central avenue and at almost the same spot, Wojtala again was struck by a hit and run automobile while repairing a tire on the side of the street.

Tony Wojtala.

This time Wojtala's injuries were fatal. He died in the county hospital last night. Stanley Lubec of 5204 South Lockwood avenue was arrested after witnesses gave Chicago Lawn police the license number of the car that struck Wojtala. Police seized Lubec at his home. They said he has a minor record, having been sentenced to eight months in the house of correction in 1935 for petty larceny.

Boy, Hit by Truck, Dies.

Salvatore Chaves, 11 years old, 1109 Peoria street, died yesterday in the Mother Cabrini hospital of injuries incurred Saturday night when a motor truck struck him as he was riding his bicycle in the alley at the rear of his home. Julius Stahl of 3915 18th street, the truck driver, was freed by police after he said he did not see the boy in the darkness.

Peter Cherota, 11 North May street, a laborer, died in the County hospital yesterday of injuries incurred Saturday night when he was struck by an automobile in front of 1814 Chicago avenue. The driver, Bruno Romb, of 1521 Superior street, is being held by Racine avenue police for the inquest.

Lee Burdick, 374 Bloom street, Highland Park, was killed yesterday in an automobile accident at highways 55 and 74, about 14 miles north of Waukesha, Wis. His wife and daughter were injured, and Mrs. Dale Clark of Waukesha incurred a broken leg. The injured were taken to St. Joseph hospital, Milwaukee.

A man about 55 years old was fatally injured yesterday when he was hit by an automobile driven by George Cyrus, of 4324 South Hermitage avenue, at 44th and Wood streets. Cyrus took the man to the Southtown hospital, where he died.

Former Chicagoan Killed.

Allan Roy Kelso, for many years well known in the hotel business in Chicago, was killed by an automobile yesterday at Hillsdale, Mich., where he lived. Mr. Kelso, who was 55 years old, for many years was a clerk at the Brevoort and the New Southern hotels in Chicago before his retirement about seven years ago. On Aug. 21 Mrs. Kelso's father, J. W. Goodwin of Coldwater, Mich., was fatally injured in an automobile accident in Hillsdale.

Injuries suffered on Aug. 18 caused the death of Charles Grpdesky, 48 years old, 2620 West 15th place, in St. Anthony's hospital last night. He was struck at Western avenue and 17th street by an automobile driven by Meyer Crarchek, 27, of 3424 South Ashland avenue.

Mrs. Billie McClone, 1536 Madison street, Gary, Ind., died last night in the Mercy hospital there of injuries incurred Friday when an automobile in which she was riding overturned in 5th avenue, Gary.

Three persons were injured and thirty street car passengers were jolted yesterday when an Ashland avenue street car struck an automobile at Huron street. Those injured were Andrew Cernoska, 1741 Huron street, the automobile driver; his brother John, and Edward Lickow of 715 Wolcott street, who were riding with him. They were treated for cuts and bruises at the County hospital.

Two women and a man were in the Little Company of Mary hospital yesterday as a result of an automobile collision with a hayrack on which 30 young members of the Foster Park Baptist church, 1540 West 84th street, were riding.

The three most seriously injured are Frank Russell, of 10729 South Artesian avenue; Miss Janet Woodward, of 7005 Union avenue, and Miss Marjorie Winkle, of 3130 Marshfield avenue. Ten others were slightly injured.

The accident occurred Saturday night at 119th street and Crawford avenue, Alsip, when the horsedrawn hayrack was struck from the rear by the auto driven by Harry De Noyelles of Alsip.

600 to Study Driving.

Six hundred Waukegan Township High school pupils will start classes in automobile driving today. E. J. Neary, in charge of the auto mechanics department, expects to obtain a dual control automobile soon which will enable pupils to supplement driving theory with experience. The car, one of the first of its kind to be used in the Chicago district, is being supplied by the American Automobile association and the Chicago Motor club.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 726 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 560 were killed in Chicago, where 15,706 were injured in the same period.

NATION WILL HEAR ROOSEVELT AND BORAH THIS WEEK

Birth of Constitution Will Be Observed.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—In the constitutional convention in Philadelphia in 1787 Nathaniel Gorham, delegate from Massachusetts, gloomily asked:

"Can it be supposed that this vast country, including the western territory, will, one hundred and fifty years hence, remain one nation?"

The nation this week celebrates the 150th anniversary of the constitution, which has survived and held together a "vast country" more than three times the size of the original states and the territory west to the Mississippi river, and has just gone through a serious crisis.

President Speaks Friday Night.

The controversy over President Roosevelt's ill-fated proposal to pack the Supreme court will be resumed on the occasion of the constitution's 150th birthday, Sept. 17. The President will address the nation from the Sylvan theater at the Washington monument at 9:30 p.m. Friday.

Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, noted constitutional authority, will anticipate him with one of the major speeches of his career in defense of an independent judiciary. The senator will speak Thursday night in Constitutional hall at a Masonic celebration, with 2,500,000 other Masons assembled in their lodges throughout the country to hear the address, which will be broadcast nationally.

Second Debate on Court.

This is Senator Borah's second "debate" with the President in the same controversy. Last Feb. 1 he anticipated Mr. Roosevelt's message of Feb. 5 to congress, demanding legislation to add six new justices to the Supreme court, with a speech saying any attempt to deprive the judiciary of its independence would turn back the clock of history to the tyrannies of the Stuarts in England. His subject Thursday night will be "Constitutional Government."

Whether President Roosevelt, in his Constitution day speech, will serve notice that he intends to carry on his fight to subjugate the Supreme court is not known, but it is believed certain that he will reëmphasize his contention that no constitutional amendment, but rather "enlightened" judicial construction, is needed to make valid the acts and policies of his administration.

Ready for Reprisals.

Soon after the Constitution day address the President will depart for the Pacific coast on a trip which will take him through the home states of six Democratic senators who opposed his project to pack the Supreme court. This projected trip, in the opinion of these senators, will be the first attempt at reprisals against the Democratic opposition.

Mr. Roosevelt is expected to invite "loyal" Democrats aboard his special train and snub those who opposed his court packing bill, making it plain to the people that he wants nothing to do with them.

Period of Social Unrest.

In commemorating the sesquicentennial of the constitution this week the nation confronts a situation similar in many respects to that faced by the founding fathers in Philadelphia 150 years ago. It was then, as it is now, a period of social unrest. It was a period of strange economic theories, currency inflations and wild credit expansions.

There were "stay laws" to postpone the payment of debts, just as there were moratoriums during the depression. Contemporary historians have found a certain resemblance between Daniel Shays, leader of an agrarian insurrection in Massachusetts, and John L. Lewis, whose sit-down strikes and C. I. O. riots have already alarmed the country in recent months.

Finds Lack of Resemblance.

In the administration of government, however, there is not much resemblance. When Count Alexis de Tocqueville visited America in 1831 for his study of the new experiment in government he was most impressed by the absence of centralization. Like Thomas Jefferson and James Madison, he believed there could be no greater damage to the liberties of the people than the supervision of the infinite details of their lives by a centralized authority.

All that has changed since De Tocqueville's time, much of it since President Roosevelt's. The government undertook with the AAA, which is to be reënacted if the President has his way, to regiment agriculture, telling the farmer how much he could plant and the prices he ought to receive. The regimentation of industry down to the finest details of small business activities was attempted with the NRA.

Under the Wagner act a board in Washington dictates the labor relations of employers, ordering them to bargain collectively with particular unions and to reinstate, with back pay, discharged employés. Under the proposed wages and hours law another board in Washington will tell employers the minimum wages he can pay and the maximum number of hours his employés can work.

ASPIRING ACTORS MEET

Lester Kuehl, chosen in Chicago contest to select new screen actors, and Miss Lenore Geller, Denver winner, talk over their ambitions in Hollywood at Clara Bow's new cafe.

Busy with Film Tests

LEADS WOMEN IN CONSTITUTION DAY FESTIVITIES

Miss Harriet Vittum, head resident of Northwestern University settlement, has accepted the chairmanship of the women's division of the Constitution day committee, it was announced last night by Dr. Walter Dill Scott, general chairman.

Miss Vittum, a noted social service worker, will have the task of organizing Chicago women for the celebration activities.

The Constitution day celebration will be held at the Chicago Stadium on Friday in observance of the 150th anniversary of the signing of the constitution. United States Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana will be a featured speaker. There will be a dramatic presentation of highlights of American history.

FRANCO'S PUSH ON GIJON STRIKES SNAG IN WEATHER

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Stiffer government resistance and bad weather held up the Spanish rebel army's advance today against Gijon in northern Spain.

A rebel communique said rain made troop movements difficult and that operations on the Asturian front were confined to consolidating front line positions, still some 30 miles east of Gijon.

A government artillery barrage contributed to rebel difficulties, holding up their advance beyond Mazucha hill.

This delay set back Gen. Francisco Franco's plan to complete the conquest of the last fragments of government territory in northwest Spain before the autumn storms set in.

Failure to complete his push on Gijon in the next few weeks might result in a stalemate on this front which would last through the winter, seriously intertering with his plans to transfer troops to other fronts after cleaning up Asturias province.

BING BONG! RADIO CHIMES SIGNAL LESSONS TODAY

Paralysis Peril Unabated; School Date in Doubt.

On several fronts yesterday preparations were going forward to teach children while the schools are closed because of the prevalence of infantile paralysis. It appeared that this campaign might be lengthy, current medical statistics giving little hope that the disease would subside markedly in the next few days.

"The figures for Saturday and Sunday are not yet available," Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, said last night. "But it is almost certain the last week was the worst, in number of new cases reported, since the outbreak started.

Weather Factor Debatable.

"It is possible that cooler weather will have some effect in the fight on the disease, although it has not been shown conclusively that weather is a major factor. Lower temperatures and more cases went together last week. It is possible, of course, that there would have been even more victims had the weather remained hot, but this is not demonstrable."

Aid to students will be furnished by six radio stations, which are to begin broadcasting home lessons this morning; the staf of the board of education, which will recommend specific studies to persons who call Dearborn 7801, and the public library.

Libraries to Coöperate.

Librarian Carl B. Roden said yesterday that in the main building and 44 branches the library has 700,000 books for children. These are not textbooks, but works of reference that often are useful in collateral reading. All children's librarians under Mr. Roden's direction have been instructed to assist pupils and their parents.

The daily schedule of radio broadcasts, all for elementary grades, is:

Third and fourth—WENR, 6:45 to 7 p. m.

Fifth—WLS, 11:30 to 11:45 a. m.

Sixth—WIND, 8 to 8:15 a. m.

Seventh [first semester] — WJJD, 10:45 to 11 a. m.

Seventh [second semester]—WLS, 9:45 to 10 a. m.

Eighth [first semester]—WJJD, 8:30 to 8:45 a. m.

Eighth [second semester]—WIND, 8:15 to 8:45 a. m., and W-G-N, 11 to 11:15 a. m.

On WCFL, beginning tomorrow, educational programs will be broadcast from 9:45 to 10 a. m. and from 11 to 11:15 a. m.

The first clinic for the administration of the nasal spray preventive of infantile paralysis will be opened this morning at St. Joseph's hospital. Dr. Austin O. Hayden will be in charge and it is expected that twenty-five children will be given the treatment daily.

Emergency instruction to students, pending the reopening of schools, will be furnished through six radio stations, which are to begin broadcasting home lessons this morning; the staf of the board of education, which will recommend specific studies to persons who call Dearborn 7801, and the public library.

Suburban Schools Open.

A number of suburban school systems will reopen today as usual. Six accredited evening schools in the city, giving instruction to older students, also will be open. These classes are at Lake View, Schurz, Englewood, Fenger, Austin, and Crane high schools.

Sydney L. Throckmorton, 38, a broker who lives at 2752 Eastwood avenue in Evanston, was holding his own last night after being stricken last Wednesday. He was placed in an iron lung at St. Francis hospital in Evanston when a complete diagnosis revealed that he was a victim of infantile paralysis.

PRESIDENT WILL HALT VACATION TO WATCH WARS

Desires to Escape U. S. Implication.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Mounting anxiety over the world situation has caused President Roosevelt to cut his vacation short by 24 hours. He will return to Washington Tuesday, leaving his summer home here tomorrow night. It is expected he will summon the cabinet at once for discussion of developments in Europe and the far east.

Thus new emphasis was given to the serious alarm the President and his advisers feel about possible implication of the United States in a foreign war. Hourly dispatches from the state department in Washington apparently have convinced Mr. Roosevelt that there is a real chance of such a development.

Assurance yesterday that he would do all in his power to keep the nation out of war seemingly was caused by receipt of information not available to the public.

Gold Star Mother's Day.

Mr. Roosevelt today proclaimed Sunday, Sept. 26, as Gold Star Mother's day. Government officials were directed to display the flag on all government buildings and the nation called upon to do likewise and to conduct appropriate meetings "as a public expression of the affection and reverence of the people of the United States for the American gold star mothers."

The international situation occupied the President almost exclusively throughout the day. He conferred at length with Norman H. Davis, his ambassador-at-large.

Another caller was James A. Moffett, former federal housing administrator, now chairman of the board of the California-Texas Oil company, foreign operations branch of the Standard Oil company.

China Near Prosperity.

Moffett returned recently from a trip to China, Japan, Australia, and the Philippines. He gave the President his impression of general business conditions in those countries.

"China was having a real period of prosperity when the Japanese invasion started," Moffett declared. "It was becoming a modernized nation."

Chinese chances of repelling the Japanese depend upon the help China gets from other powers, Moffett said. England, France, and the United States are the only nations in a position to give such aid, he believes. He said he did not believe Japan was getting financial help in its war activities, reminding that supplies had been accumulated for years and would not soon be consumed.

Sell Oil to Both Sides.

"We are not abandoning our properties in any area," Moffett said, referring to his company. "And we are not worried about them. Of course we are in a different position from the small business man in China because our commodity is required by both sides. And we are doing business with both sides as usual."

Moffett said it was conceded generally in the orient that Japan eventually would add to its territory all of China north of Shanghai.

The President spent the last free afternoon of his vacation cruising on the Hudson in his yacht, the Potomac.

Scottish Rite Reaffirms Faith in U. S. Constitution

Ald. Joseph Kacena Jr., in whose home burglar took 16 shirts with oversized collars.

Ald. Joseph Kacena Jr., 23d ward, reported to Fillmore street police last night that burglars had entered his home at 4144 West 15th street while the family was absent and had stolen property valued at about $500. Among the articles taken were sixteen shirts, which, the thieves will find, have size 18½ necks. Also taken were a watch, a traveling bag, and several dresses belonging to Mrs. Kacena. The thieves entered by kicking in a panel of a back door, the alderman said.

BEER RUNS OUT, AND WHAT BREAK FOR CUSTOMERS!

New York, Sept. 12.—(AP)—If the beer tap hadn't gasped and gone dry in Pete Cominskey's friendly neighborhood barroom tonight, there might have been some funerals thereabouts.

The beer ran out at 8 o'clock. Cominskey left his customers and went below to the basement to tap another keg. He noticed that the plaster in the ceiling was raining down steadily. He called the police and they ordered all the customers out of the bar, housed on the first floor of a four story brick building, otherwise empty.

From 8 o'clock until 11 the building teetered and quivered and then, with a sigh, it fell. One wall collapsed, leaving the structure lopsided. Under the débris was Pete Cominskey's business—beer, bar, bottles, and all—but he rescued his liquor license.

KILLS ESTRANGED WIFE AT CHURCH AS 300 WATCH

Salyersville, Ky., Sept. 12.—(AP)—While more than 300 persons attending an outdoor church meeting looked on Mrs. Lena Rudd, 21, was shot to death today, deputy sheriffs said, by her estranged husband, Dorsey Rudd, 25 year old live stock dealer.

Rudd then fired on Miss Ruby May, 15, who was holding the Rudds' infant daughter. Miss May was reported in critical condition tonight.

Another woman, Mrs. Boyd Pickelsiner, 60 years old, was struck by a stray bullet.

URGES STANDING ARMY OF U. S. BE INCREASED

Assistant Secretary of War Points to Perils.

New York, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Creation of a larger standing army today was urged by Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, to defend the United States against "world-wide forces of evil trying to push civilization to an Armageddon."

Speaking before a Constitution day assembly of war veterans and patriotic organizations in Brooklyn, Mr. Johnson said the military strength of this country is outranked by all first-class powers and most of the minor nations.

He numbered the standing army at 12,000 officers and 165,000 enlisted men.

"Portugal and Greece," he said, "each has a force greater than our combined regular army, navy, national guard, officers' reserve corps, and all other reserve units.

"In an emergency even peace-loving Sweden is ready to put in the field almost 900,000 men, while our available strength for immediate use is less than 500,000.

"In 1920, after a thorough study of the whole problem of preparedness, congress decided that 18,000 officers and 280,000 enlisted men are needed for the regular army properly to carry out its duties. Yet our forces are far below this desired strength.

"Our minimum needs today are 14,000 officers and 165,000 enlisted men. I trust that congress soon will appropriate sufficient funds to bring our army to its necessary strength.

"Even with these additions, however, we still will rank in the size of our standing army below all first-rate powers. Therefore, I feel confident that there is no danger these increases will head the United States toward militarism."

2 KILLED IN TRAFIC ACCIDENT.

Coldwater, Mich., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Dalton Becker, 25 years old, and Ronald W. Wiedner, 27, of Quincy, near here, were killed today when the car driven by Wiedner crashed into the rear of a freight truck.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Bette Cooper, tall, slim, 17 years old and blonde, who last night was crowned "Miss America for 1937," today renounced all the rewards of her victory. These included a five day contract at the steel pier, a plane trip to Hollywood for a movie test, at least six weeks in vaudeville—and a chance to buy a $1,000 Persian lamb coat "at cost price."

It was the Persian lamb coat—at cost price—that sent Miss Cooper home to Hackettstown, N. J., today when she should have been posing for news reel cameramen and newspaper photographers and responding to the nonsensical queries of interviewers.

Papa Le Brun Cooper decided the coat and the fame were no bargains. "Besides," he added, "her physique wouldn't stand the strain of public appearances. She has a heavy chest cold, she has lost five pounds, and she needs building up. After that she can think of going to Hollywood—if they still want her."

So the limelight switched to Miss Alice Emerick, also 17, who, as Miss Texas, won second place in the contest.

LAUDS CONGRESS FOR CASTING OFF ROOSEVELT YOKE

Representative Chauncey W. Reed, Republican member of the Congress from the 11th Illinois district—probably the strongest Republican congressional district in the country—yesterday credited his Democratic colleagues with one major accomplishment. By defeating the President's schemes, they saved the country from a dictatorship, he declared.

Representative Reed was the principal speaker at a Du Page county Republican rally, held at Lisle. He formerly was state's attorney of that county and he was giving an accounting to his constituents.

"Thank God the President's Supreme court packing bill was defeated," Congressman Reed told his audience. In doing that alone the 75th congress redeemed itself. Congress shook itself loose from executive control and cannot now be accused of rubber stampism."

MINNIE GROOMS FIRST BORN FOR RADIO CAREERS

Minnie, the singing mouse of Woodstock, first of her kind to go on the radio, yesterday was having the time of her young life—11 months so far. She was crooning a lullaby entitled "Squeak, My Little Ones, Squeak" to seven baby mice, her first offspring. It was obvious that she already has begun to train them for operatic careers.

According to Dwight Lichty, her manager and keeper, Minnie escaped from her cage in the basement of his home in Woodstock last Aug. 21. And she didn't return until the next morning. So it was that last Friday, just 20 days later, the blessed event occurred.

The seven little Minnies and Mickeys aren't as big as minutes. They're more like seconds—about half as big around as a cigaret and about one-third as long.

THE WHACKER WHACKED

By CALEB

A MAN sat by my desk and said, "Accounts in Haiti, eh? and in Santo Domingo, eh? 80 in Hawaii, 30 in the Philippines—and 30 in England?"

"Right," I answered.

"Well, that's all very interesting, but I would be far more impressed if you had 80 accounts in Los Angeles and say—30 or more in New York, or in New Orleans."

"You would?" I exclaimed.

"Of course, I would. People of those cities have access to fine stores while people in Haiti and Santo Domingo don't."

I opened a folder on my desk and said to him, "Will you guess how many accounts we have in Los Angeles? I mean active accounts."

"Yes, I'll make a guess!" and after a pause, during which he was obviously doing some painful cerebrating, he looked up as though he had me.

"Fifteen!" he snapped.

I glanced at some figures. "Multiply 15 by exactly 62 and you will have the number of accounts we have in Los Angeles."

He looked at me incredulously, scribbled on a piece of paper and said, "930!"

"Right again," I said, "and in New York we have 1,400 active charge accounts, and in New Orleans 465." My friend was really amazed.

"We have over 2,700 active accounts in Milwaukee, more than half that many in St. Louis, and the same in Minneapolis," I continued. "Over 600 people in Washington buy regularly in our store. Over 400 in Pittsburgh and in Denver."

"Well, I really am beginning to believe," sorrowfully said my friend, "that Marshall Field & Company is an unbelievable phenomenon."

Then with an air of hopefulness, for this man loves to take lusty whacks at anything which seems strong and successful, he said, "Well, people in large cities think they are sophisticated and that out-of-town charge accounts lend them prestige. But I'll bet you don't have charge accounts in little towns over the country."

"Such as?" I queried.

"Well," he pondered, running his fingers through his hair. "Let me see," and he looked at me with cunning in his eye—"let me see! . . . Strawberry Point, Iowa!"

There my data failed me. I dialed 691, our Credit Department. "Have we any active charge accounts in Strawberry Point, Iowa, and if so, how many?" I inquired. Back over the wire came the voice in a few moments, "Four!"

As I repeated that number to my chagrined friend he put on his hat and started for the door, growling, "I might have known it!"

CHECK JAPANESE INVASION, CHINA URGES NATIONS

Hopes United States Will Join League Action.

GENEVA, Sept. 12.—(AP)—In a strongly worded appeal to the league of nations against Japan's invasion of China, the Chinese delegation expressed hope that the United States and other peace loving nations outside the league would join in league action against that "aggression."

The written appeal, to be delivered to the league tonight or before convocation of the assembly tomorrow morning, warned that the Chinese-Japanese conflict has become a world crisis with grave dangers to the peace of all nations.

Would Invoke Article 17.

The appeal was framed to invoke article 17 of the league covenant, which means that Japan will be invited to sit at the council table to reply to China's indictment.

[Article 17 sets forth the procedure to be followed in disputes between league members and outside nations. The non-member is to be invited to accept the obligations of membership in respect to that dispute, but if it declines the provisions of article 16—providing for sanctions—may be applicable against such a state. Japan already has indicated plainly she will reject an invitation.]

After accusing Japan of violating international treaties in following a policy of conquest, aiming at hegemony of Asia and mastery of the Pacific, the communication said that since the middle of August Japan has mustered an army of more than 60,000 men in the Shanghai-Woosung area.

Move to Dominate Shanghai.

"The intention of Japan in dispatching such a huge force to Shanghai cannot otherwise be interpreted than to dominate Shanghai, the gateway to the rich and prosperous Yangtze valley and leading commercial metropolis of the Far East, and to attack Nanking, the capital," the Chinese statement charged.

The delegation then declared Japan's blockade of the entire China coast was illegal.

"Therefore, it is the belief of the Chinese government and people that the league of nations, representing as it does the great body of peaceful, peace loving states, should devise and undertake immediate and effective measures to put a stop to the intolerable continuance of Japan's aggressive atrocious activities in China and uphold the sanctity of international treaties."

YOUNG WHITE GIRL FOUND SLAIN BESIDE CHINESE GAS SUICIDE

New York, Sept. 12.—(AP)—A policeman, searching today for the 14 year old daughter of his neighbor, found her slain in the gas filled back room of a laundry beside the body of a 30 year old Chinese.

The girl, attractive Alice Devine, had been shot through the head, and Brooklyn police, after an intensive investigation listed the case as murder and suicide.

The Chinese, George Tong, said their report, shot the girl and then ended his own life with gas shortly before Patrolman George Lau, off duty, broke down the door. Attracted by the girl's poodle dog, which passed his house dragging its leash, Patrolman Lau started the search for Alice, smelled gas near the laundry, and smashed his way in.

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

WARSAW, Poland, Sept. 12.—The "anti-Jewish month," during which a Jewish boycott proclaimed by the Anti-Semitic Nationalist party, is being carried out with great harshness. In Warsaw, Vilna, Lublin, Grodno, and other cities boycotts are causing Jews much distress.

The main center of the boycott is the capital, where a "model boycott" is being staged in Swiento Krzyska street — the business thoroughfare containing Poland's most famous bookstores. Pickets are driving would-be customers away from shops. Students assist the pickets. Songs containing such phrases as "death to Jews" are sung.

Woman Leaps 250 Feet from Span Into the Hudson

JAPAN'S ARMIES EXTEND ADVANCE IN NORTH CHINA

Chinese Fall Back Toward Their Main Base.

PEIPING, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Japanese armies extended their advances today south of Tientsin and northwest of Peiping.

The column driving down the Tientsin-Pukow railway, reinforced by a division just landed at Taku and rushed to the front, pushed on well south of Machang, Chinese advance base which fell yesterday after weeks of fighting.

Japanese officers said the advance was bringing nearer a pitched battle for control of the central and southern parts of Hopei province, of which the northern section, containing Tientsin and Peiping, already is in Japanese hands.

The drive down the Tientsin-Pukow railway, direct line to Nanking, was said to have passed Tsinghsien, 40 miles south of Tientsin and eight miles below Machang.

Fall Back Toward Base.

Chinese units retreating from Machang were reported falling back on Tsangchow, main Chinese base in this section, about 55 miles below Tientsin.

Along the Peiping-Suiyuan railway, main highway into the Chinese northwest, a Japanese column was said to be near the gates of Tatung, strategic town in northern Shansi province.

A Japanese army spokesman said almost no Chinese troops remained in Chahar province, adjoining Hopei on the northwest. He predicted the advance into Shansi and Suiyuan provinces soon would bring the Japanese into direct conflict with the Chinese communist armies which have just been incorporated in the Chinese national forces as the 8th Route army.

Report 24 Hour Battle.

Japanese said they captured Machang after 24 hours' bitter fighting, but a Chinese version said the Chinese defenders retreated in good order Friday night before the Japanese launched their final assault. Previously the Japanese had captured towns northwest and west of Machang.

From Tsangchow a continuous Chinese defense line was said to run west-northwest 80 miles to Paotingfu, principal Chinese base on the Peiping-Hankow railway, down which the Japanese also are driving. Japanese believed the battle for southern Hopei would be fought along that line.

However, the advance of their western column has been stalled some 30 miles below Peiping and 60 miles above Paotingfu.

"IS IT GOOD BUSINESS TO BUY COSTLIER TOBACCOS FOR CAMELS?"—A QUESTION ASKED BY MANY PEOPLE

ANSWER: Camels are the Largest-Selling cigarette in America

"I have taken my share of big fish—marlin and tuna. I know what a rod-and-reel contest with these heavy fighters does to a man's energy. When I've gotten a big fellow safely landed, my next move is to light a Camel. A Camel very quickly gives me an invigorating 'lift.'" (Signed) REX BEACH, famous novelist and sportsman

"Camel's rich, delicate flavor appeals to a woman's taste. I smoke nothing else. So many of the girls in our crowd feel the way I do about Camel's being extra-gentle to the throat." (Signed) JOSELYN LIBBY, private secretary

"I can tell Camels are made from mighty fine tobaccos. There's a sight more goodness in 'em for one thing—real natural flavor that doesn't tire my taste. I wouldn't be caught on the high seas without my supply of Camels. No sir! Camels come in handy, too, at the table. I like my Camels at mealtimes. They help my digestion keep on an even keel." (Signed) GEORGE BUCKINGHAM, ship's engineer

Think of what this means! The greatest pleasure for the greatest number of smokers ever given by any cigarette

AND this didn't happen by chance. Camels are the largest-selling cigarette in America—and in the world—because they give a new delight to smoking—because people can and do appreciate costlier tobaccos. Smokers have learned that they can trust those finer tobaccos in Camels to give them more of what they want in smoking. And that makes Camel's policy of spending millions of dollars more for costlier tobaccos "good business."

Millions of men and women have given Camels the severest test—smoked them steadily—and have found that Camels open the door for full, natural smoke enjoyment. If you are not a Camel smoker, try them. And see if you, too, don't find vastly more pleasure in Camel's costlier tobaccos.

"I love the taste of a Camel. They're so mild. Even after steady smoking I notice no 'cigaretty' after-taste." (Signed) MRS. ANTHONY J. DREXEL 3D

"In this racing game, it's vital to know that you can rely on the mildness of your cigarette. That makes it Camels for me. Man, Camels have a mildness that's unbeatable, to my way of thinking!" (Signed) LOU MEYER, Indianapolis Auto Race winner

JAPANESE GAIN MILE IN BATTLE FOR SHANGHAI

Casualties Described as Heaviest of War.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 13 [Monday].—(AP)—Although masses of Chinese infantry still fought with fury against the Japanese war machine's thrust north of Shanghai, strong evidences developed today that the Chinese command was preparing for retirement to its second defense line to the west.

All Sunday and through the night the battle raged in and around Yanghang, 10 miles north of Shanghai and keypoint in the present battle lines along the Whangpoo and Yangtze rivers.

Yanghang, with not a house left standing, changed hands several times, but a Japanese spokesman claimed the Japanese had gained a mile. He admitted this was only at heavy cost. Both sides reported enormous casualties. Some authorities said it was the fiercest day's fighting of the battle for Shanghai, now in its fifth week. Chinese said their lines had held.

Hand-to-Hand Battle.

Without the protection of their naval guns, the Japanese were confronted at close range by Chinese who in hand-to-hand combat repeatedly beat the invaders back. Each time the Japanese, reinforced, returned to the assault and repulsed the Chinese.

To offset the Japanese advantage in artillery and air bombers, the Chinese split into machine gun platoons of about 15 men each, armed with one light and one heavy machine gun.

Early today warfare was brought to the international settlement as Chinese airmen raided Japanese warships in the Whangpoo river and the Japanese airfield in the Yangtzepoo district. Chinese claimed their bombs hit some of the Japanese naval craft in the lower Yangtze, but there was no independent confirmation.

[A Nanking dispatch said the flyers claimed to have hit five Japanese ships near Shanghai.]

Shrapnel Showers Settlement.

As the Japanese anti-aircraft batteries blasted at the raiders the settlement was showered with shrapnel and splinters.

Fresh fighting broke out in Chapei and Hongkew, sections of Shanghai which had been quiet for nearly two weeks. Using heavy artillery and large infantry forces, the Japanese centered an attack on Chinese positions around the North station, on the borders of the international settlement.

Seek to Turn Flank.

This Japanese attack evidently was intended as a surprise to turn the Chinese right flank, which rests on Soochow creek, opposite the settlement border held by the United States marines. Shrapnel and splinters fell inside the marines' lines but caused no casualties. There was bitter street fighting, after which the Japanese retired.

The second line to which the Chinese were believed about to retire in the battle north of Shanghai is described as a whole series of interlocking "Hindenburg lines." It runs from Chenju, five miles west of Shanghai, through Nansiang and Kiating to a point northwest of Liuho on the Yangtze, about 25 miles northwest of here.

It has long been prepared for the main Chinese stand in the Shanghai-Nanking area. It has successive trench systems, with concrete pill boxes, bombproof dugouts, communicating trenches linked with roads running back from this front to Nanking and Hangchow, where heavy forces are held in reserve.

Find Advances Costly.

The Japanese are finding their advances extremely costly in casualties and munitions and also in the large number of additional troops required to guard lines of communication.

Japanese officers returning from the front confided to an American authority that they had been disillusioned. They said their superiors in Japan said they would have a walkover in China. Instead they had found themselves "up against a stone wall, fighting our most determined enemy since the Russo-Japanese war."

[Domei, the Japanese news agency, in a Shanghai dispatch said Chinese casualties totaled 30,000 dead and 20,000 wounded in the Shanghai area since fighting began there Aug. 13.]

Dispatches from south China said six Japanese bombing planes raided Waichow, principal city of Eastern Kwangtung province, killing many civilians. The raiders withdrew when Chinese pursuit planes from Canton appeared.

MARIE BASENBURG.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Physicians have sought without success thus far to diagnose the sickness as a result of which Marie Basenburg talks almost continuously. Today was the twelfth since Miss Basenburg, who is 19 years old, was stricken with the strange malady. She is suffering no other apparent ill effects, but only at rare intervals is she able to remain silent.

Free 5,000 Pigeons in Iowa to Fly to Home in Chicago

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Five thousand homing pigeons, owned by the Chicago Concourse Flying association, were released here at 7:30 a. m. today for a time flight to their home lofts in Chicago. The pigeons, some said to be worth $500 each, were crated here in a baggage car. They were released in groups and will be timed by an individual identification.

STENCH BOMBS INJURE 50 IN 21 THEATERS IN N. Y.

Thousands Routed; Labor Trouble Blamed.

New York, Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Thousands of movie patrons were routed, and at least fifty were injured in a well timed stench and tear gas bomb assault on twenty-one neighborhood motion picture houses here tonight.

A labor dispute between rival film operators' unions was believed to be behind the attack. The theaters affected, stretching from the Bowery to the Westchester county line, are owned by the Skouras Theater corporation. This corporation took over ownership of most of them only yesterday from the Springer Theater corporation.

All Explode Within 25 Minutes.

Every one of the twenty-one houses was well filled, many to capacity, with the usual average of women and children in the audiences when the bomb attack took place. The bombs were exploded with time clock precision, proving a definite prearrangement. The first exploded at about 8:50 p. m. and the last about 9:15.

No panics occurred. In most houses the fumes, stench or tear compelling, spread slowly, and this brought about a continual rather than a concerted exodus.

The injuries occurred to those sitting near where the hidden missils burst. Some were burned about the legs and ankles. Some were cut by flying glass. No injuries were serious.

Police Work at Top Speed.

The bombings forced police to work at top speed, and for nearly 40 minutes squad cars and ambulances, their sirens shrieking, raced through busy streets. They were busiest in upper Manhattan and the Bronx.

In assigning probable labor troubles as the motive for the bombings, police pointed out that the theaters affected formerly employed members of the Empire State Motion Picture Operators' union. The Skouras interests employ only members of local 306, Motion Picture Operators' union, a rival unit and affiliate of the American Federation of Labor.

In taking over the theaters yesterday, the Skouras corporation replaced Empire State men with local 306 men. Empire State operators, claiming they were locked out, established picket lines at the theaters, but withdrew them abruptly at 7:30 p. m.

NAZIS TOO BUSY FOR A WAR NOW, HITLER ASSERTS

But He Demands Return of Lost Colonies.

Millions listened over the radio as he urged Germans to keep up the "spirit and patriotism which made us great."

Then touching the new banners with his hand and with the "blood flag" Hitler dedicated the new flags of the party organization while cannons boomed salutes.

One of the flags dedicated was the standard of the "Death's Head Schutz Staffel of Upper Bavaria, Dachau." This is a special body of men who have a "special duty to guard the dregs of humanity in concentration camps and therefore are always up against the enemy."

Reviews 107,500 Men.

After the banners were dedicated the fuehrer then entered his car and, followed by cars bearing his guests, headed for the castle, driving slowly through Nuremberg to give his visitors a chance to feel the brunt of popular emotion.

At 11 a. m. Hitler drove to the market square and for five hours reviewed 107,500 men.

The Storm Troopers began leaving Nuremberg, while the regular army detachments poured into nearby camps to take part in tomorrow's military sham battle.

Experts believe some of the new Diesel engined bombers and pursuit planes will take part in the sham battle.

LETTER FROM JAILED U-BOAT PASTOR READ TO HIS CONGREGATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 12.—Excerpts from a letter written by the Rev. Martin Niemoeller, imprisoned leader of the Confessional [Evangelical Lutheran] crusade for "freedom of creed," were read today to his congregation in St. Anne's church in Dahlem, a Berlin suburb. The one-time submarine commander wrote:

"I often think of others who must wander through the same dark valley as myself. But it is a comfort to us all to know that you are praying for us. I am certain the almighty God will triumph. If we have one wish it is that you will never grow weaker in your prayers."

RAPIST SOUGHT IN GARY; SECOND ATTEMPT FOILED

Gary police were searching last night for a rapist who attacked a young woman early Saturday morning and attempted to attack a second girl yesterday. News of the first case was withheld until after the second was reported.

The rape victim, a girl of 19 years, lives at the Dolly Madison club for girls and women at 529 Madison street, Gary. She was sleeping in her second floor room when the rapist entered through a window. He had crawled there on a ladder placed to reach from the roof of a garage. Carrying a flashlight and a revolver, he threatened to kill the girl if she screamed.

The intruder is a man about 25 years old, unshaven and with long hair. He weighs about 160 pounds. Yesterday morning, through a window, he entered the room of a girl, 17 years old, employed as a maid in the home of Otto Reising, 455 Hayes street, a Gary school teacher. Her screams frightened him away.

WIN $100,000.00 1st PRIZE

THIS IS A SAMPLE CARTOON

(It is used only for the purpose of explaining how you can enter and win in this contest. Read the explanation below.)

YOU SUPPLY THE REPLY FOR THE EMPTY BALLOON

HERE is what you do to win in this contest. Just study the conversation in the cartoon, and then YOU SUPPLY THE REPLY FOR THE EMPTY BALLOON.

Mary's reply might be:
"Old Golds. They hold their ash better. Nobody'll burn your tablecloth."

Or, Mary might say:
"Old Golds! Smokers seldom drop ashes when they smoke Old Golds."

Mary might say:
"Get Old Golds. They're always fresh. They'll please everybody."

There are so many things that Mary could reply that it seems almost needless to give any more examples. For instance, Mary might very well make any of the following three replies:

"My choice is Old Golds. They're always fresh, always Double-Mellow."

"Get Old Golds. Their double Cellophane package keeps them wonderfully fresh."

"Either buy several brands or get Old Golds. Old Golds please everybody."

There is nothing hard about this contest. Almost anybody can think of dozens of things that Mary would reply. And it's the same with all of the Official Cartoons in this contest. Just study the picture and the conversation and supply your own, original reply for the blank balloon. That's all there is to it.

Under each of the Official Cartoons you will find suggestions to help you write the missing conversation for the empty balloon.

Do not use more than 12 words for each answer

HERE'S HOW YOU WIN!

The sample cartoon printed at the left will give you the idea of this contest. It will show you what to do to win.

You'll note that the girl at the left in the cartoon is saying, "Say, Mary, I wonder what kind of cigarettes I should serve at my bridge party?" Then you'll notice that the balloon for the other girl's reply is blank.

The idea of the contest is for you to supply the reply, or remark; in other words, the missing conversation for the balloon that is blank.

Anybody can think of an appropriate reply that Mary might make. If you'll read the explanation below the Sample Cartoon you'll find several different kinds of replies.

SEND IN YOUR ANSWERS EACH WEEK

Answers are to be submitted weekly in this contest. Each week for 15 weeks you send in your missing conversations for 3 cartoons. Fill in the missing conversations on the Answer Form. DO NOT SEND IN THE CARTOONS THEMSELVES.

The 3 cartoons of each week are known as a Series. Mail your answers to this First Series any time between now and midnight of this coming Saturday night.

Just remember, submit your answers WEEKLY in this contest, sending in the Answer Form each week throughout the contest. This procedure is the same as in Old Gold's previous contest.

No tricks! No catches! NEATNESS DOES NOT COUNT IN THIS CONTEST! Before you enter this contest, read the rules and find out exactly what you are to do. Then, when you clearly understand the rules, submit your answers in accordance with them.

GET THE CARTOONS FREE
at any cigarette dealer's or at any Western Union Office

You can get the cartoons free, either from your cigarette dealer or from the leading Western Union offices. The 1st to 4th Weeks' Series are now obtainable at most cigarette stands and Western Union offices in attractive Bulletin form.

With each Series you will find a convenient ANSWER FORM for filling in your answers. However, any ANSWER FORM you find in a newspaper or magazine or circular is just as acceptable as any other ANSWER FORM.

Enclose 3 yellow wrappers from packages of OLD GOLDS (or 3 hand-drawn facsimile copies) with each of your Weekly Series of answers. This is in accordance with the Contest Rules. Address your envelope to: Old Gold Contest, P. O. Box 9, Varick Street Station, New York, N. Y.

If for any reason you are unable to obtain the cartoons mail the coupon below.

5,000 people go to work for you when you board the "L"

With their families, the 5,000 employees of the "L" would make a city nearly half the size of Evanston. And the small fare you pay when you board the "L" actually puts these 5,000 people to work for you. In fact, several thousand "L" employees have been working for you even before you have paid your fare.

Porters have been sweeping and cleaning stations, large forces of inspectors and mechanics have been at work so that when you step into a train it is conditioned as carefully as one about to make a transcontinental run.

And out on the private right-of-way over which you are about to travel, above the creeping street traffic below, maintenance men have been busy smoothing your path . . . despatchers, tower and signal men are waiting to speed you on your way . . . skilled train crews are operating trains that will total 5,383 at the end of the day . . . all in order that you may go and come as you like . . . quickly and easily . . . at any hour of the day or night.

NIGHT AND DAY SERVICE . . . REGARDLESS OF WEATHER

No matter what the weather, "L" trains go through. Neither flooded streets nor blizzards halt them. And on rainy days or snowy days . . . in hot weather or cold . : : you can always travel comfortably on the "L".

You board and leave the "L" at protected stations : : : without exposing yourself to the weather. In Summer, you ride in coolness because the open windows scoop up and fan you with tons of cool, fresh air. In Winter, you get away from the cold because "L" stations and trains are electrically heated to healthful, comfortable temperatures. Ride the "L" once and you will see why thousands of people now ride it regularly . : : every day. Try it tonight or tomorrow morning.

GET THERE! Ride the "L" THE FAST, COMFORTABLE WAY

Mayor Pledges Help with 1938 Series.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

James C. Petrillo.

Speaking from the stage of the Grant park band shell last night at the closing concert of the 1937 lake front series, Mayor Kelly promised he would do everything in his power to assure the city a similar cycle for the summer of 1938. He was preceded on the platform by James C. Petrillo, commissioner of the park district and president of the Chicago Federation of Musicians, who said that the thousands who attended each of this year's 69 programs demonstrated that Chicago now is one of the musical centers of the world.

Mr. Petrillo, supervisor of the concerts for the three years they have been presented, gave full credit to Mayor Kelly and to Robert J. Dunham, president of the Chicago Park district, for the coöperation which made this summer's cycle possible. It was to the mayor, Mr. Petrillo said, that he and Mr. Dunham went for aid last June when budget difficulties threatened to make the concert series impossible.

Variety of Performers.

The 1937 programs, which began on July 1, have been sponsored by the Chicago Park district and the Chicago Federation of Musicians and have brought to the lake front band shell the city's leading orchestras and bands, a variety of conductors, and a profusion of out-of-the-ordinary soloists. Among these latter were Jascha Heifetz, Tito Schipa, Lily Pons, Alec Templeton, Marion Claire, and such radio and movie luminaries as Dave Rubinoff and Bobby Breen. Andre Kostelanetz was guest conductor on one occasion.

A cold wind last night whistled about the tens of thousands of persons who crowded the lake front audience area. To compensate them for the discomfort they suffered there was the music-making of a 300 piece orchestra under Frederick Stock's direction. It combined in its personnel musicians from the Chicago Symphony, Woman's Symphony, Civic Opera, and Chicago Philharmonic orchestras.

Wind Adds to Scene.

This tradition of ending the season with a super-super-colossal concert dates all the way back to 1935, but never before have the sponsors been called upon to endure the dogged opposition which nature provided last night.

Both the velocity and the temperature of the wind were important factors. The former accounted for the wild swirling of débris about the feet of the audience, the latter for the incongruous costumes which brightened both stage and audience area. Some of the women musicians wore hats and coats, but fiddled away like great fellows despite these unusual impedimenta.

To an epic setting of clear, star-strewn sky, churning lake, and imposing, cliffilke city, Mr. Stock and his titanic orchestra brought a program of the music of Handel, Wagner, Tschaikowsky, Smetana, Godard, and Johann Strauss. Most of it was of the type which refuses to be dwarfed even by the proportions of so tremendous a theater as this.

A Saddened Note.

But there was something indefinably sad in all this brave, manmade music sounding for the last time this year amid the immensities of a nature growing daily more hostile. Even the I. C. engines, which have done such yeoman service through the summer providing obbligati for a bewildering variety of music, seemed to catch the melancholy spirit of the evening and to chuff along their appointed ways more thoughtfully and disconsolately than usual.

Considering that there had been but a single rehersal, the giant orchestra was a marvel of coördination. Mr. Stock ventured freely on subtle effects and did not eschew his customary use of a moderate rubato; yet his 300 men and women, despite the unexpectedly perfect football weather and the stiffened fingers which resulted therefrom and which added still another difficulty to the many which had to be surmounted, followed him like seasoned troupers.

Mr. Stock is something of a trouper himself, for neither cold nor wind nor the frequent explosions of photographic bulbs stayed him from the swift completion of his appointed nuance.

THE STOCK MARKET.

Previous to last week the government had demonstrated that it could curb a rising stock market, even when the course of business is as highly stimulating as it has been during the last six months. The means to that end were the SEC restrictions upon stock trading, very high margin requirements, the sterilization of newly imported gold, and restrictions on bank lending enforced by increasing the reserve requirements.

The market last week showed that in the steps taken to head off an advance the government had destroyed the means which previously existed for heading off a decline. From early March to the end of the preceding week the average price of fifty leading stocks had fallen $20. But so effective are the restraints which the government has imposed upon buyers that at even concessions below the closing prices the week before buyers were not to be found for stocks the morning after Labor day. For example, the stock of Johns-Manville corporation, a seasoned security, often heavily traded in, sold at $117.50 at the close of the preceding week. The opening price last Tuesday was $114, and in a few minutes it was down to $110. At that point a Chicago broker wired New York for a floor quotation. The reply was that 90 was bid and stock was offered for sale at 114. A market order at that moment might have brought $20 per share below the last price. Another broker sent a similar inquiry about a stock which had last sold for $16. The quotation that came back was that $8 was bid and stock was available for $13.

This shows clearly that the stock market is no longer a place where securities can be sold at small reductions in price below the last sale. The government has done many things to destroy the liquidity which the stock exchange previously afforded. The high margin requirement for one thing has reduced the number of traders and the amount of stock which they could buy on margin. The restrictions placed upon the activities of the specialists have also reduced the number of potential buyers when markets are nervous. An even more important step in destroying the market's ability to absorb stocks without material recessions in price is the restriction placed upon officers, directors, and large holders of stock. Having confidence in the soundness and prospects of a company, in the past they have regularly bought stock when it was being pressed for sale. Later when composure has returned to the exchange and prices have recovered somewhat, they have sold the stock which they bought from disturbed sellers. The law now prohibits the insiders and large stock holders from placing support orders for stock unless they keep the stock for more than six months. If they sell out in a shorter period of time the profit must be paid to the corporation. If there is a loss they, of course, must absorb it themselves. Mr. Rockefeller's million share order for Standard of New Jersey at $50, which helped to terminate the panic in 1929, could not have been placed if the present law was in force.

The illiquidity of the market, caused by the government's restrictions, is sufficient to account for last week's collapse of stock prices. It was only necessary to have a moderate increase in selling to produce a near panic. There were no support orders. The precipitating cause of last week's break was the sudden threat of the imminence of a world war, which appeared over the holiday. The last war is recent enough to recall that prices went off badly at the beginning and that eventually the market had to be closed for a period of months. If a retreat was coming, why wait? And so a flood of selling orders struck the market as soon as it opened on Tuesday.

Who was to buy? The usual buyers from distress sellers had been legislated out of the market. The specialists were afraid of the SEC. Speculators couldn't buy because with the excessively high margins their accounts were already restricted. The SEC made a study and reports that some little fellows were the principal buyers. The trouble was there were not enough little fellows and they didn't have enough money. And so the market fell nearly six points on each of two days.

Some writers now are attributing the decline to a fundamental change in business. The fall expansion won't be up to expectations, say they. Bad strikes, including one on the railroads, may hold back business, they fear. There is of course a possibility that this is true, but it seems as yet to be guesswork. There are other factors of a less conjectural nature. The advance in costs has killed off the revival of residential building construction. The increased costs of doing business are reducing corporation profits despite the increases in volume of sales. And a number of corporations which need funds are unable to sell their securities because of the uncertain and declining bond market. The effect of any of these need not be assayed to determine what effect it had to produce a decline in security prices. It may have been weak for any of a number of causes. But it was demoralized because the government shackled the market and put the shackles on too tight.

A PLAGUE ON BOTH YOUR HOUSES.

The letter, "Contributions to Spain," which appears today in the Voice of the People demands an answer because it is typical of a number of communications which THE TRIBUNE has received concerning its news coverage of the Spanish war, both by its own correspondents and by the Associated Press.

Almost all of these letters charge THE TRIBUNE, in its news stories or editorials, with showing prejudice against the Spanish faction favored by the writers. The best refutation of these charges is that their volume is divided about equally between sympathizers with the Valencia government and sympathizers with Gen. Franco.

The same mail which brought the letter printed today brought another from a clergyman. He asked that his not be printed, but its tenor is indicated by the query, "If your paper is free, why are you pessimistic in reporting lies about the nationalist cause in Spain which are denied the next day?"

Up to a certain point THE TRIBUNE agrees with both sets of partisans. It agrees with their charges that their opponents have marked themselves by their conduct as barbarians. It only disagrees with their contentions that either side may be regarded as the saviors of Spain. Whether murderous Fascism or murderous communism wins the war, the losers will be the Spanish people.

Mr. Reuben's letter makes the specific complaint that the first fund collecting organization mentioned in the story of Sept. 4, which has sent none of the money it collected to Spain, was not distinguished as pro-Franco. Had he gone on down the list he would have discovered two more organizations, which by their names are pro-Valencia, which also have failed to remit any money to Spain.

With the exception of the American Friends Service committee, all of the organizations mentioned in that story are obviously partisan to one side or the other. Their reports show that of the money which they received they sent only $139,193 to Spain, while spending $124,987 for "administration and publicity." In other words, 47 per cent of their expenditures have not been for the relief of Spanish suffering but for propaganda in this country on behalf of alien and undemocratic systems of government.

THE SIXTEENTH THOUSAND.

The massacre clock passed the fifteenth thousand killed and injured on Aug. 26. It reached the sixteenth thousand on Sept. 9—exactly two weeks later. The optimist would note an improvement in driving conditions because the previous thousand victims were registered within thirteen days and also because the present period included Labor day with its heavy losses of seven killed and eighty-one injured.

Since the last article on the subject was written THE TRIBUNE has inaugurated a courtesy campaign to see if an appeal to the finer instincts in human nature will assist the judges of the Safety court. A Tribune car will tour the city to seek an outstanding case of motor courtesy. The driver will be the recipient of a $5 reward. At the same time the reporter will note cases of flagrant disregard for traffic laws and publish the names of the vehicle owners. This latter information is not included in a spirit of animosity, but rather as a friendly warning to the offender. Many motorists are not aware of their proneness to "overstep the foul line," beside which an officer of the law may be the observer next time.

But THE TRIBUNE is not sanguine of substantial benefits. Elevated highways are the only available method that will slow down the hands of the massacre clock. That there is nothing new in this conclusion may be gleaned from a report of three civil engineers of the Massachusetts legislature in 1888. "Gates and flagmen do not protect. They are not a barrier against a restless people, impatient of a moment's delay. If the gates effectively closed up the road, and kept the people away from the track until it was safe to cross, they would be made much better; but at present only a few of the foot passengers pay any attention to them!" That is the principle—"close up the road." Build elevated highways that will segregate the pedestrian from the fast, through traffic, and protect motorists from themselves and from each other.

Why do those in power prolong the awful record of one thousand casualties every fortnight?

Editorial of the Day

[Columbus Dispatch.]

There hasn't been as much agitation in Ohio for a tightening up of parole regulations as in some of the states to the west of us—notably Illinois, where it seems crimes are committed in almost wholesale lots by parolees. But the killing of two policemen at Springfield by a bandit gang, among whose number were two men released on parole from the Ohio penitentiary, gives us a concrete example of the sort of thing that other commonwealths are battling so vigorously.

The whole question of parole is a difficult one. For one thing it is easy for a "stir-wise" prisoner to be so conspicuously circumspect in his conduct behind the walls that he makes a favorable impression when he comes up for parole, while he may be in his inner attitudes determinedly anti-social and have no intention of going straight after gaining release. On the other hand, an offender of the casual type, a victim of circumstances, perhaps may languish behind bars for years longer because he doesn't know the tricks which are an open book to the professional criminal.

More careful study of the individual, his record, his attitude, his prospects and intentions of making an honest living after winning freedom are needed. Often a study of the crime for which he was committed will yield significant clews. Certain types of criminals, including those convicted of sex offenses and who are obviously maladjusted for conventional living, ought never to be allowed their liberty. There also is a growing feeling that a life sentence for murder ought to mean more than a few years in prison, especially if the individual has a criminal record.

One of the bandits paroled after serving 10 years for a previous murder of a policeman apparently reentered a life of crime almost as soon as the prison doors closed behind him. He will need no further attention from the law. He, too, lies dead, thanks to a well aimed bullet fired by his victim's associates. But he is a symbol of a problem society must face intelligently and with use made of every resource. Parole assuredly has a proper place in penal techniques. But the system is all too patently in need of close study and overhauling.

EVER SEE IT WINK?

A rather merry gentleman was crossing Michigan avenue on the way home from a party one night when he saw the Lindbergh beacon stop, make one revolution backward, and then turn on in its accustomed way. It frightened him so that he never took anything stronger than ginger ale for months until he read that once a night the beacon is stopped and reversed one revolution while an adjustment is made.

THE YOUNG PLOWMAN TALKS TO HIS FATHER.

Well, look around; this breadth of corn you see
Is your own land, and what a giant yield.
I knew last spring you had your doubts of me—
You sat and watched me plowing in the field
And not a word you spoke; I knew your brain
Was teeming with misgivings; look you here—
The oats were good in spite of lack of rain;
You never saw more corn your best crop year.

Next spring you need not worry, for your land
Will be as well farmed as it was those days
When you could drive a team with steady hand—
The times have changed; my ways are newer ways.
But this good soil which mated with your plow
Will keep the faith with younger plowmen now.

WELL, HOW DID IT?

Up near Ishpeming, Mich., this summer a gentleman was playing golf. On the fairway of the third hole a woman from the foursome ahead walked up to his ball to play it. He shouted to her, but she went on getting ready to swing. "I beg your pardon," he said, running up to her, "but that's my ball. She shook her head decidedly and said: "Oh, no. It's mine." Impatiently he told her to pick it up and she'd see that his name was printed on it. Her jaw dropped when she read the name, and, much amazed, she exclaimed: "Well, how do you suppose your name got on my ball?"

The reply of the gentleman whose check was returned marked "Signer Deceased" is obvious, says M. Crossett: He referred the whole matter to the dead letter office.

RECIPES BY THE MORNING BROADCAST.

Pickling smells are pretty fair in a city, but you really have to get into the country to smell some smelling. Farm women have all the ingredients handy to toss into a crock and know all the combinations for breeding different kinds of pungent pickles. City women can't glean the pickle patch for just straight, firm ones; spade up fresh roots of fiery horseradish; pick silver-bellied leaves from new shoots on the grapevine; get a lump of "cow" salt from the barn; snip off the tender heads of dill from garden stalks; pluck a handful of leaves off a black walnut tree; or sip samples from several barrels of pure apple cider vinegar in the dark cellar until just the proper sharpness is found. Country housewives pack in layers of this and that, separated by glistening, green pickles, pour the properly prepared vinegar mixture over the full jar, and sniff—the world stands still to smell.

Perhaps the chauffeur takes a different route. It may even have developed into a robust dog that no longer needs a morning ride. One of its casual acquaintances who used to see it blinking out from the rug in which it was wrapped on all but the warmest days wonders, anyway, what ever became of the little dog that used to ride up Wabash avenue alone in a limousine. The acquaintance inquired, once, and found that the little dog had been ill. Its mistress had tried having all its teeth pulled, but that didn't seem to help.

A CHICAGO WOMAN traveling in the west thought the single dinner on the menu a bit heavy for her little girl and asked the waitress in the small town restaurant if she might order à la carte for her daughter. The waitress reluctantly said it would be O. K. and brought the sandwich and orange juice the little girl wanted. When she saw the sandwich and orange juice weren't on the check the mother asked why. "You asked if we wouldn't feed her à la carte—on the house," was the answer.

DIARRHEA IN CHILDREN.

ACUTE diarrhea in children is always an emergency. It is one of our chief causes of illness and death in young tots. While better instruction, better feeding, and more intelligent attention on the part of mothers have brought about much improvement, nevertheless the possibility persists as a constant menace. In probably nine cases out of ten the food is at fault, either as a mechanical irritant or because it has become spoiled or contaminated by bacteria. Unless great care is taken in the refrigeration of milk, bacteria will multiply rapidly. Of course, weak infants are more susceptible than those who are strong, and the younger the boy or girl the more quickly will symptoms develop.

The skins of fruits—grapes, apples, peaches, etc.—may prove disturbing even though they are completely sterile, and, of course, unripe fruit—apples particularly—will act as indigestible foreign particles in the intestinal tract.

All too often diarrhea is associated with vomiting, which means that the whole alimentary tract is involved. The danger here lies in rapid dehydration [loss of fluids], far more than the tissues can stand. Within a few hours, even before we realize what is happening, the tissues may be so dried as to bring on a condition likely to be fraught with danger. The rectum may be so inflamed that it is impossible to give normal salt solution or fluid via the bowel and it may be necessary to inject liquids under the skin.

It goes without saying that young infants, if possible, should be breast-fed. If this procedure were carried out for the first few months of life most cases of diarrhea in the very young would be eliminated. If artificial feeding is employed, cleanliness is the price of safety. Boil the milk, do not use too much fat, and limit the quantity to 1½ oz at the outside 2 ounces per day per pound of weight. Sugar, which is fattening and which babies like, must be limited to approximately 6 per cent of the mixture. Make certain that a sufficient amount of water is given. Overfeeding is more to be guarded against than underfeeding and an occasional day in which boiled skimmed milk is used will be helpful.

The scraped apple diet treatment has been followed by good results. Only ripe, mellow apples are employed and the raw pulp is scraped and fed generously—as much as the child will take. All other food is stopped abruptly. This method is not so applicable to infants but is satisfactory for those from 1 to 10 years of age.

The old plan of administering a dose of castor oil has been abandoned rather generally. When stools are appearing one or two every hour this practice may merely add to the irritation within the intestine and there is nothing to be gained by further accentuating the patient's discomfort. Now and then opium, in the form of paregoric, is there is much restlessness, may be required. I hope that but few mothers have seen the picture of a youngster passing from 15 to 20 stools in 24 hours, losing weight rapidly, with sunken eyes, dry tongue—fussy and restless.

In the first place fluid—glucose or salt solution—must be given, preferably by injection under the skin. If it can be fed by mouth, well and good, but usually all liquids will be rejected promptly if taken into the stomach. Sometimes the fluid must be introduced directly into a vein.

No severe diarrhea should be handled without the advice of a skilful physician. Even within a few hours the youngster may be facing a serious illness and prompt action is essential. The temptation is always present to give some drug or diarrhea cure to stop the discharges from the bowel. This may be just the wrong thing, as it may retain bacteria within the intestinal tract that nature is trying to get rid of. While waiting for the physician, give water freely but no food.

TREATMENT CORRECT.

J. D. D. writes:

I had syphilis, 4-plus, a year ago. I took the injections—thirty-six in all. When I went to the physician my entire body was covered with red blotches from my toes to my head, even inside my mouth and my tongue. After the fourth injection most of the marks disappeared, but I went through the whole course. When I again visited him he ordered a new blood test, which was negative. The few patches of hair that had fallen out came back strong but gray, my teeth remained sound, and the doctor seemed well pleased with my progress. He did not give me any medicine, but told me to report back in three months, which I did, and again, after examination [no blood test this time], he told me to report back in another six months.

I cannot help worrying about my case and whether or not the doctor is letting me go too long before he orders more treatments. He is considered a very fine doctor, but I am wondering if I should not have more treatment.

1. Is he taking a chance in my case?
2. Should I have another blood test on my own account, or follow his instructions?

REPLY.

1. No. Your physician is following the correct procedures.
2. In my opinion you have cooperated unusually well. There is nothing to worry about. More injections may be required later.

BLACK WIDOW BITES.

Mrs. R. writes: What should be done for the bite of a black widow spider while awaiting the physician?

REPLY.

The wound should be thoroughly cleansed with soap and water. Aromatic spirits of ammonia may be given in small amounts, followed by a sedative. A sizable dose of bromides will be helpful. A severe general reaction may occur shortly after a person is bitten, and it is essential that the services of a physician be secured as quickly as possible.

ADDISON'S DISEASE.

J. J. E. writes: What are the symptoms of Addison's disease?

REPLY.

Great weakness, persistent fatigue, digestive disturbances, loss of weight, low blood pressure. The most conspicuous manifestation, however, is the occurrence of brown spots, especially on those portions of the skin subject to pressure, for example, the waist line if a belt is worn. Jet black freckles are common, particularly on the backs of the ears.

THE MYSTERY CHILD

From Across the Sea

[FIRST ARTICLE.]

SHANGHAI.—Corea, the ancient "Hermit Kingdom," again serves as a "bridge" enabling imperial Japan to cross over to the mainland.

Thousands of Japanese soldiers arriving on the northern Chinese front have traveled the entire distance by rail with the exception of the short 150 mile water stretch between Shimonoseki, on the southwestern tip of Honshu, main Japanese island, and Fusan, on the southeastern tip of the Corean peninsula.

How much longer the new generations of Coreans will permit their country to serve as a bridge for the transportation of Japanese legions to the continent cannot be foretold.

But Corea has always served that purpose, even back in the days of the Mongol conquest of China eight centuries ago, when the khans sent expeditions by way of the Corean peninsula to try to conquer Japan.

China's first war with Japan, 1894-'95, had its origin in disputes of the two countries over the control of Corea. The interests of the two oriental powers had long clashed as a result of attempts of both to dominate and direct the activities of the Corean royal house. Finally the Japanese seized the Corean king, defied the Chinese, and sank the Chinese battleship Kowshing, anchored in Seoul harbor, with heavy loss of life. China declared war and was defeated.

Prior to the Russian-Japanese war, 1904-'05, the Russians also tried to use the Corean peninsula as a bridge. This caused the Japanese to give Corea a new designation—"a spear pointing at Japan's heart." Japan declared war on the Russians and eliminated czarist influence from Corea, substituting their own in its place.

These struggles on Corean soil, involving Chinese, Russians, and Japanese, fastened on Corea still another appellation, wholly uncomplimentary, that of "international doormat."

In 1907 Japan forced the abdication of the last Corean emperor and three years later—1910—formally annexed the country and converted it into a colony.

Aside from a few minor flareups, little was heard about Corea in the nearly three decades of Japanese rule which have elapsed since annexation.

But now again there is news about the Coreans. Thousands of Coreans are again playing important parts on the stage of the complicated politics of China, Japan, and Russia in the far east.

Much of the smuggling of Japanese goods on this North China front is conducted by Coreans. The narcotic trade, which runs into large figures, is also largely in the hands of Coreans, who receive Japanese protection. A little over a year ago the smuggling of silver from China by Coreans had international repercussions and precipitated the Chinese decision to "go off silver" and adopt a managed currency.

FRONT YARD WEEDS.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—[Friend of the People.]—We have a very bad condition next door to us about which we would like to know what can be done to make it more endurable. A large family, consisting of father and eleven children, have no pride in the appearance of their property which they rent from the board of education. They have lived here two years without cutting the grass and this year the weeds have had such control that there is no grass. The entire open lot between the house and ours is completely covered with ragweed and is going to seed which will, of course, be carried to our lawn which we have always tried to keep nice. The weeds are also a harbor for rats, which have infested this neighborhood excessively since this family moved in, as they throw their garbage there.

J. T.

The sanitary inspector's report of the conditions on these premises resulted in the following notice being served upon the tenant: "Abate nuisance of noxious weeds. Cut and remove all weeds in accordance with weed ordinance passed on June 26, 1929." A reinspection made on Aug. 18 showed that this order had been complied with.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO SPAIN.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Your story of Sept. 4, headlined "Fail to Send Cash Collected for Spaniards," leads the innocent to believe that there have been suspicious practices on the part of the leaders of a presumably high minded and principled group. But why didn't your perspicacious news writer separate the wheat from the chaff and note that the derelict organization is one to aid Fascist Spain, and had chosen its name, American Committee for Spanish Relief, to resemble as much as possible the name of an organization to aid loyalist Spain—the North American Committee to Aid Spanish Democracy?

Seldom, indeed, has there been so pretty an example of THE TRIBUNE'S favorite practice, composing its headlines so as to mislead the unwary and misemphasize the almost entire meaning of a news dispatch. JOSEPH REUBEN.

A TAX ON BETTING.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—In the Voice of the People this morning an article, signed by "A Reader," it was suggested that bookmakers be licensed. This would not correct the present evils.

Probably 500 licenses at $1,000 a year might be paid for; that would be $500,000 income, and many would still bootleg bets.

In England they secure annually $500,000 from the licensed bookmakers.

In France they have the real solution. You register at their city hall and deposit $1 for a book issued in triplicate. One slip is given to the better, one kept by the bookmaker, and the third turned over to the city with 2½ per cent of the bet. The betters would not bet any other way. This 2½ per cent last year amounted to $14,000,000 in the city of Paris.

It is conservatively estimated that $2,000,000 per day is wagered in Chicago. Two and one-half per cent of that would be $50,000 daily. Three hundred betting days in the year would be $15,000,000 a year. What a burden this would lift from the taxpayers.

ROBERT E. CANTWELL.

PROPAGANDA.

Austin, Minn., Sept. 10.—A correspondent in this morning's TRIBUNE disapproves of government propaganda in the newspapers. I wonder where he finds it? I read three daily papers and have yet to find that any of them has anything good to say about the administration. The correspondent suggests that government propaganda be labeled. That is a good idea, if any can be found. As a counter suggestion I put forth the idea that on most mornings the left hand column of THE TRIBUNE'S front page be labeled "CHICAGO TRIBUNE Propaganda to Discredit the Administration."

T. M. BAXTER.

WE DON'T HAVE TO IMAGINE.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Can you imagine a President having to come to the people and reassure them with the statement that he does not intend to change the form of their government? C.

THEY WERE HARDY SALTS IN THOSE DAYS.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—That was a mighty fine article on "scows," by John Waring Jr., in your Sunday Graphic. Too few people realize that the fastest sailboats in the world are the "scows," "sidewalks" or "skimming dishes" [as they are variously called] of the small midwest lakes. But he made one statement that jolted this old timer. Either he was wrong or the present generation of scow skippers have turned softy.

Back in 1909, '10, and '11, when the writer was occasionally privileged to callous his hands as a member of the then world's fastest sailboat, the Mimewoc I. of Oconomowoc lake, owned and sailed by the three Bullen boys of Milwaukee, we never bothered with such things as life preservers, nor would we have added a pound of dead weight to her load, much less an anchor. As for slickers—if it was raining when we started we wore them, sometimes. Otherwise we just soaked. All we ever carried for equipment were the three P's—a painter, a paddle, and a pump—and we used the latter continuously. One rival skipper was rumored to carry a kapok cushion, but Spartan sailors frowned on such a luxury.

As for the cost of such boats—that often depended. I recall the disgusted owner who brought his leaking 38 footer in last in a race at Black lake in 1914. He offered loudly to sell her for any price to anybody, and Gordon Seagrove took him up with a $10 bill, spent the next six days caulking her hull, and came in first the following Saturday.

JOHN J. FINLAY.

THE HANDBOOK INDUSTRY.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—Here are a few statistics that might be of interest regarding handbooks: Number of people employed in Chicago directly and those catering to them, such as printers, janitors, supply people, etc., 30,000; monthly pay rolls, $4,000,000; rentals paid for occupancy per month, $350,000.

Many of the workers in the above field are partially handicapped. Physically they are not strong enough to do WPA work. There would only be the overburdened emergency relief to provide for them.

More than one property is able to pay its taxes because of the rentals paid.

Let the powers that be give this due consideration. The average American citizen is not in favor of blue laws. Evidence the repeal of the prohibition law.

JOHN LAWTON.

PITCHERS' AID SOCIETY.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Would it be possible to have ten men on a baseball team instead of nine? Just let the pitcher do nothing but pitch, then he wouldn't be so worn out before the season is half over. I never have thought that a pitcher should be allowed to bat at all—he should have a breathing spell between innings.

I don't think I can possibly revolutionize baseball but I do wish some one could think out a plan whereby a good pitcher would last through a season. It seems to me he is doing double duty.

LEGION'S MARCH ON N. Y. STARTS; CITY GETS READY

Expect 600,000 to Spend 25 Millions.

New York, Sept. 12.—(AP)—The American Legion's march on New York for its 19th annual convention was well under way tonight. Hundreds were filtering into town, a week ahead of time, with hundreds of thousands more not far off.

Bunting and banners blossomed from hundreds of buildings, waitresses in a score of restaurants already sported special caps, and throughout the world's largest city the comment was going from mouth to mouth, "The Legion is coming."

And the first of hundreds of expected trailer visitors, a man from Iowa, was firmly established in a lot in the Bronx and already was beginning to consider himself a dyed-in-the-wool New Yorker.

Expect 600,000 Now.

The total number of visitors who will come advanced from the Legion's first cautious estimate of 300,000 to 400,000 and then, tonight, up to 600,000.

Maj. Robert Condon, vice president of the Legion Convention corporation, estimated they will all spend, before the four day meeting ends Sept. 24, more than 25 million dollars.

The restaurant and bar trade estimated more than 160,000 gallons of spirits and more than 500,000 gallons of beer will be drunk.

Taxi drivers planned to work double shifts and expected to make as much as $40 a day.

A kazoo manufacturer expected to sell more than 100,000 of the musical hum-squawk instruments to celebrants.

Hotels All Reserved.

Every hotel room long since was reserved, and plans were being made to accommodate some of the overflow on ships in the harbor.

A banner firm was finishing up 100,000 Legion pennants, 25,000 Legion banners, and 3,000 Legion flags.

All police leaves of absence were canceled for convention week. All sanitation department vacations were canceled, and the department will work 24 hours a day during the convention, with 75 street flushing machines working in three eight hour shifts.

The convention committee completed arrangements to station 800 Legion members throughout the city as guides and advisers.

The convention will be called to order at 9:30 a. m. Monday, Sept. 20, in Madison Square Garden by National Commander Harry Colmery.

Shot in Both Legs When He Flees from Window

Andrew Steczo, 10430 Maryland avenue, was shot in both legs yesterday by Gin Giotto, 732 East 104th place, when he attempted to flee after being discovered near a window of the Giotto home. Giotto said Steczo was looking in. Steczo said he was using the passageway next the Giotto home as a short cut. He was held at the Bridewell hospital.

BAR COMMITTEE PROPOSES CODE OF TRIAL ETHICS

Hits Stage Appearances by Jury Members.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Vaudeville appearances by jurors and other trends tending to transform a public trial into a spectacle were rebuked sharply today by an American Bar association committee headed by Newton D. Baker, secretary of war during the world war.

The committee condemned public discussion of trials by witnesses in speeches, magazine articles or newspaper interviews; broadcasting of arguments and giving out of argumentative press bulletins by lawyers and public criticism of the court or jury by lawyers during a trial.

Lawyers on the committee expressed the opinion approval of the trial judge as well as consent of the counsel for the accused in criminal cases should be required before procurement of pictures.

A report prepared by the committee is to be presented to the American Bar association convention which begins here Sept. 27.

The report states the judicial system has become entangled in politics, and the tradition of the judiciary often fails badly when judges are chosen by popular election, and judicial tenure as well as legitimate aspirations for judicial advancement depend not upon capacity of character, but rather upon subserviency to a popular opinion which "responds to adroitness in the arts of political appeal."

The American Bar association, the American Newspaper Publishers' association, and the American Society of Newspaper Editors are represented on the committee.

New York, Sept. 12.—(AP)—A Seattle, Wash., Superior court judge's wife and the wife of a Des Moines, Ia., attorney will oppose each other for national presidency of the American Legion auxiliary. The election will be held Sept. 23.

Mrs. Malcolm Douglas of Seattle is completing her second year as chairman of the group's national committee on national defense. She has served as national vice president. Mrs. A. H. Hoffman of Des Moines has also been a national vice president of the auxiliary.

CHARITIES JOIN IN HAVE A HEART CAMPAIGN TODAY

Chicagoans will exchange coins today for heart shaped tags, the annual symbol of their solicitude for the city's needy aged and orphaned children. For the third year, after a long period of disagreement, the Federated Charities and Associated Charities will join forces. Four thousand women from both groups will work together, patrolling the streets of the city and suburbs with baskets of placards.

Mrs. John A. Shannon, president of Associated Charities, announced yesterday that before next year the two groups expect to be affiliated as one unit.

Receipts from the "Have a Heart" tags will go to 50 charitable organizations.

DESCRIBES NEW X-RAY PICTURES ON MOVIE FILMS

Aids in Study of Heart or Other Organs in Action.

Ever since William Roentgen of Germany discovered the X-ray in 1895, scientists have been seeking a practical way of making motion pictures of the internal organs of the body.

One of 200 papers to be delivered before the fifth international congress of radiology, which opens today in the Palmer house, will announce to the 2,000 assembled scientists that an X-ray motion picture camera as speedy as a movie reel is ready for general use.

This machine, called the cineradiograph, was described yesterday by Dr. Russell Reynolds of London, its inventor, while 500 foreign delegates were received at the first international radiology congress to be held in the United States.

Provides Permanent Record.

The cineradiograph makes a motion picture of the images appearing in a fluoroscope, the screen on which X-ray images are projected as the rays pass through the subject's body.

"This indirect method which eliminates the danger of overexposing the patient to X-rays, enables us to learn far more of the variation of function in either a diseased or healthy organ, such as the heart," said Dr. Russell. "It makes a permanent record of many hitherto undiscovered movements."

Cutting across political factionalism, which now is dividing the world, leading radiologists of 30 nations will pool their knowledge of the treatment and diagnosis of disease by radium and X-ray in daily sessions ending next Friday night.

Induct New President.

Tonight Dr. Arthur C. Christie of Washington, D. C., will be inducted as president of the fifth congress.

Other speakers will be Dr. Hans R. Schinz of Zurich, Switzerland, president of the fourth congress; Dr. William J. Mayo of the Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn.; Dr. Gosta Forssell of Stockholm, Sweden, president of the second congress, and Dr. Antoine Beclere of Paris, France, president of the third congress.

Presentation of reports will begin tomorrow on a great diversity of radiological research, from cancer to carbuncles. More than 100 scientific and as many commercial exhibits are on display.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Rain Freshens Pastures

Sept. 12, 1937.

PASTURES and late maturing crops were benefited by the heavy rain in the Wheaton farm neighborhood Friday. An inch of rain fell at the experimental grounds, two miles west and one mile south of Wheaton.

Meadows and pastures got the full benefit of the rain because they have been clipped and are free from weeds. This is the result of the extra effort men have made in ridding the farm of ragweeds that would otherwise have produced a heavy crop of pollen, principal cause of hay fever.

The manager said that the farm's weed control campaign this season not only contributed to lessening the ragweed pollen crop but also has been worthwhile in improving the pastures. He has observed that where ragweeds are allowed to run wild they interfere with pasturing the areas where they grow and have a tendency to smother the grass. Cutting the weeds gives the grass a chance.

It is the opinion of the men at the farm that the pastures have been greatly improved by clipping. They are sure that the clipping costs have been more than offset by the benefits.

Stock Eats Giant Weeds.

It has been observed at the farm that giant ragweeds, often called horseweeds, are palatable to live stock, especially horses, and if farm animals have access to the weeds the plants will not come to maturity. The common or small ragweed, however, is not palatable to live stock and is not kept down by animals, even in overpastured fields. Occasionally a hungry animal will nip off a few of the tender leaves of a common ragweed. Giant and common ragweeds are of the same family, but are of different species.

Grasshoppers will eat weeds. In fact, they seem to eat a great variety of plants. One of the men noticed that grasshoppers had eaten entire leaves of burdocks. He also saw where the hoppers had eaten crab apple leaves, and suspected they had eaten the leaves off vines, even the Virginia creeper. He never has noticed any of the farm animals eating leaves of the Virginia creeper vines that grow wild in the woods.

There are a few prickly lettuce plants—sometimes called milk thistle—on the farm, and the grasshoppers were found devouring the spiny leaves of these plants. Prickly lettuce is considered one of the compass plants because the leaves turn toward the sun.

War on Cockleburs.

Men were out with scythes and sickles searching the lower woods for cocklebur plants last week. They were anxious to get all of them out before the burrs ripen enough to become tangled in the tails of horses now browsing in the timber.

Overpasturing is avoided whenever possible on the farm because it has several bad consequences. Live stock will eat the seed and the leaves of seedlings, preventing growth of the desirable trees. They stamp at the bases of the trees, especially in fly time, often killing the bark and opening wounds for parasites. In the spring, especially, they browse on the tender leaves and on the bark. The animals have been found chewing the bark of the white oaks all summer. Sheep have the habit of congregating around trees, packing the soil until trees sometimes die. Tree leaves and acorns furnish valuable feed for live stock.

JOHN P. O'CONNOR, CONTRACTOR AND BUILDER, IS DEAD

Some of the buildings erected by Mr. O'Connor are the Blackstone theater, the Children's Memorial hospital, the Carson Pirie Scott & Co. wholesale house, the Mentor building, and the 7th and 8th Regiment armories. Mr. O'Connor came to Chicago from Kewanee, his birthplace, fifty-one years ago.

Surviving are his widow, Aroline, and two children, John C. O'Connor and Mrs. Mary L. May. Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow at St. Francis Xavier Catholic church, Wilmette. Burial will be in All Saints cemetery.

COL. D. C. WELD, A WORLD WAR LEADER, IS DEAD

New York, Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Col. De Witt Clinton Weld, who commanded the 105th Field Artillery in the world war, died yesterday of pneumonia after a three month illness. He was 69 years old.

Col. Weld's ingenuity and leadership led to the capture of Hill 378, a key position, and the award of the distinguished service medal. Soon afterward he was cited for his handling of units in operations north of Verdun.

On his return to the United States he received the conspicuous service cross of New York state, with three crosses and the victory medal with three bronze and two silver stars.

France awarded him the legion of honor. In January, 1920, Col. Weld was made a brigadier general.

T. W. STEVENSON FUNERAL SERVICE TO BE HELD TODAY

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Funeral services will be held here tomorrow for Thomas Worrell Stevenson, 86 years old, brother of the late Adlai E. Stevenson, former vice president of the United States. He died yesterday and was the last survivor of the six Stevenson brothers, who for a generation were prominent in business and political affairs of McLean county, Illinois, and the nation. Burial will be in a cemetery at Hudson.

Mr. Stevenson was born near Hopkinsville, Ky., Aug. 16, 1851, the son of Maj. John Stevenson, a Kentucky planter. The migration of the family to Illinois was directly due to a frost which killed the $50,000 tobacco crop on the Stevenson place in 1851.

Mrs. Carrie Verseman, 80, Dies; Funeral Wednesday

Mrs. Carrie Verseman, 80 years old, a lifelong resident of Chicago, died yesterday in the Norwegian-American hospital. Surviving are her son, Frank H. Verseman, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Burkhartsmeier, of the Burkhartsmeier cooperage family. Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday at St. Sylvester's church.

DR. C. E. JEFFERSON, CLERGYMAN, NOTED EDUCATOR, IS DEAD

New York, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Dr. Charles Edward Jefferson, Congregational clergyman, educator and author and for thirty-two years pastor of the Broadway Tabernacle church, died of heart disease today after three months' illness in Fitzwilliam Depot, N. H., friends here were notified. He was 77 years old.

Ordained in 1887, he served as pastor of the Central church in Chelsea, Mass., until going in 1898 to the Broadway Tabernacle. He retired in 1930.

Dr. Jefferson wrote many books on religious subjects and peace. Survivors include his widow, the former Belle Patterson of Cambridge, O., and a son, Charles Frederic Jefferson, a lawyer in Rochester, N. Y.

F. BORCHERDT SR. DEAD; 26 YEARS HOTEL OPERATOR

Manitowoc, Wis., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Fred C. Borcherdt Sr., for many years proprietor of Hotel Victoria here, died today in his home. He would have been 81 years old next Saturday.

Mr. Borcherdt was widely known among the traveling public. For twenty-six years he and his family conducted the Victoria. He disposed of the business in 1920 when the city purchased the building for a city hall.

He had been a TRIBUNE subscriber for nearly fifty years and for decades part of his morning routine was to read the paper undisturbed.

Politically Mr. Borcherdt was a Democrat and three times was named a delegate to the national Democratic conventions.

Survivors are three sons, Fred Jr. and William of Manitowoc and Harry A. of Milwaukee, and a daughter, Amanda, of this city.

MRS. EMMA R. FRAME OF WAUKESHA DIES; WIDOW OF BANKER

Waukesha, Wis., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Mrs. Emma R. Frame, pioneer resident here, died today in her 92d year. She was the widow of Andrew J. Frame, who at his death in 1932 was known as the dean of American bankers.

Mrs. Frame was born in Chester, Vt., the daughter of Silas and Mrs. Esther Richardson. They came to Waukesha in 1856 and Mr. Richardson became a prominent lumber man. The young Miss Richardson and Mr. Frame were married four years later. He later was president of the Waukesha National bank.

Surviving Mrs. Frame are four children, Walter K., vice president of the bank; William S., connected with the American Locomotive company, Schenectady, N. Y.; Harvey J. of Waukesha, a lawyer, and Miss Mabel Frame, also of Waukesha.

Mrs. Sarah Prentiss, 91 years old, a resident of Chicago since 1873, died yesterday at her home, 5936 Kenmore avenue. She was the widow of Benjamin C. Prentiss, civil war veteran, who became widely known in the dry goods trade.

Mrs. Prentiss was a pioneer worker in missionary activities and a former member of the Y. M. C. A. auxiliary and the West End Women's club. She was a member of the Third Presbyterian church for more than half a century. Surviving is a daughter, Mrs. Alfred B. Johnston.

WARNING!

Guard your children's Health

● Doctors and Health Officials help take the tragedy out of epidemics. And so can every mother in the land! Be sensible. Observe the ordinary precautions that doctors and health authorities tell you to take.

There are many diseases caused by germs... invisible foes of health and even life itself. You can't see them... but you can kill many of them... by putting some CN in every pailful of cleaning water you use in your house.

Every corner... every closet... every floor and every bathroom... these should all be cleaned regularly with CN. Wet down uncollected garbage with a CN solution.

And be especially careful in cleaning the floors and woodwork of your children's rooms. Children love to play on the floor. Don't tell them not to. But keep those floors safer—with CN. This simple precaution will help protect your children's and family's health.

KILLS GERMS · COMBATS ODORS · CLEANS LIKE SOAP

Assert Growing Demands Cannot Be Met.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 12.—While the current Mexican oil strike may be settled by a compromise, the situation in which American and other producers find themselves in this Fascist-Socialist economy is rapidly becoming unbearable.

For the first time in the long Mexican controversy the oil companies are united in opposing what they describe as the "insatiable" and oppressive demands of labor, and threaten with apparent sincerity to close their wells and refineries and withdraw from this field forever.

Due to the Mediterranean and far eastern conflicts, to the halt which the present shortage of gasoline here has caused in the profitable tourist trade, and to the unexpected firm attitude of the American state department, the new need for oil from these fields may bring some new concessions and an increase in wages to the already highly paid, privileged oil field workers, but their complete demands cannot be met, and it seems only a question of time when the Mexican government will have to set itself up in the oil business.

Cardenas May Intervene.

It has taken over the railroads, but these workers receive lower money wages than the oil workers.

The whole question centers on the attitude of President Lazaro Cardenas. He has intervened once to mitigate the uncompromising attitude of the oil workers' union in this strike. He may do so again in view of the financial benefits which the government derives from the oil industry and the enormous cost of setting up a government marketing and refining system. The national petroleum administration, a semi-official organization, produced last year 1,600,000 barrels of the 42,200,000 total.

At the same time the president, who appears to be in a stronger position than any other Mexican president since Diaz, has made it his guiding policy to "realize the high principles of the revolution." He calls it democracy, but it is state Socialism under a one man military dictatorship. The question in oil as in other business is how far and how fast the president will go in seeking his objectives.

Oil Industry Squeezed.

The oil industry seems to have been singled out for squeezing. For many years now, whenever any Mexican government has been in trouble it has called on the oil companies for ready cash to meet emergencies, the threat of revolution. This cash has always been forthcoming. While no revolutionary movement is in prospect now or would have any chance of success unless backed by the United States, the tax funds are still available from these efficient "foreign capitalists" whom Mexico desires in principle at least to get rid of.

On May 27 Mexican Petroleum Workers' union leaders called a general strike. They had on Nov. 3, 1936, transmitted to each of the fifteen oil companies still operating a standard collective contract. They demanded its acceptance in ten days, but a six month period was granted after Cardenas intervened. The oil companies calculated that the sum of wage increases and social and economic benefits demanded would have increased labor costs to the companies by approximately 500 per cent, or $54,000,000.

Union in Strong Position.

Positions not held by union personnel were so limited, it was stated, as virtually to turn over the management of the companies to the union. No one could be fired without consent of the union. The union was to designate types of houses to be built for the workers. The workers were to be able to demand vacations at any time, and were to receive double pay if these vacations were not granted immediately.

A commission was appointed consisting of one oil man, one union man and one government man, making a two to one vote inevitable on all points. The commission would not accept the companies' books as to their ability to meet these demands and objected to the presence of lawyers.

The decision of Aug. 5 was such that the oil companies refused to accept it. An appeal was taken and both sides prepared to submit more facts. The arbitration board members have gone to Tampico to see things for themselves, and the final decision hangs in the balance.

Report Outlines Findings.

The government's economic committee report holds:

"That the oil companies are in an excellent condition financially; that they are able to increase their payment to the workmen in wages, in pensions, in holidays, in better housing conditions, and health services up to a value of about $7,280,000 a year and that they can pay back wages and benefits up to about $2,500,000.

"That the Mexican petroleum companies form part of enormous American and English economic entities and that their interests are not the same as those of the country they work in. That they have paid salaries and taxes in Mexico but have not coöperated in the social uplift of the republic. That the real wages are lower than those in the mining industry or of railroad workers."

$1.40 Minimum Urged.

The experts recommended a 40 hour week for adults and minimum wages of $1.40 a day. A commission was to be formed to control the industry, made up of two employers, two workers, and one member from the department of labor. This would make another packed commission. Foreign experts were to train Mexicans to take their place and leave Mexico within two years. The companies were to be required to pay death benefits of $460.

The oil companies answered that the profits of the companies in 1936 were approximately $4,600,000 instead of the $21,000,000 claimed (reserves, replacements, etc., making up the difference), and that the payment of an additional 7 million would mean operation at a loss. It was further stated:

"The companies consider that they have coöperated in the social uplift of Mexico by the enormous sums paid to workmen for wages, pensions, etc.; and that they have paid approximately $131,000,000 in taxes in the last twelve years which have been of the greatest importance in the economic and social progress of the republic."

Hospital Service Cited.

The reply said also that the companies "have maintained schools for the children of the workers, to which they have admitted children of non-workers; that they have provided hospitals and medical service far in advance of that required by the labor law, and that they have provided playing fields and scholarships at the university."

The question of comparison of wage scales with the United States is answered by reference to the standards of the international labor office at Geneva, and the statement that such comparisons can never be exactly made between countries of widely different habits, traditions, and customs.

Find Labor Efficiency Varies.

"In Mexico," the companies' reply stated, "workers are guaranteed pay for 56 hours a week, although the actual time worked is limited by law to 48, and in practice seldom exceeds 44. This basis of compensation, in addition to exaggerated union action preventing summary dismissal for inefficient or slow work, has meant a low labor output per man at increasing cost to the employers.

"In brief, labor efficiency—a paramount factor in wage scales and labor costs—varies inversely with the degree of advancement of labor legislation, paradoxical as the statement may appear to many."

$20,000 LOSS IN AWNING FIRE.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Fire early today attacked the three story building housing the Illinois Awning Tent company, causing damage estimated by Fire Chief Frank Hazzard at $20,000.

UNWRITTEN LAW TO BE DEFENSE IN SLAYING OF HER SON-IN-LAW

New Castle, Pa., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Mrs. Rose Donofrio pleaded not guilty today to a charge of having slain her son-in-law.

At a hearing before Ald. W. H. Ewing, the woman's attorney, Edward Logan, said he would invoke the "unwritten law" in defending Mrs. Donofrio, 34 years old, wife of a dairy owner.

The son-in-law, James Aiello, 37, of Wampum, Pa., was shot to death Friday night.

Police Lieutenant George Kennedy said he received a call from Mrs. Donofrio shortly after the shooting. She told him:

"I killed him because he ruined my daughter. Even if I have to go to the electric chair I'm not sorry.

Teresa Donofrio, 18, eloped with Aiello in June. They were married in Cumberland, Md.

STAMMERERS

ATTENTION!

I want all Stammerers of Chicago and vicinity to know that I will be at the Hotel La Salle

Cor. La Salle and Madison Sts. Chicago

where I will be glad to meet and talk personally and privately on from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M., with all persons who wish to be freed from stammering.

Benjamin N. Bogue

I will make absolutely free of charge a complete examination and thorough diagnosis of your case, advise whether or not your trouble can be corrected; if so, the approximate length of course required, and what it will cost.

You need have no hesitancy about coming to see me—for I stammered badly myself for nearly twenty years, and the fact that you are a stammerer brings you near to me—it is the bond that unites us. I understand stammerers because I was once a stammerer myself.

When you hear me talk, I know you will not believe that I once stammered, probably worse than you do. But, from mere childhood, I was afflicted so badly I was almost speechless.

I was handicapped throughout my entire early life. The trouble grew worse with the years, and finally its severity compelled me to leave college. I could not recite when called upon, even though I knew perfectly what I desired to say. I could not secure employment because I could not ask for it without revealing my infirmity; then employers did not want me. Socially, I was impossible, because of the faces I made whenever I tried to converse.

My parents spent hundreds of dollars in attempts to correct my speech. I was sent to the various institutions and private schools in the West and in the East, which claimed to be able to cure stammering. I even tried all advertised mail order cures. But without avail. I was pronounced a "hopeless case" by one specialist after another.

After having consulted specialist after specialist, and tried cure after cure, I set about the arduous task of mastering the principles of voice and speech for myself. For years I studied under the best speech experts of that day. I knew personally all the leaders in speech correction. And I knew them intimately, and profited by their knowledge. Also, I read everything published pertaining to voice culture and speech correction. With this as my background, I finally worked out the Bogue Unit Method. By the application of the principles of the Bogue Unit Method I accomplished my own complete and permanent speech correction. Today I speak as readily, as rapidly and as fluently as anyone.

The result of this wonderful, scientific achievement soon became known far and wide. It was commented upon in the public press. It put an entirely new light upon the subject of stammering. Through the Bogue Institute, I have given to others, afflicted as I had been, the same effectual service which I rendered myself. This method, purely natural, involves the use of no drugs, no surgical or medical aids, no hypnotism. Neither can stammering be cured by mail any more than typhoid fever can be cured by mail.

As stammering is caused by the violation of the rules and principles which govern and underlie the art of speaking, the Bogue Unit Method is particularly designed to attack the cause of the trouble at its basis, for it deals with the fundamental principles of speech and rebuilds perfect speech through a course of concentrated and well directed training, on a scientifically educational basis, founded upon the psychological, physiological and phonological laws which constitute and underlie the art of speaking. Briefly, it is simply the application of educational principles to the fundamental causes of stammering. I have mastered the secrets which underlie the correction of defective speech. And I have corrected thousands of cases of stammering.

Method Highly Indorsed

The Bogue Institute for Stammerers in Indianapolis enrolls yearly hundreds of students of all ages from all parts of the world. The name "Bogue" is familiar to persons who stammer in every quarter of the civilized world.

The Bogue Unit Method is highly indorsed by thousands of graduates—former students from all parts of the world. Also, it is indorsed by the leading professional and business men of Indiana as being thoroughly scientific and wonderfully effective.

The fact that the most prominent citizens of the State give their indorsement to the Bogue Institute is conclusive proof that it is an institution of the highest character, conducted in accordance with their own high ideals of honesty, efficiency and ethics.

If you are a stammerer, anxious to be freed from your affliction, I urge you to cut out this article and investigate the Bogue Institute in order that you may learn that the Institute is worthy of your confidence.

Come and See Me

But whether you now have the opportunity to make this investigation, call and talk with me privately in my rooms at the La Salle Hotel next Tuesday. Get my personal advice regarding your case.

For thirty-six years the Bogue Institute has accumulated speech correction knowledge. It has developed ways and methods that bring quick and definite results. In our possession are facts—facts classified, analyzed, and presented to our students in the logical order which experience has proved gets results. Our students utilize the things we have learned, the knowledge we have gained, the experience we have classified, and thus they can definitely acquire the gift of Perfect Speech.

Persons are not enrolled at the Bogue Institute for the purpose of experiment, for we do not experiment on our students. They are not enrolled in order that we may study their cases, to guide us in the treatment of other cases. No student is experimented upon, here, and this fact should become apparent when I say that I have met, examined and diagnosed 27,000 cases during my life; personally and by mail I have diagnosed more than 120,000 cases, and I have corresponded with more than a quarter of a million persons who have been afflicted with this widespread speech trouble and, in which correspondence, they have told me their difficulties, their desires, hopes and ambitions.

Candidly, through careful research I have learned all the peculiarities of speech difficulty. I understand every phase of stammering. I have probably examined and dealt with more cases than any other man of the present century, or of any time. I am personally associated with many stammerers daily. I often diagnose as many as one hundred cases in a single day. Every type of stammering speech is as familiar to me as the A B C's are to the average schoolboy. I understand every condition thoroughly and I know precisely how to go about it to bring relief.

Those persons who are eligible for enrollment at the Bogue Institute, not only will be able to have applied to their cases the same methods which have corrected these other cases, but they will have the benefit of my counsel and experience.

I have spent a lifetime in study in the correction of stammering, first, as an inveterate stammerer, myself, for many years, and then, as the active director of the Bogue Institute for Stammerers since March 8, 1901.

Not only this, but the student has the guidance and helpful association of several of my highly trained associates who have been actively engaged in the correction of stammering at the Bogue Institute for years—I mean, for many, many years. You can not discount this experience which is offered at the Bogue Institute.

Bear in mind that I will not accept you as a student in the Bogue Institute unless I am certain, after a personal diagnosis, that your stammering can be entirely corrected.

At this time, however, I only ask to meet you face to face, to talk with you personally, and to give you the best of my advice.

I will give away, absolutely free of charge, a copy of my beautifully illustrated 64-page book entitled, "Don't Stammer," to each stammerer who calls on me next Tuesday, September 14, between the hours of 9 A. M. and 9 P. M. This FREE book explains facts that every stammerer should know. It is packed with vital information for the stammerer. It describes the Bogue Unit Method for the scientific correction of stammering and stuttering, the Method that has successfully been used at Bogue Institute for 36 years—since 1901.

Please remember the hours, as my engagements will render it impossible for me to meet you at any other time. After a personal conference you will go away with new hope in your heart and a brighter outlook in life than you have ever had before.

Cookery for Two May Be Really Easy

"Potato Dishes, Sweet and Irish," a booklet of interesting ways to prepare these two potatoes, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 2 cents. By mail, 3 cents in stamps. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

The woman who cooks just for two often has a bigger problem than the woman who cooks for five or six. She must find ways to take care of leftovers, she must wrinkle her brow over dividing recipes, and she is perplexed by buying and cooking food in small quantities.

She does have one advantage, however. It is a simple matter in a family of two to declare a cooking holiday and "eat out" when the cook isn't in a cooking mood! With a larger family, this isn't so easy.

Many recipes for four or six may be split to make proportions suitable for serving two persons. Others offer difficulties, splitting a single egg, for instance. This department has a small booklet, "Two Mouths to Feed" [5 cents in stamps, by mail], which is helpful, for it is packed with recipes designed for serving two persons. The first two recipes in this group come from the booklet.

Duchess Potatoes for Two.

[Using Leftovers.]

1 cup cold mashed potatoes
¼ cup cream or top milk
1 teaspoon minced parsley
1 teaspoon minced pimiento
⅛ teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons grated cheese
¼ teaspoon salt

Place the potatoes and cream in the top of a double boiler and beat until thoroughly blended. Add parsley, pimiento, paprika, and salt. Mash through a potato ricer into a small baking dish, sprinkle with grated cheese, and bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees] until browned.

White Cake.

[6 Cup Cakes.]

¼ cup butter
½ cup sugar
1 egg, separated
⅝ cup cake flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ cup milk
½ teaspoon vanilla

Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar, and beat together until very light. Add egg yolk. Sift flour, baking powder, and salt together several times, and add in alternate portions with the milk. Fold in the stiffly beaten white. Pour batter into greased cup cake or muffin pans, and bake at 350 degrees for about 30 minutes.

Griddle Cakes for Two.

[8 Cakes.]

1 cup sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
1 cup thick sour milk
2 tablespoons melted butter

Sift together flour, salt, baking powder, and soda. Add sour milk to dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Add butter, stir it in well, and place batter in a pitcher so that it may be poured onto the griddle for baking the cakes.

A cup of sweet milk and a teaspoon of baking powder may be substituted for sour milk and soda. One and a half teaspoons of baking powder would then be the total amount to use.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST
Canned Grapefruit
Griddle Cakes and Maple Sirup
Cocoa or Coffee

LUNCH
Navy Bean Soup
Rusks with Broiled Cheese-Topped Tomato Slices
Sliced Peaches and Cream
Tea or Milk

DINNER

Holy Name of Mary Society Celebrates Its Golden Jubilee

Solemn jubilee high mass, and solemn high vespers and benediction yesterday afternoon at St. Stanislas Kostka church, Noble street and Evergreen avenue, marked the golden jubilee of the founding of the Society of the Holy Name of Mary in Chicago.

The society, second branch of the Polish Roman Catholic union, was founded by the late Rev. Vincent Barznski, C. R., pioneer Polish priest. Other early settlers, all deceased, who aided Father Barznski were Peter Kiolbassa, Dr. Boleslaus Klarkowski, and Victor Bardonski.

The Rev. Sigmund Truszynski, C. R. was celebrant of high mass yesterday, and the Rev. Mieczyslas Starzynski, C. R., editor of the Polish Daily News preached the jubilee sermon. More than 1,000 members and past members received communion. A civic celebration followed in the evening at the school auditorium, Noble and Potomac avenue.

Meets Film Stars Everywhere Except on Train to Hollywood

BY ED SULLIVAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

La Junta, Colo., Sept. 12.—[Aboard the Chief, en route to Hollywood.]—I've introduced Marlene Dietrich at a ship concert on the Normandie, danced with Merle Oberon at Ciro's in London, and discovered that young Doug Fairbanks had the next compartment to mine on the Switzerland express to Zurich.

Andrea Leeds. [She impresses a star-maker.]

I've run into Ben Lyons and Bebe Daniels in Paris, met Bert Wheeler in Dublin, auctioned off high field in the ship's pool to Bob Woolsey on the Ile de France, drunk tokay wine with Jack Benny in Budapest and aperitifs with Tulio Carminatti on the banks of the Grand Canal in Venice.

I mean to say that, in every corner of the world, I've always met friends of mine from the cinema—everywhere, that is to say, except on the train to Hollywood, where it would be most logical to meet them. There's not a movie star aboard as your correspondent heads for his new assignment.

Or perhaps I'm wrong. . . . Perhaps, as with Janet Gaynor in "A Star is Born," there is some unknown youngster aboard this Santa Fe flyer, heading for the high road that stars seek out despite all the detours which attempt to frustrate them. The conductor wouldn't know, because when you check your baggage a passenger simply itemizes his handbags and trunks; makes no mention of heart and courage and ambition.

This train has carried a lot of unknown youngsters who are famous today. They have leaned restlessly against these same seat cushions, eaten in this same diner, straining impatient eyes for their first glimpse of the promised land, Hollywood.

Eleanor Powell left my first vaudeville act and trekked west on this train, her heart full of misgivings but her feet full of the rhythm that was to electrify the sound tracts. So did Katharine Hepburn and Fred Astaire and Joan Crawford and Luise Rainer. They were unknowns once upon a time, too, and perhaps back in one of the coaches is some other unknown, short in bankroll and prestige but long in ambition and gameness. A movie scenarist could do a great picture around the Chief, because it has toted a lot of heartaches and hopes and despairs across the continent, and witnessed a lot of happy endings.

Though there be no movie stars aboard, there is a star-maker in the next compartment—Pandro Berman, 32 years old, of RKO, returning from Broadway, where he delivered the first print of Katharine Hepburn's "Stage Door," which he just produced on the RKO lot. In New York, too, he looked long and expertly at "Having Wonderful Time," which he will shortly put before the cameras. It was Berman, born in Pittsburgh and schooled in New York, who persuaded Fred Astaire he would be a star when Astaire wanted to chuck the whole business in discouragement. Astaire told me the entire story once.

Fred's first brief movie experience had been gained at M-G-M in a Joan Crawford picture, a one-picture loan-out deal with RKO. His first RKO flicker was "Flying Down to Rio," which starred Gene Raymond and Dolores del Rio and featured Astaire and Ginger Rogers as second leads.

Pandro Berman. [He encouraged Fred Astaire.]

"When I saw myself on the screen," Astaire told me, "I felt terribly. I danced badly, looked awfully clumsy. Pan Berman met me at the office when I went over to ask them to rip up my contract, and he said: 'Fred, you are insane. You've got stardust sprinkled all over you.'"

Astaire thought Berman was just being nice to him, rushed off to London before the picture was released to spare himself the boos he expected. It wasn't until Berman followed him to London that Astaire realized what he had imagined was his greatest flop actually had been his most important success.

So you movie fans, now that I've given Berman's flair for star-sensing, will be interested to learn that he was powerfully impressed with the work of comparatively unknown Andrea Leeds in the filming of "Stage Door." He says to keep an eye on her. Katharine Hepburn and Ginger Rogers play the leads, and this should be RKO's biggest prestige builder and box office smash of the past five years. The play was bought for $125,000, and those of us on Broadway who wrote that George S. Kaufman had authored tripe will be cheered to learn that Berman discarded almost every line of dialogue, scissored every Kaufman character but the youngster who committed suicide.

"That was the only honest writing in the play," Berman says, and that is the part which Andrea Leeds employs as a ladder to greater things.

Hal Le Roy, the Cincinnati dancing kid, is on the train. He has a contract in his pocket from Columbia Pictures, and will take another crack at celluloid. Here is one of the nicest youngsters in the business, but things haven't broken too well for him.

The tall, freckled kid and his pretty young wife are sitting on the observation platform at the moment, taking motion picture shots of the gorgeous country we are passing through. . . . At Chicago, when we were waiting in the Dearborn station, he took a picture of our coal-black Scottie.

"If your puppy screens well," promised RKO's Berman, "I'll get him a picture contract."

Well, it won't be long now. I'll file my next column from Albuquerque, and then we'll be in Hollywood.

Good Morning!

Bing Crosby's crooning and a "sing band" of fifty musicians who don't play any instruments compose the high lights of "Double or Nothing."

This piece is a pleasing comedy with music. Nothing to get het up about, but brain-resting entertainment. The story on which musical and dancing numbers are hinged centers round a will in which an eccentric somebody who believes in humanity sets out to benefit some people who prove themselves honest.

Twenty-five pocketbooks are strategically dropped by a pair of attorneys. Each contains a one hundred dollar note and the address of the law firm. Four finders return the pocketbooks—thereby proving their honesty. For being honest they get $5,000 apiece and—if they're smart enough to double the sum—honestly—within thirty days, why, a million goes to the one who succeeds first.

The four candidates pool interests, but—aha—dirty work at the cross roads! Relatives of the deceased would break the will! Well—suppose you see the picture to learn what happens from then on?

Mr. Crosby, I may tell you, decides to double his five grand by starting a night club. This venture provides opportunity for bands to play, dancers to dance and Bingie to croon. His best song is "The Moon Gets In My Eyes."

Mary Carlisle is sweet as the hi-falutin relative who sets out to "do" Bing and loses her heart while engaged in this lamentable chicanery. William Frawley as Pederson and Andy Devine as Half Pint, two other honest pocketbook pickeruppers, do neat jobs. So, I guess, does Martha Raye—only, somehow, I just can't take to Martha.

Specialty numbers are all workmanlike and you will love the "sing band's" delightfully harmonized imitation of violins, cornets, bass viol, cellos, etc.

Mr. Crosby turns out a smooth as silk performance. Some people don't think he can act, but I think he's got it all over some folks some people think can.

Able direction and lavish mounting are added reasons why you should put "Double or Nothing" on your movie shopping list.

And O, GIRLS! Eddy Duchin's at the Chicago—in PERSON!

[As if you didn't know it!]

Suit Ensemble for School

GIRL'S COAT ENSEMBLE.

One of the loveliest of suit ensembles for the girl of school age is the "half" coat and matching skirt. And one of the prettiest versions of the mode is presented today. The skirt may be worn with any number of sweaters and blouses, and the jaunty, boxy little coat is an ideal topper for woolen and silk frocks early in the autumn. Together, the coat and skirt comprise a dashing suit.

One smart idea is to make the skirt, with its clever plaits in front and back of a plaid, and to use a harmonizing plain shade for the coat. Browns are topnotch this season, and always look well on youngsters. Greens also are popular, especially the forest shade and Kelly. Blues always are in taste and becoming, and if your daughter is the sophisticated sort who wears black well, you might fashion the skirt of black and gray plaid and create the coat in either black or gray.

Style No. 2951 is designed for sizes, 8, 10, 12, 14, and 16 years. Size 16 requires 3¾ yards of 54 inch material.

Thumb Sucking Habit May Be Easily Cured

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Yesterday, Sunday, was devoted to what is known about the possible causes of thumb sucking and various current attitudes about it. There was no room to finish the subject, so it is to be completed today.

What to do about it when the baby sucks his thumb, or the very small girl pops any one or all of her fingers into her mouth?

Well, for one thing, don't get alarmed about it, certain that it forebodes all sorts of dire things for your child. Anxiety and the tension it creates have never yet helped a mother to deal wisely with her child in habit training.

For another thing, keep in mind that everything a child does he is not going to do forever. He is constantly behaving in one way and then discarding that behavior, constantly going into phases and coming out of them.

So in the natural course of events children outgrow thumb sucking. It's really a baby habit and when a child finds he needs both his hands to do what he wants to do he's pretty sure to take his fingers out of his mouth so he can do it.

Even with a baby the habit may be of short duration. For instance, teething sometimes sets up a merely temporary habit of putting the finger in the mouth to bite or chew on.

But suppose the habit of thumb sucking in the baby persists? Then I think one should first look to the correcting of the diet, either as to quantity or the nutritional needs. With the older child a general health examination should be made as well.

With the baby who is old enough to play, toys and playthings that suit his needs or attract his attention should be provided. Letting him play alone, in a pen for instance, until he is bored would be calculated to encourage rather than stop the habit. Opportunity should also be provided for lots of vigorous activity and interesting occupation for the older child who has the habit chronically.

On the subject of devices like cardboard cuffs, mitts, and so forth, there is this to say: there may be some children with whom they are effectual and not annoying. But I am inclined to the belief that generally they create a sense of frustration and confinement that is anything but good for a child.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily instalments.

TODAY'S HAND.

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: Knowing your appreciation of unusual plays, I am sending herewith a hand that occurred in a recent team-of-four match. The contract at both tables was three no trump by South. One declarer fulfilled the contract with two overtricks, while the other went down two tricks. The 860 point swing was the deciding factor in the contest. Please comment.

"The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	1 spade	Pass	2 hearts
3 clubs	3 diamonds	Double	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

"At both tables the seven of hearts was opened, and both declarers allowed East's ten to hold the trick. At one table the heart continuation was allowed to hold. The third round was won with the ace, and now this declarer, obviously despairing of reaching the dummy for a club finesse, could see only one chance for contract, namely, to lead the club ace, in the hope that either the king would fall or that West would have to win a club continuation and, having no heart, would have to give the lead back to declarer. Since the club king was with East, this plan naturally failed. East took the lead on the second round of clubs, cashed his two good hearts, and then, having received a high diamond signal from West, led a diamond for the second setting trick.

"The successful declarer took a different view of the situation. He carefully considered the bidding. West had bid spades and diamonds. Was it not likely that if he had held a club stopper he would have doubled the final contract? And even though he might not have doubled, was it not likely that with two suits and a sure entry in the club king, he would have opened one of his own suits rather than an obvious doubleton of partner's suit? The probability was that West did not hold the club king.

"Acting on this presumption, this declarer won the second heart lead and cashed the ace-king of spades, and followed with a third round of spades. West won with the queen, but then could not avoid giving dummy an entry except at the expense of returning the singleton club. West chose to lead another spade, hoping that his partner had the club suit stopped. But dummy won with the jack and led the jack of clubs. Now, whatever East did, declarer was assured of seven club tricks; in short, the balance of the tricks.

"Yours very truly,

"J. L. B., Baltimore, Md."

I do like this hand. Of course a successful line of play depended entirely on which defender had the club king, but I concede my correspondent's point that that card probably was in the East hand. I agree that if West had held it in addition to his other strength, he might have doubled, or, at least, might have opened one of his own suits.

ASKING IN A NEW SUIT AFTER A SIGN-OFF.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

When the first asking bid has been answered by a sign-off, it has no effect on a subsequent asking bid in a new suit. The entire series of responses to any first asking bid may be used.

South	North
1 spade	3 spades
4 diamonds ?	4 spades
5 hearts ?

Five hearts is a subsequent asking bid, and North will respond to it as though it were the first asking bid, because his previous sign-off has not necessarily denied anything except possession of the diamond ace, king, void, or singleton.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: My partner opened the bidding with one no trump. Opponents did not bid. I responded with two no trump. What should partner's next bid be with:

♠ A J 7 ♥ K 10 6 4 ♦ K J 8 ♣ K Q 6?

Answer: Partner should bid three no trump.

Betrothals of 3 Chicago Girls Are Announced

BY JUDITH CASS.

ROMANCE, romance, romance, there is more of it in the air these early fall days than in the spring! Several interesting engagements were announced over the week-end, including those of Miss Muriel Picher to Charles Robert Arnold; of Miss Marian Greenlee to Detmar H. Finke; of Miss Marion Calkins to Leonard Burgweger, and of Miss Helen Crocker, daughter of a former Chicagoan, to Edgar Steuart Davis.

The guests who yesterday afternoon went to a tea given by Mrs. Oliver S. Picher at her handsome Sheridan road home in Hubbard Woods were told of the engagement of the hostess' younger daughter, Muriel, to Charles Robert Arnold. It was not entirely a surprise to pretty Doll Picher's close friends, for Bob Arnold was known to have been an ardent suitor, but the news was none the less pleasant, and Mr. Arnold was deluged with congratulations.

Bridegroom to Be at Announcement Party.

Young Mr. Arnold arrived on Saturday from Syracuse, N. Y., where he is in the newspaper business, to spend the week-end with his fiancée and her family and to be present at the announcement party. His parents are the Rev. and Mrs. Frederick S. Arnold of Auburn, N. Y. Dr. Arnold is rector of St. John's Episcopal church and undoubtedly will come to Chicago to officiate at the wedding, which is planned for the Christmas holiday season.

Miss Picher was educated at Westover and in Paris, and made her debut three years ago. Her fiancé is a graduate of Exeter and Harvard. Miss Picher's sister, Mrs. Charlotte Picher Purcell, will not be here for the wedding, for she plans to leave next month for Paris, France, to continue her studies at the Sorbonne.

Marian Greenlee's Betrothal Told in East.

From Darien, Conn., comes the engagement announcement of Miss Marian Greenlee, daughter of Mrs. Ralph Stebbins Greenlee of 70 Cedar street and Tokeneke, Darien, to Detmar H. Finke, son of Mrs. Detmar Heinrich Finke of 2 Beekman place, New York, and the late Detmar Heinrich Finke of Bremen, Germany. The announcement was made last night at a buffet supper at the Greenlees' home in Manor lane, Tokeneke.

Miss Greenlee was graduated from Sarah Lawrence college in 1934, having attended Rosemary Hall in Greenwich and a school in Paris, France, before going to college. Mr. Finke was educated abroad. He is a member of Company K, 7th regiment, New York National Guard, and is with a steamship company. He is a grandson of the late Capt. John Seymour McNeily, editor and journalist for more than half a century in Mississippi. The wedding will take place this winter in Chicago.

Reveal Marion Calkins' Troth at Cocktail Party.

At a cocktail party yesterday afternoon at their home in Hubbard Woods, Mr. and Mrs. George Burnham Calkins announced the engagement of their daughter, Marion, to Leonard Dewes Burgweger, son of Mrs. Dewes Burgweger of Winnetka and Henry Burgweger of Buffalo. The news was a surprise to most of the young couple's friends, although they have known each other for years.

The wedding is to take place Oct. 1 very quietly at home, with a small reception afterward. Miss Calkins made her debut at a tea at home in September, 1931. She is a graduate of Miss Master's school at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., and of Smith college. Her fiancé studied at Andover and Yale and is in business in Chicago. He and his bride will live on the north shore.

Of interest to the Greeley family here and to their many friends is the engagement announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Harrower

Assails Dance Tunes Based on Classical Music

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Current "clever dance arrangements" of classical airs are as "ludicrous as your lovely grandmother made up to look like a chorus girl," Dr. Nikolai Sokoloff asserted here today.

The former director of the Cleveland symphony orchestra and now federal director of music, has been attending a meeting of directors of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

Sokoloff declared classical music is definitly becoming more popular.

"Millions in this country are yerning for fine music," he said. "Our federal musicals were attended by 69,000,000 during the last 18 months."

"And people ask why the government should sponsor music," he exploded.

"They ask what music will do for a country. I ask what will literature do; what will religion do; what will intelligence do?"

Referring to memorials established in Memphis and St. Louis for the Negro, William Christopher Handy, author of the St. Louis Blues, he said:

"If they want to build monuments for men who make music for the feet rather than the soul—that is very nice. I have yet to see many memorials to Walt Whitman, Emerson or the south's own John Powell of Virginia, one of our greatest contemporary composers."

Marion Thomas Becomes Bride This Evening

The marriage of Miss Marion Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Thomas of Winnetka, to Warren Jay Crumbine Jr. will take place at 8:30 o'clock this evening at the Winnetka Congregational church. Dr. J. W. F. Davies of Waukegan, who baptized Miss Thomas, will perform the ceremony, and there will be a large reception afterward at the Thomas home.

Mrs. George W. Hines, the former Nancy Thomas, at whose wedding last June Miss Thomas' engagement was announced, will be her sister's matron of honor. Miss Barbara Hobart, Miss Eleanor Janney, Miss Audrey Olena of Garden City, N. Y., and Miss Martha Meade of Storrs, Conn., will be bridesmaids.

T. Waller Johnson of Nahant, Mass., will be Mr. Crumbine's best man, and the ushers will be Frederick B. Thomas Jr., brother of the bride; Frank Van Kirk of Janesville, Wis.; William Hoyt Jr. of Salem, Mass.; Stanton Erixon of White Plains, N. Y., and William McKnight of Evanston.

After a honeymoon in Quebec Mr. Crumbine and his bride will live in Cambridge, Mass., where he will enter the Harvard school of business administration.

State Chairman Hostess to Club Leaders Today

Actress Can't Last as Wife, Three Trials Convince Irene Rich

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Irene Rich has made a success of everything except marriage.

Back in Hollywood after a long absence, she said emphatically today that she is not looking for another husband, nor another career in the movies, but she had some qualifying "ifs" to add to those statements.

"An actress cannot be happily married," she said. "I ought to know. I've tried three times and I've finally had to admit that, as the experts say, marriage is a career in itself. I haven't got it in me to manage two careers—marriage and acting."

Miss Rich, mother of one daughter of 20 and another whose age she doesn't give—for fear, she says, of embarrassing the daughter—left here after the breakup of her third marriage, five years ago. Although still a movie name, she turned her back on Hollywood.

Miss Rich is back here because her sponsor thinks a program originating in Hollywood has more class and color. And now that she's here the movie offers have started and she thinks she might as well resume her movie career.

Children Star in Horse Show at Dunham Club

BY BETTY BROWNING.

The sixth annual horse show yesterday at Wayne was the most successful in the history of the Dunham Woods Riding club from the standpoint of both the number of entries and the size of the crowd. More than 2,000 spectators watched.

During luncheon between morning and afternoon events the clubhouse and coachhouse were filled to capacity and other parties picknicked on the lawn. Among the picknickers were the junior Louis F. Swifts, who brought a party of friends from Wheaton. In the afternoon Mrs. Swift won first place in the road hacks' class on her bay mare, Kelsihia.

Noteworthy was the number of fine young riders, many from Chicago and the north shore. Patricia Orth Jones of Wheaton and her sister, Peggy, placed first and second, respectively, in the child's mount class for children under 13. Miss Nancy Jones won first place in the class for three gaited saddle horses, and Miss Betty Mead was second.

The five McGuire sisters from the South Shore Country club, who distinguished themselves in several of the shows earlier in the season, scored again yesterday. Miss Betty McGuire won first place in the novice jumpers' class, and Miss Mary McGuire placed third in the class for ladies' three gaited saddle horses, and third in the open class for three gaited saddle horses. Miss Josephine McGuire was third in the Chicago Equestrian association's horsemanship class trophy for boys and girls aged 12 to 17. First place in this class was won by Douglas Robb, whose father manages Dr. Paul Magnuson's stables.

Miss Janet Skillen of Evanston was another young rider who scored in several classes, and so did Mr. and Mrs. Hill Blackett of Winnetka and Hill Blackett Jr. The Blacketts placed first in the family class and Mr. Blackett and his son were first in the parent and child class.

One of the hits of the show was little Barbara McClure, 5 years old, the youngest rider to enter, who rode with her parents, the Nathan D. McClures of Geneva, and her brother, Nathan McClure Jr., in the family class. The McClures placed fourth.

Mrs. Orton Jones and her two daughters were second, and the John L. Doles and their sons, Peter and John Jr., were third.

Among others who placed in the show were Raymond O. Mitchell, the chairman; Chauncey Blair, Miss Lucille Lorber, Miss Barbara Hess, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hess' debutante daughter; Wallace Wakem, Jesse F. Burt, Arthur Farwell, Charles Finlay, and Miss Beth Davis.

Front Views and Profiles

THE expression that has replaced necking, "to fling woo," was mentioned in this department, and two young Cornell graduates rise to say that the expression originated with the class of '36, Cornell. The whole expression is: "Put down your glass, and we'll go and fling woo." It is used by some amateur skippers on Lake Michigan too, who on a fine moonlight night have been heard to say, "O, what a night for a woo."

AN L rider [Max Karant] has for many years listened to guards, from behemoth to pipsqueak, bellow rudely into the car as the train approached Howard street on its Evanston run, "Howard! Tickets and fares ready! Howard street!" It always seems brutal after a hard day's work to be shouted at in so peremptory a manner. However, he had grown fairly indifferent to it after many years of riding from his office in the loop to his home in Evanston. Or he thought he had, until on a recent evening he was dozing wearily over his reading when he heard a soothing voice say as the train left the Jarvis street station, "The next stop will be Howard street. Kindly have your fares or tickets ready—if you please." He felt better all evening, he said; noticed the guard's number in his gratitude—No. 1854.

A CHICAGO concert manager, Harry Zelzer, accompanied Tito Schipa to New York, whence the singer sailed to Italy, after his great performance before thousands of listeners in Grant park. It was while they were in Schipa's New York hotel suite that Zelzer, in another room in the suite, suddenly heard the great Italian tenor singing "Happy Birthday to You" in English. Upon investigation he found the singer vocalizing through the telephone. He was singing—via trans-Atlantic telephone, to his little daughter Ileana, who was celebrating her birthday at the Schipa villa just outside of Rome.

WONDER if that legend is really true — that Anton Dvorak, the great Czech composer, wrote "Humoresque" in Spillville, Ia. According to Rudolph Reuter, not only this but other works were written or partly written during summers Dvorak spent in that region of Iowa, said to be hilly, quaint, and for the most part inhabited by those of Bohemian blood. Mr. Reuter says that in Spillville to this day one can suppose oneself to be in middle Europe, for the architecture of the houses, churches, and shops gives a perfect illusion, and that many of the typically Bohemian scarfs, wood carvings, and pieces of needlework one sees in shops everywhere are manufactured in Spillville. It seems that contrabass [bull fiddle] players are likely to be Czechs. Dvorak's closest friend was the contrabass player with the New York Philharmonic and used to go with him to Spillville for summer stays. There are seven or eight contrabass players who are Czechoslovakian among the ten in the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

Fashion Turns to Velvet and Scotch Plaids

BY RHEA SEEGER.

It's going to be a race between Scotch plaid and velvet this year. Smart daytime clothes feature heart warming plaid wools from authentic Scotch tartans for small schoolgirls to rather spectacular suits for the adults.

And judging from current showings, living in velvet or on velvet is no idle phrase these days. Velvet gloves, velvet lapels and collars on tweed or wool suits, velvet blouses, velvet suits, velvet costumes in two and three pieces and lavishly bevelveted gowns for evening wear.

Black is first, with clear, strong, jewellike colors coming along in second place. Another exciting new combine is taffeta teamed with velvet. And filmy lace is banded or otherwise weighted with shirred trimming of velvet.

The biggest surprise is stunning knitted outfits trimmed with velvet. Accessories of velvet—bags, hats, gloves and belts—are giving the costume accents in suede a good race for popularity. And luscious shades of crush resistant velvet are going strong!

Fabulously beautiful silks are high fashion. Beautiful moires, metallics, heavy failles and stiff old fashioned silks have stunning brocaded designs for daring contrast.

Old gold, dull green, copper and russet hennas are favorites after black. Thin metallics fashion regal cocktail dresses, the kind with short, very full and swirling skirts, fitted bodices and short sleeves. These are to be worn with short coats of contrasting velvet now, and later with short fur jackets.

"Find This Girl"

SYNOPSIS.

Bessie Mercaud, a nurse, is acquitted of the charge of administering a fatal dose of medinal to an elderly patient. After the trial, as Bessie Mathews, she is given a job by Gwynneth Bentley, caring for Gwynneth's invalid husband. Gwynneth plans to kill her husband and plant the blame on Bessie so that she can marry her lover, Roy Gleason. Medinal tablets are placed in Bessie's charge. Gwynneth hides a valuable jeweled dagger, then puts the ground medinal tablets in her husband's food. She then gives Bessie the day off. In London Bessie meets her friend, Jim Watkin, who has learned of the crime. He hides Bessie in his apartment. To his friend, Inspector Rason, Jim introduces Bessie as his sister. Jim gets Roy Gleason to admit that he and Gwynneth attended Bessie's trial. Rason becomes suspicious. Hiding Bessie in a caravan, Jim visits Gwynneth for clews. A trowel in her hands gives him a hunch that the dagger is buried in the garden. He warns her the garden will be dug up, then sets a private detective to watch. Gwynneth sees through his plan. She trails him to Bessie.

INSTALMENT XXXI.

GWYNNETH'S PRISONER.

The woman who had beguiled her with false friendship, who had given lying evidence to the police. The woman who had murdered her own husband.

"Go away!" gasped Bessie.

Gwynneth opened the door, stepped inside and gripped the girl by the wrist.

"If I go away I go straight to the police." She shook her roughly. "I've no time for hysterical tantrums. Pull yourself together and come with me this minute. I'm not going to drag you. I'll give you thirty seconds to make up your mind whether you will come."

The first wild panic had passed and Bessie, still puzzled to the depths of her being, attempted to face the practical significance of Gwynneth Bentley's presence.

"Where are you going to take me?"

Gwynneth looked long into the girl's eyes, a half-smile about her lips.

"That's my affair, dear. I shall take you—wherever I want to take you. Perhaps I shall decide to take you to the police—and give evidence that James Watkin has been hiding you." As the girl winced she went on: "Perhaps I shall decide otherwise. It depends how you behave. If I were in your position I think I would behave as nicely as possible. . . . Are you coming?"

Bessie was clear-headed enough now to realize her own helplessness.

"Very well," she said with sudden calm. "But I must leave a note." She picked up a pencil.

Gwynneth introduced Mrs. Kent.

hand and dropped it on the floor. "You will leave no message, dear. You will come exactly as you are."

She signed to Bessie to pass out in front of her. Feeling already a prisoner, robbed of control of her simplest actions, Bessie was compelled to obey. She kept silent while Gwynneth drove through the town and out on the northern side. As they cleared the traffic area she tried again.

"Mrs. Bentley, you've got to tell me what you mean to do."

Gwynneth slowed and stopped. Fifty yards ahead was a crossroads with a policeman on duty.

With leisurely movements Gwynneth removed the glove from her right hand. She turned toward Bessie and, still without hurry, administered a stinging smack on the girl's face.

"How dare you!" gasped Bessie, angry and humiliated.

"There's a policeman just ahead. If you don't like it you can get out and complain to him. And if you don't mean to get out and complain to the policeman, don't try to tell me what I've got to do."

The blow had been a light one, the pain negligible. But it was an outrage upon her fierce sense of personal dignity. She sprang up, ready to rush out and surrender to the police rather than face unbearable physical insult.

"It would amuse me to think of James Watkin in penal servitude," remarked Gwynneth.

Bessie subsided, the fight gone out of her.

There came a low, rippling laugh from Gwynneth as she let in the clutch. The town was hardly twenty miles behind them when she stopped at an hotel for lunch.

That lunch was perhaps the greatest ordeal of Bessie's life. She felt as if every mouthful would choke her, yet she had to eat normally; for Jim had warned her of the special danger of attracting attention to herself in any public place.

Gwynneth was well aware of this and compelled her as well to keep up a light, cheerful conversation. It added to the nightmare quality of the experience that Gwynneth began to chatter about India, telling her the same stories she had told at their first meeting at Little Pendlesham. Every now and again Bessie would see her once more as the woman of rare charm.

Then she would think of Alfred Bentley sprawling dead in his chair.

"You behaved very nicely, my dear," said Gwynneth as they got back into the car, and then further staggered Bessie by adding: "There's no reason why we shouldn't be friends."

In an hour they were running into country familiar to Bessie. Five miles out of Suddington Gwynneth turned into a lane.

"You are my niece, Maud Jenner, the daughter of my brother, and you've lived since girlhood in the Malay States."

"But——"

"Maud Jenner," repeated Gwynneth. "And your luggage is being sent on. Your landlady is an old family servant of ours. She lives rent free in the cottage, which is mine. Alfred gave it to me. She is stone-deaf and will ask no questions. When you speak to her, you have to whisper with the light on your face so that she can read your lips. She is expecting you and there'll be no need for explanations. Here we are."

Rose Cottage stood on its own plot. It was modern and convenient and had a pleasant little garden. Gwynneth introduced Mrs. Kent, who in the harsh voice of the deaf greeted Bessie appropriately and showed her to the better of the two bedrooms.

When Bessie came downstairs, more puzzled than ever, Gwynneth was waiting for her in the little parlor.

"We can talk here," she said. "And as I think we understand each other we can probably come to terms."

At last Bessie was to learn the reason for what amounted to her abduction. Gwynneth held a trump card in her threat to involve Jim Watkin, but Bessie knew that she must be holding it for a purpose, and that nothing would be gained by being too humble.

"I don't know what you mean by terms," she said stiffly. "But if you smack my face again, Jim Watkin will have to take his chance with me."

"That was nothing, my dear," said Gwynneth coolly. "I told you we could be friends."

"Then you're wrong," retorted Bessie hotly. "You gave false evidence against me. Why am I in this position now? Because you have made the police believe that I am guilty of your crime."

"My crime! How perfectly ridiculous! Are you really under the impression that I killed my own husband?"

Bessie made a gesture of impatience.

"You think I'm an awful fool because I used to believe everything you said. But I don't now. Are you going on to tell me that you didn't have my luggage sent to Waterloo as if I were running away—that you didn't try to lure me back to be arrested——"

"Keep it up, darling! And I lied about the medinal tablets. In fact, I did everything in my power to get you hanged, didn't I!"

"If you admit as much as that——"

"I can afford to admit a bit more—that I made a ghastly mistake and I am ready to put it right if you'll let me do it in my own way."

"Put it right!" echoed Bessie contemptuously. "Do you think anything you say will make me believe that you would give yourself up for murder?"

"O, that murder stuff!" Again came the scornful ripple of laughter. "That's just Jim Watkin's madness. My dear girl, Alfred killed himself."

GASOLINE ALLEY—AIR CONDITIONED

Imperfections in Beauty No Real Handicap

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

One reads in a current monthly, devoted to the themes of lure and charm, an analysis of modern beauty as it sometimes is offered in the ten best exponents, or the so-called ten best. In said article certain of these named topnotchers in the decorative field are analyzed a bit cruelly, with stress laid on features that are completely off-score according to oldtime tests when you measured so-and-so, were colored so-and-so, and looked so-and-so.

It might be a depressing tale to read of the owner of much flaunted beauty name as really registering too thick ankles; another with too long a nose; a third with eyes too closely set. Or, as in one instance of a much publicized beauty, where the flaw appears as no less than puffiness under the eyes.

Indeed, it might be a depressing tale, except we can't see it that way. We see a very bright side to the revelation of flaws and shortcomings: The fact that they can be surmounted is something very, very important in the modern beauty plan. That you can be a stunner though your nose be long; that you can be off the tape measurements of the Venus mold by inches, and still be a "best dressed" individual. That your ankles may be no models for stocking ads needn't bar you, either, from fame of sorts as a knockout. Over and above everything else in this glorious beauty age of ours ride personality, charm, and cleverness. And if you have these you run just as good a chance as the next person to get your name listed among the tops in decorativeness.

Of course, if you have money and social claims you are more likely to be nominated to fame in the press, it's true. But if you haven't you can still cut a wide swath in your own world, which, after all, is what matters to you.

If you respond to the cleverness in the trio of "must haves" mentioned above, naturally you'll leave no stone unturned to perfect what you have. But if you can go so far and no farther with features you can still develop charm, develop a style peculiarly your own, and a manner that sets you apart.

How your hands may tell the story of your health is told by Antoinette Donnelly in her booklet, "Handmade Hand Beauty." Read this interesting, instructive booklet on the care of the hands. On sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 5 cents. Postpaid, 7 cents.

Infants' Aid Meets Today.

The first open meeting of Infants' Aid this season will be held at 2 o'clock today at the Palmer house. Eva Horadesky will sing, accompanied by Esther Hirschberg.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Years ago one of the greatest of the French perfumers created a scent that he at least felt expressed all the clear, dancing green brilliance of the emerald. He gave it that name.

Maybe you know it. It's been a standby for a long time. A perfectly delightful fragrance, too—a little bit ferny, it always seemed to us, but still not so light as to be characterless. It's a perfect perfume choice for some weather. On the stickiest, most humid days it retains its top of cool freshness.

It's news at the moment because a whole bath line has now been created in its sparkling scent. If you like the perfume, and we don't know any woman who doesn't, you can now scent everything that touches your skin with it. There are lovely bath salts, quite inexpensive; a cologne, toilet water, dusting powder, sachets, even soaps, all whispering its fragrance now.

More and more women are becoming aware of the joys of having everything in a matching scent. It's the trick of making the most of perfume uses. A little cologne or toilet water in the shampoo rinse water; a bag of sachet in the pocketbook; salts or crystals that perfume the water of the bath and clever use of the perfume itself insure your being beautifully, artfully scented always.

You'll be interested in this array of bath trimmings in the popular perfume. They're as luxurious as any you find anywhere but they're blessedly inexpensive. You'll find them in all the shops. ELEANOR NANGLE.

of Fitchburg, Mass., and North Haven, Me., of their daughter, Miss Helen Tufts Crocker, to Edgar Steuart Davis, son of Edmond Steuart Davis of South Hampton, N. Y. Mrs. Harrower was Miss Harriet Greeley. Her uncle, Morris L. Greeley, still lives in Winnetka.

Miss Crocker is a graduate of Milton academy, and young Mr. Davis is a graduate of Groton school. He attended Harvard university and now is in the airplane business in West Trenton, N. J.

We learned on Saturday from Mrs. John Stuart that the engagement to be married of her and Mr. Stuart's son, John Jr., to Miss Audrey Power of England, had been broken before the young Englishwoman returned to her home in mid-summer after a visit with the Stuarts on the north shore and in Charlevoix, Mich., where they have a summer home. The engagement was announced soon after Miss Power arrived in June.

Young Mr. Stuart's marriage to Miss Nancy Adele Whiting, younger of Mrs. A. Harris Whiting's two daughters—the elder is Mrs. Edward H. Hagey—last Friday night in Crown Point surprised every one, even their parents. The young couple spent the week-end with the senior Stuarts in Hubbard Woods. Their plans are indefinite, but it is certain that they will live in or near Chicago, for this is his business headquarters now instead of London.

Although her name had not been included on the debutante list, Miss Whiting had planned to make her début this winter, Mrs. Stuart said. Mrs. Whiting and her family have a summer home at Charlevoix, also.

Chicago Board of N. U. Settlement Meets Today.

The first meeting of the winter of the Chicago board of the Northwestern University settlement will be held today at 12:30 o'clock at Mrs. Frank A. Miller's, 1420 Lake Shore drive. Plans will be completed for the rummage sale the board will conduct next month for the benefit of the settlement.

Mrs. Avery Brundage, president, who is just back from a trip to Poland and Germany, will preside. There will be an atmosphere of sorrow at the meeting because of the board's recent loss, through death, of the treasurer, Mrs. Morris McGrath.

Mrs. Charles H. Hamill is giving a small dinner party tonight at Jacques' for her debutante granddaughter, Miss Ellen Bull, daughter of the Richard Sutton Bulls of Winnetka. After dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Hamill will take their young guests to see play in the loop. Miss Bull will make her début at a tea dance at the Indian Hill club on Wednesday. She will leave Sept. 23 for Bradford junior college.

Another debutante party today will be a luncheon Miss Eleanor Roberts will give at the Onwentsia for her niece, Miss Gertrude Smith, debutante daughter of the Walter Garritt Smiths of Evanston.

Quilt Is One of First Elaborate Patterns Made

Wild Flower Wreath.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Wild Flower Wreath" is one of the old patterns which first were appliqued when women were just beginning to make more elaborate designs rather than sticking to the fundamental floral and leaf arrangements. The flowers of this block are set together petal by petal, and the leaves are cut in one piece. Green, yellow, blue, and white form the color combination used in these 15 inch applique squares. The blocks are set together with two inch bands of white, and surrounded by a three inch white border.

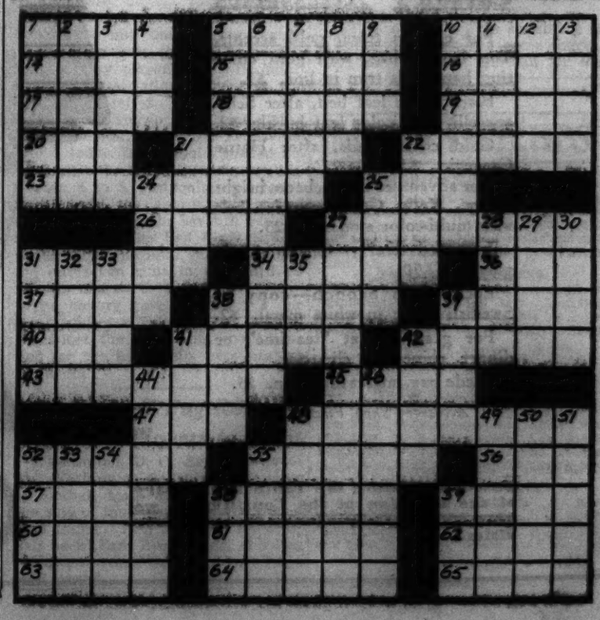
SATURDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



the basic dress

Here's Carson's Definition:

"A Dress That Is All Line and No Detail"

It must be fashioned of smart fabric, it must fit to perfection—for its whole beauty lies in the silhouette it creates. For accent interest, it depends entirely upon accessories.

The basic dress at the left is fashioned of a heavy sheer crepe that drapes beautifully. Shirring on the shoulders and at the waistline is the source of skillfully distributed fullness. Black only. 36 to 44; 16½ to 24½. $29.95.

Women's Better Dresses, Fourth Floor.

Shadow-box crepe fashions the basic dress shown below. The V-neckline lends itself to every accessory whim, and the belt may alternate with any you choose. In black or brown. 12 to 20. $25.

Misses' Better Dresses, Fourth Floor.

A Smart Following in Carson's Accessories

For chic in town, gold accents. Top handle bag, with gold color ring handle, is trim in line. $3.

Black suede leaf belt, after Schiaparelli, gold color leaf buckle. $2.

For adventure or luncheon, bright colors. Kelly Green corselet belt with multi-color stones. $2.25.

Imported Kelly Green suede gloves. $2.50.

CARDINALS WHIP PACKERS, 14-7, ON SMITH'S DASH

HINKLE SAVES PRO CHAMPIONS FROM SHUTOUT

Green Bay Leads in First Downs.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Green Bay, Wis., Sept. 12.—A Chicago Cardinal football team free from injury for the first time in two years made an auspicious start in the National Professional league today, by defeating the champion Green Bay Packers, 14 to 7, before 10,000 in Municipal stadium.

George Grosvenor.

A touchdown by George Grosvenor, after a 68 yard march early in the first period, and another in the third quarter by Bill Smith enabled the Cardinals to continue their dominance over the champions, stretching to six their victories against Green Bay in the last nine games between the two western division rivals.

Packers Waste Yardage.

Green Bay, duplicating its performance in the All-Star game ten days ago, when it led in every statistical comparison except scoring, was able to make only one touchdown, despite 14 first downs to 5 and 274 yards to 141. It came in the second on a 66 yard march which carried to the 27 yard line against a second team and over the goal line against the Cardinal regulars. Full Back Clark Hinkle scored from the four yard line.

Playing without Arnie Herber and Bob Monnett, its outstanding passers both of whom suffered shoulder injuries in the All-Star game, Green Bay was shorn of its offensive weapon, an aerial attack. Joe Laws, Herb Banet, a rookie from Manchester college, and the veteran Hank Bruder attempted to fill in for Herber and Monnett, but completed only three of 17 passes for a total gain of 20 yards. The Cardinals intercepted five of these passes, breaking up three scoring threats by this means.

Cards Start Strong.

Doug Russell and Grosvenor led the Cardinal offensive, which in the first few minutes appeared unbeatable, but later lapsed into raggedness and cracked up before the Packers' inspired defense. Three times Cardinal backs fumbled at critical moments and each time Lou Gordon, an old teammate, recovered for Green Bay. One of these fumbles and a recovery by Gordon, started the Packers' touchdown march.

New men had prominent places in both lineups, but it was the veterans who swung the tide of battle. Tony Blazine and Smith formed the bulwark in the Cardinal line, behind which Grosvenor and Russell swept wide and cut back for sizeable gains until the Packers, aroused by the first touchdown, braced and took charge of the game. Gordon, George Svendsen, at center, and Milt Gantenbein, at end, were outstanding in the Packer line.

Hinkle Goes Across.

Early in the first quarter, with the ball on the Cardinals' 43 yard line, Bruder attempted a pass to Becker, but Grosvenor intercepted on his 32. Five plays, with Pangle, Grosvenor, and Russell dividing the duties, carried the ball to the 15 yard line. Grosvenor got only three yards inside Green Bay's left tackle, but on the next play faked a pass to Russell, then dashed 12 yards for a touchdown. Bill Smith added the point from placement.

REVOLTA LEADS FIELD IN STATE P. G. A. TOURNEY

Shoots Subpar 69; Final 36 Holes Today.

Revolta led a field of 56 after the first 18 holes, shooting a subpar 34—35—69, three under par. Tied for second were Bob Stupple of Skokie, 34—36—70, and Gunnar Nelson, Rockford, 38—32—70. Nelson's 32 on the back nine was the best score of the day on that section.

Metz Is Third.

Dick Metz of the Mill Road Farm, with 36—35—71, is temporarily alone in third place, while Ky Laffoon of Northmoor and Charles Penna, Medinah, follow in fourth with 35—37—72. Following, but still within striking distance, are Jock Hutchison Sr., Glen View; Eddie Williams, Elgin, and Frank Walsh, Bryn Mawr, the title holder in 1935, all with 73s.

Jim Foulis, Ruth Lake; Alex Stuple, Exmoor; Dave Tosh, Sunset Ridge; Lew Waldron, Mohawk, and Harold Beer, Oak Park, are tied with 74s. The final 36 holes will be played today.

Tie in Best Ball Event.

The preliminary tuning up, in the form of a pro-amateur best ball event, drew a field of 40, the amateurs all coming from the St. Charles club. Bob Stupple and Peter Titchinger and Alex Stupple and E. T. Gurry with 68s, divided first and second, while third was divided between four teams—Jim Carberry and Frank Cevela, Eddie Williams and E. T. Pike, Bill Gordon and S. L. Erickson, and Louis Strong and Harold Wilhelm, all of whom had 70s. Leading scores:

HARRY MOTZER, OLD TIME BALL PLAYER, 69, DIES

Harry Motzer, old time baseball player with the Chicago White Stockings, died of a cerebral hemorrhage at his home, 2639 North Maplewood avenue, last night. He was 69 years old.

Mr. Motzer played in the outfield and pitched. Among his teammates were Chick Pedroes, Monty Kurtz, Doc Harland, Gibber Flynn, Chick Frazier, Mike Bender, and Sidney B. Meyer, the last named now a lawyer.

Motzer played baseball until about 1908, when he went into the paint manufacturing business, retiring a few years ago. He is survived by his widow, Cathelene, and three children, Mrs. Edward Meltreger and Harvey and Chester Motzer.

Bears Rout Des Moines Eleven, 39-0

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—The Chicago Bears, National Professional Football league representatives, rumbled through and over the Des Moines Comets for a 39 to 0 victory this afternoon.

Beattie Feathers and Rookie Sam Francis, former Nebraska full back, were the chief factors in the Bears' offensive. Feathers and Francis collaborated in the 19-point first period assault. On the first play from scrimmage Francis bolted through left tackle, and aided by perfect interference, raced 65 yards to the 5 yard line before he was brought down by Bob Van Deveer, Comet back. From there Feathers plunged over for the first touchdown.

A minute later Francis repeated his off tackle charge and raced 55 yards to score. Feathers' pass to Ed Manske brought the third and final touchdown of the period. Manders kicked the extra point from placement after having missed on his first two tries.

The Bears resumed scoring in the third quarter with a 47 yard jaunt by Feathers, putting the ball on the 3 yard line, from where he went over. Francis kicked the extra point. In the same quarter George Corbett pitched a 28 yard pass to George Wilson and the latter romped 10 yards to score.

The final Bear touchdown came early in the fourth period when Bull Doehring threw a touchdown pass to Ray Nolting, who ran 20 yards to score. Nolting kicked the extra point.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Skinny Tommy Bridges, a mite sore about a thumping the Sox gave him a week ago, was ruthless in his treatment of the wilted White Sox yesterday as he presided at the 4 to 0 Tiger victory over the Chicagoans. Tommy allowed three hits, two of them infield scratches in the first inning, and the other a single by Dixie Walker with two out in the third, which gave the losers their last look at first base.

Not one of the Tiger outfielders accepted a chance until Gerry Walker caught Luke Sewell's foul in the eighth. Jo Jo White accomplished the only other outfield out when he got under Kreevich's short fly in the ninth.

Tommy's Pretty Good.

In view of Bridges' known skill, it would not be proper to suggest that the Sox continued in the swoon that enabled the Tigers to take a double-header Saturday. The Chicago boys, who had done some budgeting on the basis of second place dough, seemed a bit dazed throughout, but let's just make out that it was Bridges' skill and let it go at that.

The outcome gave the Tigers a 14 to 8 edge in the complete season series with the White Sox, by far the worst ratio against the Sox. The Tigers came to town only a game ahead of the Sox in second place, and left with a span of four games. The three game plastering the Sox underwent reduced their lead over the fourth place Boston Red Sox, tneir next foes, to only three games.

This May Be a Record.

The first half of the first inning presented something rare if not unprecedented in major league base running, the spectacle of two runners trapped between third and home after a double off the scoreboard. White walked and stopped at second on Fox's hit to Conners. Gehringer sent a long fly to right center and White and Fox held up in the vicinity of second base to see whether Dixie Walker could make the catch.

When the shot banged against the scoreboard White and Fox started running, almost in lock step. When the pair rounded third Dixie Walker had the ball on the way to Sewell, and when White, the pacemaker, saw the

Three Racing Upsets Shock Fans and Their Bankrolls

BY FRENCH LANE.

At a late hour last night it was impossible to obtain an estimate of the damage done by the great slaughter which had taken place on American race tracks 24 hours earlier. The toll, however, in maimed, wounded, killed in action, and missing in action, was terrific.

Greatest losses were reported on the Hawthorne front where a crowd of 18,000 looked on unprotestingly while Sahri II., a 32 to 1 shot [no one can now explain these odds] ran away with the Hawthorne Gold cup.

Almost as many fatalities were reported on the New England front at Narragansett Park. Here, piled on every side, were victims of the unexpected trouncing handed to Seabiscuit in the Narragansett $25,000 special. Later reports may yet prove this Narragansett battle to be more devastating than those in other parts of the country.

Another Defeat at Aqueduct.

The third crushing defeat took place at the Aqueduct track in New York.

There, with machine gun precision, other thousands were mowed down in the Junior Champion stakes when Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' colt Tiger, supposedly the best 2 year old in the country, finished last.

There are some 7,500 excuses on record, made on various occasions why a horse was beaten. These alibis usually are made to the horse's owner by the trainer or jocky.

Excuses Don't Apply.

But none of these seem to apply to the defeats of the favorites Infantry and Marica in the Hawthorne gold cup, the beating of Seabiscuit in New England and the trimming Tiger took in New York.

It simply appears to be a case of these horses not being able to run fast enough last Saturday afternoon.

The most colorful of these upsets, of course, came at Hawthorne. After a close study of past performances Chicago racegoers yesterday were willing to admit they were just dumb in allowing the South American bred mare to go to the post at odds of 32 to 1.

These were the longest odds against her in any of her seven starts made in the United States. These odds are all the more amazing because she has been victorious in four of the seven starts, was second once, third once and only once out of the money.

Get 8 to 1 in First Start.

The Californians who imported the 6 year old mare from Chile thought they were getting a huge price when they collected at 8 to 1 on her in her first start at Aqueduct in New York, June 25. She was at 7 to 2 when she won her next race in this country. Then came her first defeat. The odds against her on that occasion were 9 to 10. Then came a victory at odds of 7 to 5 at Suffolk Downs.

She was at only 6 to 1 when she ran unplaced in New England with Seabiscuit in the race. She was an 11 to 10 favorite in a stake race at Narragansett, won by Hal Price Headley's fine mare Sparta.

Fewer More Cleverly Handled.

Fewer horses ever have been more cleverly handled in this country than this South American mare. She drops in at a track unheralded and unsung, runs a great race, then is on her way to a fresh scene for her activities. Her campaign already has carried her from New York to Delaware, to Boston, to Rhode Island and now to Chicago.

Her owner, Lawrence Barker, grandson of the founder of the Los Angeles department store of that name, says she will be heading for California. But who can tell?

Mr. Barker says he did not wager to any extent on Sahri II. in the Gold Cup.

However, a well dressed Chilean did put in a profitable afternoon at Hawthorne.

He dropped around at the cashier's window after the race and collected $9,720 for a $300 wager which he had made on her.

"No speak English," he replied when asked if he was connected with the stable.

Giants Defeat Boston, 3 to 1, Then Lose, 6-4

Boston, Mass., Sept. 12.—(AP)—The New York Giants could do no better than split with the fifth place Boston Bees today, but they maintained their game and a half margin over the second place Chicago Cubs, who divided with Pittsburgh.

Cliff Melton, Giants' rookie southpaw, whipped the Bees for the fourth time this season in the opener, 3 to 1. Jim Turner then came back in the second game to set down the New Yorkers for the third time this year, 6 to 4. Although he failed to finish, Turner received credit for the victory, his 17th against 9 defeats.

COLUMBUS WINS FINAL GAME TO TAKE A. A. FLAG

Columbus, O., Sept. 12.—(AP)—The Columbus Red Birds won the American association pennant today in one of the most closely fought stretch drives in the thirty-six year history of the league and immediately turned their thoughts to the second annual Shaughnessy playoff that will determine the association entrant in the little world series.

While the Toledo Mud Hens, flying grimly behind, nosed out Louisville, 5 to 4, today, Indianapolis shaded Columbus in the first game of a double-header, 6 to 5, postponing the race's finish until the abbreviated second contest, called in the seventh because of darkness. The Red Birds left no doubt about the final game, hammering out seven runs in the third inning to win, 12 to 4.

The victory gave Columbus a one game lead over Toledo. Had the Red Birds lost, the two teams would have tied for the leadership, necessitating a playoff.

Remain 1½ Games Back of Giants.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 12.—The Cubs labored through eighteen innings today only to finish at the point from which they started. They triumphed, 5 to 0, over their bad news team, the Pirates, in the first portion of a double-header to remain one and one-half games behind the first place Giants. Then in the second part of the double bill the Cubs tumbled, 4 to 2, thus remaining the same distance from the league leaders, who split with Boston.

Larry French.

The first battle, staged before 25,159 booing critics, was a Chicago success because Larry French showed that the Pirates can be hopelessly stymied by southpawing. The California dude, helped in spots by sparkling support, yielded only four hits and refused to be annoyed by three errors, one of which involved himself. Only two of his would-be assailants reached third, one on a wild pitch and the other on a fielding blunder, while he was fabricating his thirteenth victory of the year. It also was his second successive shutout.

Red Lucas Still Tough.

French's brilliance, as well as a couple of circus catches by Frank Demaree and Augie Galan, was greatly needed despite the lopsided appearance of the final score. For eight innings Lefty Larry was forced to work on a one run margin, this counter being all the Chicago delegates could collect from old Red Lucas who invariably is tough for them to handle. But in the eighth Lucas lost his job to a pinch hitter and the alteration brought Mace Brown to the mound for the ninth. The Cubs immediately boomed forth with four runs, three of them being credited to a triple off Demaree's bat.

The same feeble stick work so evident while Lucas was present in the first game was easily noticeable in the second engagement. The Cubs weren't able to do much in this argument with Jim Tobin, one time Yankee property who previously had only two victories to his credit. He stopped the visitors on seven hits, two of which meant runs. One was a triple by Herman and the other Galan's eighteenth homer of the season.

Lee Gets Big Assignment.

The job of pitching the Cubs into a victory and a position a half game behind the Giants in the second game was entrusted to Bill Lee, but the big fellow didn't have the right sort of stuff, especially control. Wildness hurt him as early as the third inning when one pass developed into a run and another pass forced home a tally. In the fourth he was assessed for another run on hits and in the sixth the Pirates' final marker biossomed from a pass linked with the third hit by Tommy Padden who also hit safely while Charles Root was performing in the eighth.

FIRST GAME

Hartnett, whose three strikes halted a budding rally in the first inning, made amends for the oversight in the fourth. He led off with a single to left and a run followed. Hack and Stainback were retired on tall flies to the outfield, but Cavarretta singled to center and without hailing a taxi or using roller skates, Gabby managed to reach third safely. Frey also singled to center to move Hartnett across the plate. French tapped to Vaughan for the third out.

French needed a little assistance to get safely through the home fourth. Vaughan popped to Herman for the Spectacular Crash Marks Opening Card.

Two drivers were injured, one seriously, in a spectacular automobile race accident at the new Hammond speedway yesterday. Curley Aschelman of Indianapolis and Charles Van Acker were running ahead of the field in the fifth race when the cars crashed while jockying for position. Aschelman's car was thrown high in the air and both drivers were hurled over a ten foot bank at the side of the track.

Van Acker Seriously Hurt.

Both were taken to St. Margaret's hospital in Hammond, where Van Acker was found to be suffering from internal injuries and severe cuts and bruises. Aschelman, who was bruised, was released after treatment.

Following the accident Dan Byrne moved into the lead and held it until the sixth lap, when his teammate, Les Duncan, went to the front and stayed there, winning by a narrow margin.

Alberti Wins Feature.

The 6,500 who attended the opening of the track saw Pietro Alberti of France win the 20 mile feature race by less than a car length from Albert Booker of Detroit. Morris Musick was third.

NORTH SIDE GOLF TEAM WINS; GETS TUG-OF-WAR CUP

North side golfers gained possession of the tug of war trophy yesterday by defeating a team from the south side by two strokes in a match at the Waveland avenue course in Lincoln park. The final standings for the two teams of twenty players each were: North side, 1,774; south side, 1,776.

Chuck Boywid of the north side won the prize for individual low score with a 74, followed by George Thomas of Jackson park, who had a 75. Other prize winners:

RECRUITS STAR AS GIANTS BEAT BULLDOGS, 35-0

New Rochelle, N. Y., Sept. 12.—(AP)—The New York Giants wound up their preparations for the start of the N[illegible] Football league season by routing the New Rochelle Bulldogs today, 35 to 0, with two recruits, Jim Nelli of Texas Tech and Hank Soar of Providence leading the attack.

Nelli gained over 100 yards and scored the first touchdown. Soar heaved a 60 yard pass to Ray Hanken of George Washington in the end zone for the final score. Tuffy Leemans, star Giant running back, intercepted a New Rochelle pass and ran 53 yards for another touchdown and Kink Richards and Tony Sarausky scored the others.

Cooper, Little Win, 2 and 1, from Smith and Thomson

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Harry Cooper, Chicago pro, paired with Lawson Little and won an exhibition match from Horton Smith and Jimmy Thomson today. The score was 2 and 1.

ARGENTINA TEAM WHIPS AURORA IN POLO, 14 TO 8

Manuel Andrada Leads Victorious Drive.

Westbury, N. Y., Sept. 12.—(AP)—San Jose's centaurs from the Pampas opened their drive for the national polo championship by routing the Aurora four, 14 to 8, today in the second game of the title tournament before 15,000 at International field.

Luis Duggan, hard riding No. 1 for Argentina, and Capt. C. T. I. [Pat] Roark, the veteran British internationalist, were high scorers with five goals each, but it was left to Manuel Andrada, San Jose back, to break the 4 to 4 tie in the fifth chukker and send the Argentine team into a lead it never lost.

Tide Turns in Fifth.

The fifth period was the turning point of the game. Roark's inspired play had offset San Jose's scoring sallies in the opening periods and the teams had matched goals. Andrada, a top flight player for a score of years, knocked the ball out of a melee of horses and men in front of the Aurora goal to score and start the San Jose attack at top speed.

Before the period was over the Argentines had taken the ball from Aurora and scored two more goals, one by Heriberto [Peppo] Duggan on a long pass from Andrada and the other by Andres Gazzotti.

Roark Leads Attack.

While the Aurora attack stalled in the sixth period San Jose added two more scores on goals by the Duggan brothers. Roark twice led attacks on the San Jose goal, but with Andrada directing the play the Argentines were able to get the ball and counter with shots at the Aurora goal. Working steadily the Argentines scored five more goals in the last two periods. Aurora scored two goals in each of the last two periods, but the San Jose margin was too much.

San Jose will meet the Greentree quartet in a semi-final game Thursday. Lineup:

SAN JOSE [14].		AURORA [8].
Luis Duggan	No. 1	S. H. Knox
H. Duggan	No. 2	J. P. Mills
Andres Gazzotti	No. 3	Capt. C. T. I. Roark
Manuel Andrada	Back	J. W. Fell

Goals—L. Duggan [5], Roark [5], Gazzotti [4], H. Duggan [3], Andrada [3], Mills [2], Knox.

Umpires—Stewart Iglehart, Thomas Brady. Referee—Devereaux Millburn. Time of periods—7½ minutes.

GREENTREE WINS, 9 TO 6.

Old Westbury, N. Y., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Greentree, winner of the national open polo crown for the last two years, triumphed over Templeton, 9 to 6, today in a test match.

George H. [Pete] Bostwick, at No. 1, led the victors with five goals.

O'Rourke Takes Lutz Trophy Series with His Shamrock

Shamrock, Shimmer, and the flagships of the Chicago and Columbia Yacht clubs were sailed by men to victories in three races yesterday off the lake front. The cruising cutter Vera Jean, sailed by a woman, won a lady skippers' race.

John O'Rourke of the Jackson Park Yacht club won the Lutz trophy with his 50 foot racing sloop, Shamrock. Shamrock won the second and the final races of the trophy series off Jackson park yesterday. Lively Lady, Otto Dreher's Q class sloop from the South Shore [Milwaukee] Yacht club, which had won the opening round Saturday, was dismasted yesterday.

Asterisk Wins Second Race.

The second race of the shipping board trophy series, held by the Sheridan Shore Yacht club, was captured yesterday afternoon by Richard and William Otter, in their star boat Asterisk. The final race was won by Shimmer, Leeds Mitchell Jr.'s yacht, which finished first in the opening event Saturday. Skipper Mitchell won the trophy for the southern Lake Michigan Star class fleet and also was presented with the Lieut. Andrew T. Rowan trophy, two of the veterans of foreign wars gold cups and the navy cup, donated by the American Legion. The Otter brothers, junior members of the S. S. Y. C., were runnersup in the trophy series, followed by Howard Morton in his Neo.

Mrs. M. C. Norton sailed her husband's yacht, Vera Jean, to victory in the Columbia Yacht club's annual race for yachtswomen off Grant park.

Olive Leads Racing Division.

Olive, the R class sloop owned and sailed by Commodore Arthur R. Metz of the Chicago Yacht club, was the racing division winner of the club's annual eight mile buoy race. Olive covered the 16 miles in 2 hours 13 minutes 31 seconds. The Columbia Yacht club's flagship, Rubaiyat, was first in the cruising division.

Rubaiyat's owner is Commodore Nathaniel Rubinkam. It was sailed by his brother, Henry Rubinkam.

Net Stars Due Today to Play at Onwentsia

German and American Davis cup team players will meet in the first day's play in the international tennis matches at Onwentsia club in Lake Forest tomorrow and Wednesday, Charles S. DeLong, co-chairman of the club's tennis committee, announced yesterday.

Seven of the eleven international stars will appear on the courts on both days, either in singles or in doubles play.

Arrive This Morning.

The first players to arrive will be Miss Anita Lizana, Chilean and new United States champion, and Jadwiga Jedrzejowska, Poland's first entry in international championship tennis. They will arrive this morning and will go immediately to Lake Forest. The German players, Baron Gottfried von Cramm and Henner Henkel, the Davis cup team, and Miss Marie Louise Horn, German women's singles champion, will arrive later with Charles S. Garland, co-chairman of the tennis committee.

Frankie Parker, American singles player, will not appear, Garland notified the committee yesterday. Charles M. Jones, British star, will play in his place. There is a possibility that Dorothy May Bundy, who lost to Miss Lizana at Forest Hills, will appear at Onwentsia to fill out the women's card, Garland said.

Riggs to Perform.

Those who will appear in each day's matches are Von Cramm, Henkel, Miss Jerdrzejowska, Miss Lizana, Don Budge, and Gene Mako, the American Davis cup doubles team, and C. E. Hare, British Davis cup player. Other players include Patrick Hughes, Hare's partner in the cup matches; Bobby Riggs, seeded No. 3 American player; Jones, and Miss Horn.

SOGGY GROUND DELAYS PLAY IN SOFTBALL MEET

All games scheduled yesterday in the national softball tournament at Soldiers' field were postponed until today because of the soggy condition of the field, drenched in Saturday night's rain.

The third round and quarter-finals will be played today in the men's division, while the girls will be advanced to the semi-finals, with the finals in both divisions set for tomorrow night.

PETROSKEY FACES BROWN TONIGHT AT TEN ROUNDS

Welterweights Headlin[e] Marigold Card.

Harold Brown, west side welt[er] weight candidate, will meet To[m] Petroskey of Muskegon, Mich., in ten round bout tonight at Marigo[ld] Gardens, Broadway and Grace stre[ets]. Petroskey, who was substituted [for] George Salvadore, is making his fir[st] Chicago appearance.

He earned the assignment by wh[ip]ping Frankie Sagillo at Muskeg[on] April 13. Sagillo was down for t[en] counts of nine in the third round.

Brown is undefeated this year. [He] whipped Sagillo Jan. 25, Billy Mill[er] Feb. 17, Gaston Le Cadre March [2] Al Manfredo March 29, Chester Ru[de] June 7, and Vincent Pimpinel[lo] June 29.

The next match in importance w[ill] be a five rounder involving Mi[ke] Pereira, 147 pounder of Houston, Te[x.] and Chester Rudy, Los Angeles, C[al.] Other matches involve Phil Rose[n]berg and Lester Francis, Geor[ge] White and Pat Schoenberger, a[nd] Sonny Ballard and Art Wilhelm.

Two matches will feature t[he] wrestling card at White City, 6[3rd] street and South Park avenue, [this] night. Pat Kelly faces Rudy Kay a[nd] Bobby Burns tackles Cliff Thied[e]. Each meeting is booked for one f[all] with a one hour time limit. The su[p]porting lineup will bring togeth[er] Jack Conley and Fred Grubmi[ller] Frankie Talaber and Whitey Walber[g] Angelo Martini and Pete Bartu.

Art Paulis, Portage Park heav[y] weight, and Gene Davis, Evansto[n] will meet in a five round bout hea[d]ing tonight's amateur boxing show [at] Northwest stadium, 4848 Irving Pa[rk

DI MAGGIO HITS NO. 42; YANKEES, SENATORS SPLIT

Ruffing Loses, 2-1; Gomez Wins by Same Score.

New York, Sept. 12.—(AP)—The Yankees had a lot of trouble with a couple of rookie pitchers today, but, aided by Joe Di Maggio's 42d home run and a splendid hurling effort by Lefty Gomez, they managed to gain an even break with the Washington Senators in a double-header.

Red Ruffing pitched a five hitter and fanned nine in the first game, but young Ken Chase checked the Yankee sluggers and the Senators won, 2 to 1. Di Maggio hit his home run in the first inning of the second game and Gomez pitched a five hitter to give the Yanks a 2 to 1 victory. The world champions could get only six hits off Ray Phoebus.

Banish Grimes Ninth Time as Dodgers Divide

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 12.—(AP)—The Dodgers maintained their hold on sixth place in the National league today by splitting a double-header with the Phillies, winning the second game, 9 to 5, after dropping the first game, 4 to 3, in ten innings.

Burleigh Grimes, Dodger manager, was banished in the second game for the ninth time this season. He and Shortstop Woody English were ejected when they argued a decision by Umpire George Barr on a close play at first.

REDS, CARDS DIVIDE.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 12.—(AP)—The Cardinals and the Cincinnati Reds split a double-header today, the Reds taking the first game, 10 to 7, and the Cards the second, 2 to 0, behind the five hit pitching of Bob Weiland. A foul tip from the bat of Ival Goodman, Cincinnati outfielder, struck and broke the third finger on the right hand of Mickey Owen, Cardinal catcher, in the eighth inning of the first game.

Oklahoma City Wins by 11½ Games in Texas League

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 12.—(AP)—The Texas league baseball season closed today with Oklahoma City the pennant winner by 11½ games. Oklahoma City's big right hander, Ashley Hillin, set a modern league record by winning 31 games while losing only 10. The first four teams will open a Shaughnessy playoff series Tuesday night with Oklahoma City at San Antonio and Fort Worth at Tulsa.

Cubs Defeat Pirates, 5 to 0; Then Lose, 4-2 first out and Suhr singled to left. He went to third on a wild pitch after which Jensen hit hard to right. Demaree raced back, leaped up in front of the stand and grabbed the ball with his gloved hand. The inning ended with Brubaker grounding to Herman. The Pirates also were foiled by a spectacular catch at the start of the fifth. Galan galloped to the fence to get Handley's menacing liner.

The fourth hit off French was Padden's single to right with one out in the eighth. Dickshot batted for Lucas and forced Padden on a poke to Frey. Lloyd Waner then lined to Frey.

Brown retired Stainback in the Cub ninth before getting into difficulties. Cavarretta caromed a single off Suhr's glove and scooted around to the plate on Frey's triple past Paul Waner. After French had been disposed of on strikes, Galan and Herman were the recipients of passes. And with the bases filled Demaree tripled over short, Frey, Galan, and Herman sprinting home. The next happening was a pass to Hartnett. Hack was kind enough to hurry the finish by looking the other way when a third strike floated past.

SECOND GAME

The Cubs made only one hit off Tobin in the first inning of the second game, but it had enough distance to be worth a run. After Leadoff Man Galan had been thrown out, Herman whipped a liner to the fence in left center and didn't quit sprinting until he had reached third. A moment later he came home leisurely on a wild pitch.

Lee made the mistake of passing the enemy pitcher in the third and this helped to contribute to a 2 to 1 lead for the Pirates. Padden singled with one out and Tobin walked. L. Waner singled to right, Padden scoring. Lee tossed out P. Waner and purposely passed Vaughan, filling the bases. Suhr also walked, forcing Tobin to score. The inning closed with Jensen grounding to Herman.

Three Pirate hits in the fourth nudged another run over the plate, making the count 3 to 1. With one out Handley singled to center. Padden dropped a bargain single in short center. Tobin offered a fly which Stanback captured and L. Waner then made himself a nuisance for the second time. He singled to left, Handley scoring. The margin widened to 4 to 1 in the sixth. Brubaker walked, went to second on Handley's bunt, and came home on Padden's third single.

Galan Gets 18th Homer.

One of the few hits made by the Cubs after the profitless third inning was a single by Hack with one gone in the fourth. Another was Cavarretta's single after two were out in the seventh. The next hit was Galan's No. 18 homer, which drifted into the right field pavilion after Hartnett had filed out as pinch man for Lee in the eighth. Herman followed with a single to right, but Demaree grounded to Suhr, who threw to Vaughan in time to beat down Herman's arrival at second.

The Cubs had one man on base in the ninth, but through no fault of their own. Hack survived with one out on a fumble by Vaughan. Rip Collins, who hadn't been seen since he suffered an ankle fracture on Aug. 10, reappeared as pinch batter for Stainback. He drove a long fly to F. Waner. Cavarretta then popped to Brubaker for the final out.

Cubs Come Home Today; Play Bees Twice Tomorrow

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 12.—The Cubs left for home tonight and can loaf tomorrow except for a short morning practice before starting to work on their one big remaining chance. Starting Tuesday with a double-header against the Boston Bees, the Cubs play eleven games at Wrigley field, including three with the pacemaking Giants.

Tex Carleton, who has won thirteen, and Clay Bryant, who has scored eight victories, will be started in the Tuesday double-header with the Bees. Bryant had to refuse an assignment last week because of a neck ailment, but the ailment has disappeared.

The season's final count between the Pirates and Cubs is thirteen victories for the former and nine for the latter. Except for the Pirates the Cubs, thus far, have an edge on the six other teams.

MONARCHS TIE GIANTS, 2-2, IN 17 INNING GAME

After five days the playoff series between the Chicago American Giants and the Kansas City Monarchs for the Negro American league championship remains at 1 to 0 in favor of the Giants. Scheduled to clash in a double-header yesterday, the teams went 17 innings in the first game, without a decision, darkness calling a halt with the score tied 2 to 2. The second game was canceled.

All other semi-pro games scheduled for yesterday were postponed because of wet grounds. Score:

NEWS OF FINANCIAL AND GRAIN MARKETS

WALL ST. SEEKS CLEW TO STOCK MARKET BREAK

Unable to Decide on Real Reason.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 12.—[Special.]—New York financial experts who predicted that the stock market would stage a revival as soon as the holiday season was ended now are trying to find a precise explanation for last week's sharp decline in market values. And brokers themselves are just as puzzled and hard put to analyze the markets behavior, which followed a zigzag course throughout the five trading days, two of which—Tuesday and Friday—experienced the sharpest declines since 1933.

On Tuesday the Dow-Jones industrial averages dropped 8.16 points and on Friday the break was even more pronounced, the same index recording a loss of 8.38 points. Losses of from 2 to 10 points were common and in miscellaneous instances the setbacks totaled 20 points.

1 to 9 Point Losses.

For the week as a whole losses in the leaders ranged from 1 to more than 9 points in a comparatively seething market. During the period the high speed ticker tape tarried behind operations on the floor as traders hastened to dump stocks overboard. For the four full sessions total sales averaged more than 2,000,000 shares daily, a radical departure from the groove in which the list had been moving. Saturday was the busiest day since last March, the volume amounting to 1,404,120 shares.

In Saturday's abbreviated session and on Wednesday quotations were bid up. On both occasions the improvement was attributed to "technical" influences. For the five days only one issue reached a new high price for the year, while the total to reach new lows was 752, compared with 217 in the preceding week.

Russian Note Blamed.

When the market broke violently on Tuesday, Wall street supplied a ready answer. The selling was blamed on Russia's angry note to Italy, constituting a war threat. But after the collapse on Friday it owned up to being completely nonplussed for it was soon observed that the fall in our market occurred in the face of composure on European stock exchanges.

There was a rumor afloat in the street that foreign insurance companies were dumping securities into the market to obtain ready cash in view of the situation in the far east, where they have heavy investments, but the story found no confirmation. Congress was not in session. Nothing new came to light in trade or industry.

Dun & Bradstreet's review commented on the "high rate of activity" in business; the weekly car loadings report showed a gain of 17,260 cars, or 2.2 per cent, over the preceding week and 5.2 per cent over the like week last year. The United States Steel corporation reported shipments of finished steel in August as the highest for that month since 1929.

Business Is Active.

So financial district analysts dug deeper for the fundamental causes. Many brokers seized on federal regulations as the probable cause. The 55 per cent margin requirements came in for much criticism and was blamed for the prevailing thin markets which cause stocks to fluctuate widely. Many accounts were restricted after Tuesday's crackup, leaving no cushion to soften the market's fall. Despite this circumstance, however, brokers profess little hope that the reserve board will lower the existing high rate.

The restrictions on insiders buying stock in their own companies also was singled out for comment. It was pointed out that officers, directors, and shareholders previously could protect their interests when the market started to drop, but now the wealth of regulations has made them extremely wary. Many brokers now feel that the new rules have had effects not envisioned by the lawmakers.

FALL CROPS MAY REDUCE ADVERSE TRADE BALANCE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Fall crop exports may effect a substantial reduction in the nation's unfavorable trade balance, the commerce department said today. During the first seven months of this year Americans bought $145,000,000 more than they sold in world markets. This compared with an unfavorable balance of only $24,000,000 in the corresponding period a year ago.

"Substantial and sustained improvement in domestic business activity made necessary larger imports of foreign industrial materials," the commerce department's report said, "and thus was responsible for much of the increase in the value of imports.

"The drouth of 1936, with the resulting small supplies of a number of farm products, also contributed to the need for enlarged imports. Higher import prices were an important factor in the larger import value."

T. K. Smith Sees Public Relations Bank Problem

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Tom K. Smith, St. Louis, president of the American Bankers' association, considers public relations one of the most important problems facing banking today. He so stated today in a telegram to Thomas J. Kiphart, Cincinnati, president of the Financial Advertisers' association, which will open its 23d annual convention here tomorrow.

Two Missouri Pacific Plans Are Due Today

New York, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Reorganization of the 13,000 mile Missouri Pacific railroad system, in trusteeship since 1933, moved a step closer today with announcement that two new plans for readjusting the carrier's capital structure would be filed with the interstate commerce commission tomorrow.

Filing of plans is the outgrowth of failure of debtors and creditors to agree on "important particulars."

The one plan, put forth by the debtor companies, would give present bondholders financial control of the road, but would keep operating control in the hands of present stockholders.

The other, drawn by the so-called Stedman committee for Missouri Pacific first and refunding 5 per cent bonds, would "squeeze out" present common and preferred stockholders.

May Accept Plan.

It was indicated, however, that if all other classes of security holders favored the debtors' plan, the Stedman group would abandon its proposal to eliminate present common and preferred holders, and back the debtors' proposal permitting present stockholders to subscribe to common stock of a new company at $25 per share for the first seven years, and $30 for the next eight years. This contrasts with a proposal under a first plan of the Stedman group to permit holders to subscribe to stock of the reorganized company at $62.50 a share.

W. Lloyd Kitchel, counsel for the Stedman committee, said today the debtor and Stedman plans are similar, except for treatment of present stockholders, and the matter of bond interest.

Details of Plans.

Under either plan, he pointed out, the first and refunding 5s would receive 25 per cent of their principal amount in new first mortgage 4 per cent bonds, 10 per cent in a 4 per cent cumulative income bond, 55 per cent in a 5 per cent convertible noncumulative income bond, and 10 per cent plus the earned and unpaid interest [approximately 20 per cent] in a prior preferred stock. But under the committee's plan, they would in addition receive the balance of their unpaid interest [approximately 11⅛ per cent] in a participating preferred issue.

The debtors' plan will be made public when filed with the I. C. C.

Releasing details of the Stedman proposal, Kitchell said, "If the debtors' plan be approved by the commission without substantial modification and accepted by the other classes of security holders," the Stedman group "will recommend to its own depositors that they also accept."

STEEL OUTPUT LOWER DUE TO LABOR HOLIDAY

Steel ingot production last week was reduced to 72 per cent of theoretical capacity by the closing of most mills for the Labor day holiday, the magazine Steel estimated yesterday. This compared with a rate of 83 per cent for the preceding week.

The Pittsburgh rate declined 14 points to 69 per cent of capacity, Chicago 13 points to 73, eastern Pennsylvania half a point to 54.5, Youngstown 8 points to 65, Cleveland, 16 to 62 per cent; Buffalo 7 points to 79, New England 5 points to 65, and Wheeling 15 points to 76 per cent. Detroit gained 5 points to 100 per cent operations. Operating rates at other points were unchanged, with Birmingham at 91, Cincinnati at 89, and St. Louis at 77 per cent of capacity.

"Cross currents are evident in the steel market," Steel said, "and evidence accumulates that the expected revivial of buying after the seasonal summer slackness is likely to be delayed until late this month.

"European and oriental threats of war have had an unsettling effect on the steel industry and the political situation is none too reassuring. Buying in heavier steel products is definitly light, with railroads deferring decisions until rates and wages have been settled. Building is slack and cold weather is approaching.

"On the other hand, some increase in buying is noted, particularly in sheets and bars, largely attributable to auto requirements. Producers are far from being hard pressed to continue operations at a satisfactory rate."

SURVEY SHOWS LITTLE CHANGE IN UNEMPLOYED

Unemployment in the United States in July was estimated at 6,119,000 persons, practically unchanged from the estimate for June, the national industrial conference board reported yesterday. Total employment in all fields of private enterprise and in permanent government agencies aggregating 46,923,000 persons in July showed a net advance of 25,000 over the June figure.

Increases in employment of 129,000 in manufacturing, 29,000 in agriculture, 13,000 in public utilities, and a few thousand in forestry, fishing, and transportations were offset by decreases of 88,000 in trade, distribution, and finance, 43,000 in the service industries, 18,000 in construction, and 9,000 in the extraction of minerals.

North American Car.

Investors' Guide: Please let me know about North American Car corporation for an investment. G. H.

Answer: North American Car corporation owns, operates, and leases tank cars, refrigerator cars and live poultry cars to railroads. As of Dec. 31, 1936, the company had in operation a total of 8,070 cars, consisting of 4,330 tank cars, 1,402 refrigerator cars and 2,347 live poultry cars.

Authorized capitalization includes 50,000 shares of $6 cumulative no par value first preferred stock and 500,000 shares of $20 par common. There are 27,232 shares of preferred outstanding. Only 147,429 shares of the common are outstanding.

The preferred is entitled to dividends of $6 a share annually, payable quarterly on Jan. 1 and every three months thereafter. The stock is redeemable on three months' notice at $110 a share. No dividends have been paid on the preferred since Oct. 1, 1931, and arrearage on June 30, 1937, was $34.50 a share. L. H. S. Roblee, president, said that some sort of settlement for preferred dividends probably will be made this year. The last common dividend was 62½ cents a share Jan. 1, 1931.

After earning $2.63 on the preferred in all of 1936, the concern earned $1.91 a preferred share in the first quarter of this year.

Lutheran Mutual Aid Society.

Investors' Guide: I will appreciate having your report on the Lutheran Mutual Aid society, Waverly, Ia.—W. H. S.

Answer: The Lutheran Mutual Aid society was organized in 1879 as a fraternal beneficiary society. Rates and reserves based on the American Experience Table of Mortality and 4 per cent interest were adopted in 1919. In 1935 the directors decided to adopt a 3 per cent interest assumption on future business.

The society had admitted assets of $6,973,202 at the end of 1936, compared with $6,001,370 at the end of 1935 and $4,193,483 at the end of 1932. Income during 1936 was $1,956,388, against disbursements of $1,021,003.

Insurance in force climbed from $33,305,658 in 1932 to $49,117,387 at the end of 1936. Insurance written in 1936 was $8,547,450, compared with $9,968,717 in 1935 and $5,942,731 in 1932.

Investments are principally mortgage loans and bonds and yield a moderate return. Expenses are moderate and mortality is favorable.

PLAN OIL TEST WELL IN CENTRAL SECTION OF STATE

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—The "oil rush" has moved northward from southern Illinois into McLean and Dewitt counties in the central part of the state. Drilling of a test well in the Heyworth vicinity, ten miles south of Bloomington, will begin not later than Dec. 14, it was said here today. E. O. Phelps and O. W. Dickerson, two Oklahoma oil operators, have obtained leases on approximately 15,000 acres of land in southern McLean county and northern Dewitt county.

The leases, which provide that drilling shall start within 90 days, are placed in escrow in the Heyworth State bank and the Farmers State bank of Heyworth. Land owners who have already leased their land include Dr. F. L. Wakefield, president of the Heyworth State bank, and Hallie Lott, president of the Farmers State bank of Heyworth.

N. Y. Central's July Earnings Drop Sharply

The New York Central railroad yesterday reported July net income of $253,505 after fixed charges, equivalent to 4 cents a common share, against net income of $1,049,693, or 21 cents a common share, in the corresponding 1936 month.

Railway operating revenues for July, 1937, totaled $30,720,572, against $29,416,616 for the same 1936 period, but operating expenses increased to $23,671,897 from $21,676,132 a year ago. the railroad retirement act.

Increase in Taxes Shown.

Railway tax accruals for the month this year increased to $2,889,034 from $2,226,038. Officials said the item this year included $422,841 on account of the carriers' excise tax in connection with the railroad retirement act on the basis of 2¼ per cent of pay rolls. No similar charge was made in 1936.

Operating revenues were $217,582,526 and net income was $6,748,629, or $1.05 a common share, for seven months ended July 31, against revenues of $201,032,622 and net income of $1,410,557, or 28 cents a share, in the same 1936 period.

Operating Expenses Higher.

Railway operating expenses for the first seven months of this year increased to $163,471,075 from $152,100,961. Tax accruals climbed to $19,669,004 from $15,019,650. Tax accruals included $2,896,284 in connection with railroad retirement act.

Excluding commutation passengers and revenues, interline and local passengers for July, 1937, increased 240,709, or 14.05 per cent, above the 1936 month, but revenue resulting therefrom increased $515,890, or 10.03 per cent.

The increase in interline and local passengers for the seven months' period this year totaled 2,930,367, or 32.65 per cent. Revenue increased only $2,685,576, or 8.43 per cent.

CHICAGO TRADE QUIET DUE TO CLOSED SCHOOLS

Both wholesale and retail business in Chicago continued light last week, the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday. The slump in the stock market was believed to have affected wholesale trade, while the delay in opening schools cut the usual seasonal buying of school needs in retail stores.

Employment continued steady. Although relief demands appeared to be increasing, factory pay rolls continued to rise slightly, the association said.

Everyday Economics

By-Products of Live Stock.

Packers derive a large part of their income from by-products of live stock—that portion which cannot be used as meat and which was formerly thrown away. Only 55 per cent of a beef animal, 70 per cent of a hog, and 47 per cent of a lamb is edible, which leaves a great amount of material to be utilized in other ways.

Continued research has developed about 140 different items which may be classed as by-products of the industry. By-products sales, in the case of cattle, are usually sufficient to pay for processing the animals, thus enabling the industry to pass on to the farmer as much as it receives from the meat. Efficient utilization of by-products tends to narrow the price spread from farm to table.

By-products range through a wide variety of things, such as oleo oil, soap, glue, sausage casings, violin strings and gut for tennis rackets. The hides are converted into lether. Horns and hoofs are made into such articles as brush handles and combs. Bones are used for knife handles, dice and other articles. Blood is used as fertilizer and in instances to furnish albumen. A long list of pharmaceutical products is also derived from the animals. Insulin, for example, comes chiefly from the pancreas of cattle.

TRADERS WEIGH LACK OF EXPORT WHEAT DEMAND

Fears Europe Needs Are Exaggerated.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

How much longer Europe can abstain from buying American wheat in quantity is the question engaging the interest of the grain trade. This country's showing so far in the export market has been poor and grain men are beginning to feel uneasy lest the wheat requirements of European countries have been overstated.

England has been counted on as the best customer for American wheat this season. British importers have purchased wheat from Russia, Canada and the Danubian countries but have taken only a small amount of American grain. Several reasons have been offered to explain the British hesitancy in buying from this country.

Britain Shows Independence.

One reason, it is said, is that Britain wants to impress American exporters that she is not entirely dependent on this country for wheat. Otherwise, it is asserted, the United States might try to hold up the rest of the world by charging excessive prices. But the price of wheat in the United States has fallen sharply in recent weeks and still no substantial export movement has developed.

Another explanation is that importers in England and other European countries are uncertain of the quality of American wheat. When the rust scare in this country was at its peak it was widely feared that the quality of the crop would be seriously affected. The rust did damage the crop, although it is now felt that the damage has been overemphasized and is acting as a boomerang to American exporters.

Perhaps the fact that foreigners have not bought wheat from the United States in recent years is as important as any other reason for the lag in the export trade. Export contacts of American firms have lapsed in many cases and it takes time to reëstablish these relationships.

Week's Range of Prices.

The following table shows the range of grain futures prices in Chicago last week:

HELP WANTED—MEN.

Salesmen.

MEN

If you live on the South Side or South Side suburbs, let me start you in a profitable business of your own backed up by our prosperous company.

I have been on this territory exactly 7 weeks and have already set 20 men up in business for themselves, and still have 25 opportunities left on the south side of Chicago.

I am in control of this territory of a business unique in character, merchandising an electrical unit that has no competition, for which there is an ever increasing demand.

If in a personal interview you can satisfy me that you are honest, reliable, and trustworthy, and really have a desire to succeed, willing to study, and are teachable, you may be the very man I am looking for.

Our business is very profitable; many of our associates are earning as much as $50 on a percentage basis in a single day, and after they become experienced handling our business, receive a sizable monthly income; not regulated by the seasons, as ours is a year around business.

Selling experience not necessary, for if you are selected you are thoroughly trained at our expense to your some of our most successful associates never sold anything before joining us.

We stand all expense of your business, such as rent, light, heat, telephone, help, etc., and in addition to giving you merchandise on open accounts, carry all of your time payment paper.

You do not invest one cent with us. We finance everything.

Our business is depression-proof, as same has increased every month of the last 7 years with 1937 our busiest year. We have thousands of satisfied customers in the territory and are considered one of the country's outstanding organizations. There are no strings connected with this offer, and if you can meet the unusual requirements you will be granted a personal, confidential interview which will quickly determine our mutual interests.

Apply Monday, between 10 and 12. Suite 400, Maynard Bldg., 841 E. 63d-st. (one block East of Cottage Grove). Ask for Mr. Baldwin.

STOKOL

SALESMEN—

Immediate Opportunity

Large, nationally known manufacturing company has an opening for a substantial man over 25 years old, with a successful record.

Experience in our line is not a requirement, but preference will be given to a man who has had experience in meeting the public. A thorough training will be given at our factory school in the field.

The successful applicant must be honest, a hard worker, intelligent, resourceful, and must have a clean and successful record.

This is a permanent position offering an unlimited opportunity on commission to build up a profitable repeat business in electric units. Strict confidence will be observed in interviews by factory representative.

Apply Monday 2 p. m. sharp or Tuesday morning.

Room 618, 208 N. Wabash

Autos Crash on Speedway—300 Musicians Play at Concert—Start Radio Lessons for City Pupils Today
